Schools To Open Next Wednesday

Next Wednesday, September 8, boys and girls from all parts of town will wend their way back to school, where they will again take up their struggle with the three R's.

High School Instructions

Instructions have new been announced by Mr. William E. Fagerstrom, principal of the high school.

Pupils will report to the auditorium at 9 A.M. and 1:30 P.M., where they will be addressed by Mr. William E. Gillis, Superintendent of East Haven Schools, and Mr. William E. Fagerstrom. Pupils are not to be allowed to wander in the corridors, but are to be sent immediately to the auditorium. They will report according to the following schedule: September 8, Seniors, 9 A.M. Juniors, 1:30 P.M.; September 9, Sophomores, 9 A.M., Freshmen, 1:30 P.M.

Foxon Students

Seniors living in Foxon will board the bus at Foxon School at 6:40 A.M. on September 8. Foxon Park Seniors will board the bus at Highland School at 8:30 A.M. Juniors living in Foxon will board the bus at 1:10 P.M. on September 8, and Foxon Park Juniors will board the bus at Highland School at 1 P. M. Sophomores will follow the Senior schedule and the freshmen the Junior schedule on September 9.

Pupils will be given general instructions and homeroom numbers during the Assembly. Upon reporting to the homerooms they will receive their schedule cards and any general information the homeroom teacher may desire to give them. A check will be made on all pupils who do not report.

Students will not be allowed to change schedules until notified to this effect by the office. Only those students who do not receive a schedule card are to be sent to the office by the homeroom teacher.

The homeroom period and all successive periods will be 10 minutes in lengh. Three minutes will be allowed for passing between periods Pupils will return to home rooms at the end of the sixth period for dismissal by the home room teacher. Gym and study hall pupils will report to the library on periods so scheduled until further notice. Mr. Baker will be in charge of the library during the sixth period Monday and Tuesday.

Final Listing For To-Be-Made Voters, September 7

Many Attend

Following two fatal attempts, due to uncertain weather, the concert by the Bridgeport W. P. A. symphony orchestra was finally presented last Tuesday evening, on the East Haven Green, where a record crowd enjoyed a beautiful musical program under the stars.

The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Frank Foti, opened the program with the "Star Spangled Banner," which was followed by the party harmony among the Repub-Overture from the opera "William Tell" by Rossini, selections from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" and licans should be victorious this fall. three danaces from "The Bartered Mr. Reynolds also stated that there Bride" by Smetana.

The orchestra closed the program with "Old Heidelburg" from Romberg's "Student Prince" and the "Dance of the Hours" from Ponchieill's "La Giaconda."

The concert was really a beautiful affair, and those that took part in bringing it here deserve a great deal of credit. It is hoped that the orbe guest soloist at Old Stone Church chestra will make a return engagement here next season, as it is something a little different and really worth listening to.

> The symphony was brought here through the efforts of Mr. A. George Pascale, Director of Music of East Haven schools and First Selectman Girard W. Freer.

At a combined meeting of the the Young Republican Club, at Rustic Inn, Lake Quonnopaug, Guilford, Concert On Green last week, action was taken along the lines of the coming town eleclast week, action was taken along tion in October.

> It was decided that the first step in their campaign in winning a 'clean cut victory" was to contact all the to-be-made voters. Registrar Alvin Sanford stated that the final day for listing will be Tuesday, September 7. Voters are scheduled to be made on Saturday, September 18.

Mr. Edward L. Reynolds, Chairman Republican Town Committee, stated at the meeting, that there was licans of East Haven this year and that with a good ticket the Repubwould be no third party this year and also there would be no absen-Following a short intermission, the tee vote which was considered as assets to this years election.

In regards to party platform, it was suggested that they assure no rise in taxes. As a basis for this, it was stated that when the Republicans were last in office the town dept was reduced from $68,000 to $20,000 and that there was no deficit until 1929.

As an additional asset to the party, it was decided to keep headquarters in the Olson Building open every evening until after election for the purpose of acquiring new vot-

IS IT FAIR?

One of East Haven's greatest faults seems to be the giving of local work to outsiders.

For example, doesn't it seem odd that with three architects in town the town should give the building of the Town Hall, the High School, and various other public buildings to outside architects?

Does the outsider pay taxes in East Haven? No, of course he doesn't, in which case the outsider shouldn' have the work. The man who pays his taxes in East Haven should stand the best show. But does he?

With the possibilities of a new fire station going to an outsider, this could easily serve as a platform for a certain political party in East Haven.

The elimination of such a standard would certainly go toward the making of a better East Haven, as the voters of East Haven would co-operate with the various parties here and bring out a bigger voting majority.

OSTRICH FEATHER TRIM

In catching little glimses of ostrich feather trimmed hats, here and there in shop windows, makes one think that ostrich might be in vogue this season.

At the beginning of each Fall season, a slight showing of this only to gradually fade out. But this season, it looks as if it has come to stay.

The better hats with ostrich resemble very much the "Duchess of Gainsborough" age. Both curled and uncurled ostrich is used.

When ostrich feathers, black velvet and rhinestone ornaments are combined, nothing is more charmingly beautiful and feminine.

Build With Properly Prepared Plans And Specifications

What's What In Miss Leona Gavin Is Engaged BUILDING CONSTRUCTION

An open forum for the discussion and explanation of construction and material problem By Walter R. Shiner Reg. Architect, State of Conn.

SUPERVISING SMALL HOME CONSTRUCTION

Now that the frame is raised or the brick walls up and the rafters in place with roof boards and sidewall sheathing on, the roof covering is next in line and usually followed up without undue waste of time in order to protect the building in case of stormy weather.

Check to see that the material used is according to that specified or agreed upon. Wood shingles come in a variety of sizes, butt thicknesses and material. The usual shingle for roofs is of red cedar 18 inches in length and laid 5 inches to the weather on normally pitched roofs. Where roofs are 4 inch pitch to the foot or less, shingles should he laid 4 inches to the weather Shingles come random widths or may be obtained all of one width but the random width is commonly used and should be laid of course so that the opening between shingles is never directly over the joint of a hingle in the adjoining row.

A workman seldom if ever lays a hingle this way but sometimes he will do it rather than lay down the shingle selected and select another of proper width. Shingles come in two or three grades and the grading should be checked in the bundles or if it is impossible to tell by the oundles, check the delivery slip or go direct to the lumber dealer where they were purchased. This is important as the best grade shingle has years more life than the poorer grades and will not curl as easily or

The same rule applies to sidewall shingles except that they may be laid more to the weather, 18 inch shingles as much as 7 or 8 inches and 24 inch shingles, 10 inches. They must also be laid over one thickness of waterproof paper. (To be continued)
