Italy's "Big Four" at Army Review

Schools Present Art Exhibit

The Annual Art Exhibit of the East Haven Public Schools is being held in the Lecture Room of the Hagaman Memorial Library, during this week.

An exceptional amount of beautiful work was exhibited here. One group of drawings consisted of work from the first to third grades; a second group of from fourth to seventh grades; and a third group including eighth grade and high school art work. There are still other works of art scattered about the room. The drawings are of pictures of flowers, birds, scenes, posters, etc.

There was also handiwork in the form of beads and baskets.

The most outstanding of all was the miniature reproduction of the famous Taj Mahal, which stood on a table in front of the lecture stage, made by a group from Foxon School.

The "Pioneer"

On the morning of graduation day, June 17, copies of the "Pioneer" first senior classbook at East Haven High School, will be distributed to subscribers. The book has been compiled by an honorary staff selected by senior subject teachers in January. It will be dedicated to Mr. William E. Gillis, superintendent of schools and Mr. William E. Fagerstrom, high school principal.

The cover, which will be of imitation leather in the school colors, blue and gold, was designed by Fred Lendroth. The basic motif of the cover has been carried out in the line drawings of the various section title pages drawn by the members of Miss Ahti Haatenen's art classes.

The book will include individual photographs and write-ups of members of the senior class, baby pictures of several prominent seniors, group pictures of school organizations, and class day parts. Of great interest will be the "Who's Who" page, the result of a senior vote for class superlatives.

The complete staff includes Grace Rocco, editor-in-chief, Ray Bartlett

W. P. A. Projects Progressing

It was learned through the office of the First Selectmen, recently, that the W. P. A. projects in town are progressing very rapidly.

The roof for the town shed, designed by Mr. Walter R. Shiner, local architect, is being constructed and the concrete sills have been poured over the doors.

There has been 520 feet of storm sewer line installed at the Rifle Range in High Street. Over 4000 cubic yards of fill have been used in the swampland nearby.

The Main Street sewer project is progressing, and the cinder track in the rear of the high school and the curbing along Coe Avenue have been completed. Grass will be planted on the high school grounds next week.

The W. P. A. headquarters of New Haven sent a photographer here during the week to photograph the various projects in East Haven, for publication in a pamphlet of that nature published by the State.

M. F. Beebe Named To Board Of Finance

Mr. Marshall F. Beebe, of 111 Prospect Road, has been appointed to the Board of Finance, as a Republican member, due to the resignation of Mr. Walter Bussell. Mr. Beebe will assume his duties on the 31st of July, at which time Mr. Bussell's term will expire.

Mr. Beebe has served on the Board of Relief, has been chairman of the Welfare Committee, is a member of Wooster Lodge, A. F. & A. M.; and has been Commander of the Harry R. Bartlett Post, No. 89, American Legion. He is employed by the United Illuminating Company of New Haven.

Dog Warden Urges Co-operation

Mr. Dominic Mellilo, dog warden here, urges all dog-owners to cooperate with him in keeping their dogs from wandering the streets, regardless of their being registered or not.

The Town of East Haven has paid a large sum of money for damages to pigs, goats and chickens, which in turn will reflect on the taxpayers.

Mr. Mellilo also states that even though a dog is chained, he must be licensed.

15 MINUTE PARKING

The parking situation at Momauguin has always been a problem to the Town of East Haven. The merchants at Momauguin have the same trouble year after year in their efforts toward acquiring parking at the shore.

There is no doubt that if lenient parking was allowed, that it would most likely be abused, and would prove to make too crowded streets, but on the other hand, 15 minute parking could be arranged along Cosey Beach Avenue say on one side of the road only, providing it was enforced to the right degree.

It has been known for one to park along Cosey Beach Avenue for as little time as one minute, to discover a ticket on return. This does not seem fair to the parker or the merchant as it hurts business.

Many people would like to go to Momauguin for refreshments, but on seeing "no parking" signs all over the place, drives them away.

Of course, there are plenty of parking spaces if one cares to spend twenty-five cents for the privilege, but for the little amount of time one spends at Momauguin, it is doubtful whether or not enough value is received from it.

It is now up to the Town to either make or break Momauguin, East Haven's only Shore Resort.

Flowers

I will not have the mad Clytie,
Whose head is turned by the sun;
The tulip is a courtly queen,
Whom, therefore, I will shun:
The cowslip is a country wench,
The violet is a nun:—
But I will woo the dainty rose,
The queen of every one.

The pea is but a wanton wench,
In too much haste to wed,
And clasps her rings on every hand;
The wolsbane I should dread;
Nor will I dreary rosemary,
That always mourns the dead;
But I will woo the dainty rose,
With her cheeks of tender red.

The lily is all in white, like a saint,
And so is no mate for me;
And the daisy's cheek is tipped with
a blush,
She is of such low degree;
Jasmine is sweet, and has many
loves,
And the broom's betrothed to the bee:—
But I will plight with the dainty rose,
For fairest of all is she.

Two elderly men at a club were discussing the table manners of a new member.

"Well, what do you think of him?" asked one.

"Very remarkable," replied the other thoughtfully. "I've heard soup gargled and syphoned, but, upon my word, that's the first time I've known it to be yodeled."

The Optimist: "By the way, Mary, did you put my cooking outfit in the bag? I'll want to fry some of the fish for lunch."

His Wife: "Yes, dear, and you'll find a can of sardines there, too."

Bob: "Jane dear, we have been going together for more than ten years. Don't you think it's time we were married?"

James: "Yes, you're right, but who will have us?"

What's What In BUILDING CONSTRUCTION

An open forum for the discussion and explanation of construction and material problems
By Walter R. Shiner
Reg. Architect, State of Conn.

Small House Economy (Continued)

A circulating hot air furnace system using coal is, of course, the cheapest to install and probably the cheapest to run. Next in line is the one-pipe steam system with a small round type jacketed boiler. If this system is used, Hoffman or other radiator valves are recommended and will improve the system without much additional cost. If steam as above is used, in connection with an oil burner, top efficiency is not always obtained as the boiler is of such small capacity that the head of steam is too small to hold up very long, causing the burner to go on and off frequently which is not only a nuisance but an oil eater.

Unless the boiler is selected carefully and the installation made properly, the steam-oil burner proposition is a very uncertain risk for small homes.

Hot water is very popular and will cost more than the steam. The radiators are much larger and more unsightly and even a closed system such as Thrush, Honeywell or Simplex is much slower than steam but on the other hand stays up longer. This is an advantage in cold weather but in fall and spring if the heat is allowed to get too high, it is impossible to get rid of it for hours and a very uncomfortable period is liable to result. It is more difficult to arrange the domestic hot water system satisfactorily although this can be done.

Without doubt the most satisfactory system in every way is the vacuum vapor system such as Hoffmann, Dunham, etc. The initial cost is about the same as hot water and the advantages and economy of operation are far superior to those of all the other systems combined.

East Haven Takes Chester 12-2
The townies traveled to Chester last Sunday and won by the lopsided score of 12-2. Moore, East Haven hurler, was in rare form as he held Chester to 6 hits, and fanned eight men, while his mates hammered Reigel an Mallarne for 19 hits. Verril, Anderson and Belding with three hits apiece led the townies attack.

Derby will be the last game of the season and will be played away June 15. As Derby is leading the league, a victory over them would mean throwing them in a tie.

Moodus Here Sunday
The East Haven town team will play the strong Moodus club Sunday afternoon at Olson Field at 3 p. m. Sunday's game should draw a good crowd since East Haven is feeling a great deal of interest in the townies who have made an impressive start in the Shore Line League. The local club is playing very good ball and shows a fighting spirit which should give it at least an even chance to win the pennant.

For pitching material Coach Stevenson will depend upon Harrison, Moore and King.

Stevenson will probably start the infield that has been doing so well to date.

Belding at first, Zampano at second Virrel at third, Anderson at short. In the outer garden Stevenson will pick from Art DeFillippo, Gardner, J. DeFillippo, Lewis, Pesca, Anderson and Cook.

Open Top Hats
The open-top hats seem to be one of the youthful outstanding styles for hot weather wear.

It is a great favorite, made of very fine Irish linen, with a high sweep, back-turn, brim, and rather a trifle wider at the sides. It has an oval opening at the top-center of the crown about five inches long and three inches wide, (the side crown being designed to carry the shape of the head,) with an attractive crushed bow drawn in to fit closely at the nape of the neck.

They are very smart to wear with summer wash dresses and can be laundered easily. They are shown in pale pink, pale blue, pale yellow and white. Green and lavender seem to be a little out of style just now.

of her most charming roles is a dramatization of Margaret Kennedy's delightful novel. It is set largely in the beautiful mountain district of the Austrian Tyrol and is a wholly delightful picture.

"Of Human Bondage," the screen version of Somerset Maugham's powerful novel features Leslie Howard in one of his most popular parts. The story is intensely interesting and the picture is unusually well made. Both programs will include unusual short subjects. There are four shows daily, from one to five and seven to eleven.

Grandma's Cook Book

The time of year has arrived when salads are very popular, especially among the women, so this week we have two delicious salads for you.

TOMATO SALAD
8 medium-sized tomatoes
1 cup cubed celery or cucumber
1 cup cooked chicken cubed
1 cup mayonnaise dressing
Scald and peel tomatoes; then slice off tops. Scrape out seeds and a little of pulp, and fill cavities with celery or cucumbers and chicken, mixed with dressing.

CHICKEN SALAD
Remove bones, gristle, fat and skin from cold cooked chicken. Cut chicken into one-half inch cubes and mix with same amount of celery, which has been scraped, chilled and cut in small pieces. Moisten with French dressing. Add mayonnaise or boiled dressing to suit taste. Serve on lettuce leaves garnished with curled celery.

"A Star Is Born" Plays At Capitol

"A Star Is Born," starring lovely Janet Gaynor and handsome Fredrick March, tops the Capitol bill for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week. This picture was produced in 100 per cent color. Adolphe Menjou, May Robson and Andy Devine fill out the supporting cast.

Jack Holt and Mae Clarke in "Trouble In Morocco" is the second feature. A news and single round out the program for the evening.

Lincoln Presents Bergner; Howard

The Lincoln Theatre is presenting this week revivals of two outstanding pictures. "Escape Me Never," featuring Elizabeth Bergner in one vacation at her home in Houlton, Maine; while Miss Jane Cox, Miss Alice Gunnip, Miss Mary Shaaron, and Miss Margaret Hunt, local residents, are undecided as to just how they will engage their time.

of her most charming roles is a dramatization of Margaret Kennedy's delightful novel. It is set largely in the beautiful mountain district of the Austrian Tyrol and is a wholly delightful picture.

"Of Human Bondage," the screen version of Somerset Maugham's powerful novel features Leslie Howard in one of his most popular parts. The story is intensely interesting and the picture is unusually well made. Both programs will include unusual short subjects. There are four shows daily, from one to five and seven to eleven.
