

Teachers Enroll In Hospital Plan

Thirty-four teachers of the East Haven Schools have enrolled in the Plan for Hospital Care.

The workings of the Plan for Hospital Care are very simple. Every month, thousands of persons pay a sum of 75 cents, or 2½ cents a day each into the fund. In this way enough money is always on hand to pay hospital bills for those who need such care—and who of us can say definitely that we will not need that care tomorrow, next day, or the next.

Any employed person may enroll as long as there are ten persons in the group. The enrollment entitles each one to three weeks' care each year in a hospital. The cost to the employed man or woman is 75 cents a month.

Under the plan certain coverage can also be provided for the wife, or husband of the subscriber as well as for the children under eighteen.

The management of the Plan is supervised by a board of trustees composed of over forty well known citizens. The Executive Committee of the board consists of the following:

Messrs. Harry B. Kennedy, Ernest L. Simonds, Edwin Pugsley, John J. McKeon, George R. Willis, J. Fulton Ferguson, Albert W. Buck, Sidney G. Davidson, Thomas W. Farnam, Burton A. Gesner, Matthew A. Reynolds, John F. Sullivan, M.D.

Plan Not Charity

The Plan is not charity. Unlike most non-charitable business organizations however, it is incorporated to operate without profit to any individual.

There is no stock and there are no stockholders. Money for the organization of the Plan was loaned, without interest, by firms and individuals interested.

All money received must be used, by law, for paying hospital bills of subscribers plus the cost of the administrative office and its staff.

All excess funds must be placed in reserve to be used either in increasing the benefits or reducing the rates.

All officers and trustees serve without pay in the interest of the community. The administrative staff required is employed on a salary basis.

The three large hospitals in New Haven have given thorough endorsement to the Plan.

SELECTMEN MEET

The Board of Selectmen will meet in the Town Hall on Wednesday, November 3, at 8 p. m. The Board of Finance will meet on Thursday, November 4.

Facts About Nuts

Peanuts and pecans are native products grown in our Southern states, while Brazil nuts, filberts, cashews and pistachios are imported from foreign lands. Part of the confectioner's supply of walnuts is imported and the rest is grown in this country. English walnuts come from France and California, while black walnuts are raised in the United States. Almonds, although found in five continents, come chiefly from Spain and Italy. California also produces almonds, and Italy and Turkey supply filberts. Cashews come from India.

HALLOWE'EN

Once again, Hallowe'en is upon us. It is a time when the young revel and sometimes very indiscreetly.

Older persons must remember that they were young once and be tolerant. Do you remember when you be-smear front doors with cabbages, turnips and pumpkins? Many of you still care to boast about it.

Seriously, however, the young should not carry things too far, such as carrying off property, which is valuable, or making a week instead of a day of Hallowe'en.

We trust that the youngsters of East Haven will enjoy themselves in a sane and orderly manner so that the citizens will have little cause to complain.

FANNIE HURST

A popular author of today is Fannie Hurst. She was born on October 19, 1889, in Hamilton, Ohio, but lived the first twenty years of her life in St. Louis.

From the time she was a small child her reading was uncensored and unrestricted; at the age of thirteen she was reading Dickens and Thackeray. At fourteen Miss Hurst submitted a masque in blank verse to the Saturday Evening Post, and while in high school she wrote verse and fiction in her spare moments. While attending Washington University she also wrote a few assignments for St. Louis newspapers.

For a year after graduation her parents kept her at home. Then she took graduate work at Columbia University; all this time writing as much as she could. To gain experience Miss Hurst worked as a waitress, nursemaid, salesgirl and sweatshop worker. She also crossed the Atlantic in steerage, and played in a Broadway show.

Her first book, a collection of stories called "Just Around the Corner", was published in 1914 and success swiftly followed. In 1915 she married Jacques S. Danielson, a pianist of New York. She now lives in an apartment on West 17th St., in New York City.

Among her novels are: We Are Ten, Great Laughter, Back Street, Five and Ten, A President is Born, Vertical City.

The People Who Are Afraid

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

Over much of the Old World today we are witnessing a swift and disturbing rise to power by self-appointed leaders of the People Who Are Afraid.

Afraid of what? Afraid of freedom. Afraid of themselves and their own capacities. Afraid of machines and their influence. Afraid of assuming responsibility for their own thoughts, their own efforts, their own lives. Afraid of the future.

That's why they are willing to turn to forms of government which offer to relieve them of that responsibility. That's why they are eager to serve their own desires for unsupported promises of security offered by Fascism or Communism or the various other isms which now tear Europe.

To the average American worker, proud of a national heritage of courage and self-reliance, this surrender to transient fears may seem a strange and remote thing. But the prophets of defeatism, both at home and abroad, are not convinced of the American's attitude. Hopefully they continue to seek converts here.

Their way should be a hard one. The American tradition remains one of freedom and achievement.

The American people are not afraid of liberty, or they could never have written a Declaration of Independence and a Bill of Rights. They are not distrustful of their capacities, or they could never have conquered a continent. They are not fearful of machines, or they could never have produced a Fulton or an Edison. They do not dread the future, or they couldn't continue the bold and ambitious plans for national progress so typical of the American spirit today.

Europe and its cynics may continue to chant their swan songs of despair. But of America we still say with the poet:

"I do not know beneath what sky
Nor on what seas shall be thy fate;
I only know it shall be high,
I only know it shall be great."

In such an outlook there is no room for fear.

THE PEARL OF THE EAST

by Arthur L. Griffiths,
M.A., Yale

General Funston, of our army, is the authority for the statement that it cost more in blood, money and struggle to put down the Filipinos than it did to defeat the Spaniards. So well did the Filipinos love their native land and the republic that they had established. There is a Filipino national song which, freely translated, is as follows:—

"Adored land, daughter of the Orient sun,
The pulsing fire of thy life is vigorously palpitating within thy bosom;
In thy crowned mountains, o'er thy blue sea,
Through thy verdant jungles
And in thy forest aisles,
Radiates and gleams the poem
Of thy loved liberty.

It is a glory for thy sons,
When the evening offends thee,
To die for thy sake."
Ah, yes, many a dampened trench many a jungle ambush, many a dim lit forest contain the bones of thousands of Filipino patriots who gave "the last full measure of devotion" to prove that "It is a glory for thy sons,
When the enemy offends thee,
To die for thy sake."

What's What In BUILDING CONSTRUCTION

An open forum for the discussion and explanation of construction and material problems
By Walter R. Shiner
Reg. Architect, State of Conn.

SUPERVISING SMALL HOME CONSTRUCTION

Ceiling outlets are fast passing into the discard and rightfully so in small homes. The subdued light of numerous table, bridge, reading and standard lamps is much more soothing on the nerves than the old time bright lights and in addition to the lighting effect, it gives an outlet for the aesthetic mind of the housewife in that it allows opportunity for better and more artistic arrangement and decoration of the rooms.

Side-wall outlets are often used for decorative purposes only and the ceiling outlet is still retained by many in the dining room as a matter of service.

Cellar, garage, attic and closet lights should be provided with a pilot light in the switch plate assembly showing red when the light is on and reminding one to shut it off when not needed.

Closet lights are a convenience and should be used with a switch outside the door as those operating with a switch in the door catch are always out of order due to shrinkage or swelling of the door.

A continuous base strip is now standard which runs around the room on top of the baseboard with plug outlets every foot of the way. Strip lights on either side of mirrors at bath room cabinets are the vogue and very effective.

Stairways and attached garages should have 3 way switches so that the lights may be switched on and off at different locations, for example; the first floor hall light should switch on and off on the first floor and also on the second floor etc.

Certain Lights Troublesome

Certain lights produce nausea, headache and domestic troubles, says an optometrist, and red color in particular may be detrimental to married life in homes decorated too prominently in its shades. Light shades of green are more desirable.

The Hat-Box

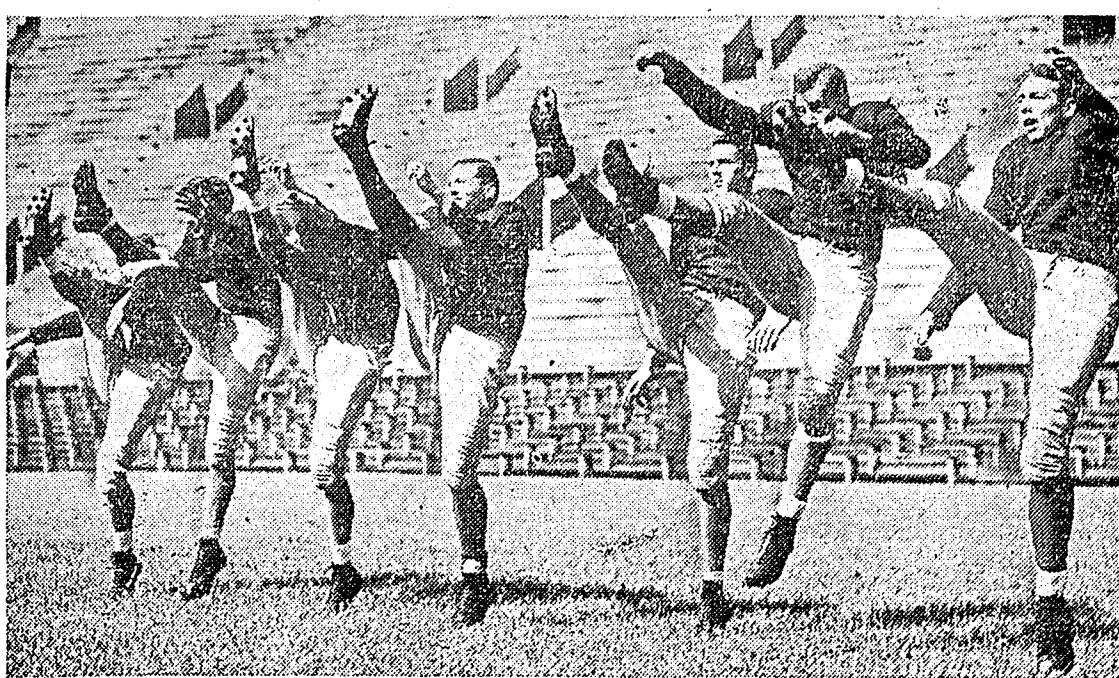

"TOPS"

"Tops" is just another name for "Roller", the well-known, ever popular sport hat for all ages. This little hat never seems to go out of style and is believed everyone is acquainted with it.

"Tops" is an improved "Roller". The crown is just a trifle higher, and the hat sets a trifle higher on the head. It is lined with a snug silk inner band and is made of finer felt. The colored stick-in feather at the left side, is a little heavier, some having the turkey feather and some having the Scotch brush.

The "Tops" sells for a trifle more than the "Roller", but is well worth it. "Tops" cannot be outdone for extreme sport-wear. It is shown in all the autumn shades.

All States and Many Nations at New York Fair

NEW YORK (Special).—That the New York World's Fair of 1939 is to be both a national and an international exposition is held to be certain even at this early date.

Thirty-one States and two Territories have already passed legislative measures which their Governors have signed providing for participation in it in response to the nation-wide invitation extended by Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York and Grover Whalen, President of the Fair Corporation.

State response has been both prompt and generous in the amounts appropriated for representation at the exposition. Some of the States are awaiting only legislative sessions to add their names to the list. There is every indication that by the time 1939 arrives, all 48 will have joined their fellow commonwealths in this demonstration of national unity.

The States which have passed bills, with gubernatorial signature, to take part in the Fair are: Arizona, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Georgia, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri (the first to come in), Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming. The two Territories are Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

Foreign Nations Active

Among foreign nations there is every manifestation of enthusiasm for the Fair and for the opportunity which they realize it gives them to make extensive displays of their latest achievements in industry, science and art.

Thirty-four nations are now definitely a part of the Fair. Of these, 21 have officially accepted the invitation to participate. They are: Great Britain; Italy; Union of Soviet Socialist Republics; France, Brazil, Argentina, Paraguay, Cuba, Finland, Guatemala, Roumania, Dominican Republic, Haiti, Uruguay, Sweden, Norway, Irish Free State, Ecuador, Netherlands, Chile and Japan.

First definite allocation of space to a foreign government was made to Russia. Her commissioners visited the Fair site and after inspecting the available area for a Soviet exhibit, signed up for 100,000 square feet of space. The housing of a national or governmental exhibit will occupy 10,000 feet of this area. The remainder will be used for expansion of the exhibit through Soviet industries.

Italy, not to be outdone, selected an even larger area for its display, taking 110,000 square feet, not very far from the site chosen by Russia. Then the Netherlands, one of the smallest of the European nations, came to the fore with agreement to take 75,000 square feet. Meanwhile, Great Britain has sent a commissioner to New York to gather data so that his Government may determine the extent and nature of British participation in the exposition.

INTRA-MURALS OPEN AT HIGH SCHOOL

Girls To Receive Athletic Awards

By Eddie Munson

East Haven High's intra-mural basketball league got into full swing this week with twelve games already having been played.

A new system for intra-mural sports has been inaugurated this year in place of last year's home-room league scheme. Twenty-five teams with six students on a squad have been organized. In addition to the captain, who last year was a member of the varsity, jayvee or freshman squad, there is a senior, junior, sophomore and two freshmen on each team. Three games are played each Tuesday, Thursday and Friday during lunch period, and from the attendance it is evident that they are enjoyed by the entire student body.

Many students who last year didn't have an opportunity to show their ability now have a chance to play and judging from performances thus far, there will be no dearth of talent from the varsity teams.

The twenty-five teams with their respective captains are as follows: Little Giants, Jim Glynn; Jailbirds, Bill Thompson; Blue Comets, Don Rowley; Dodgers, Howie Hansen; Thunderbolts, Ray Figlewski; Bullets, Bert Read; Red Ants, Angelo Baldino; Harriers, John Savo; Fordham, Jack Tyler; Cleaners, Allan Johnson; Notre Dame, Jack Lynch; Columbia, Don Beuchele; Rangers, Mike Iezzi; Tornados, Bul Schiefefe; Bulldogs, Vinny Castellon; Hill-Billies, Charles Grover; Clowns, John DeFillippo; Sharks, Gordon Brown; Red Devils, Ralph Castellon; Spears, Frank Lecza; Princeton, Mal Douglas; Outcasts, Fritz Vercillo; Tigers, John Messina; Oilers, Jack Mintz; and Mustangs, Bob Clark.

The results for the last two weeks are as follows: Harriers 10, Red Ants 4; Fordham 12, Cleaners 6; Notre Dame 12, Rangers 4; Bullets 4, Blue Comets 2; Bulldogs 22, Little Giants 6; Clowns 10, Jail-birds 7; Dodgers 6, Columbia 4; Red Devils 9, Tigers 8; Princeton 22, Oilers 4; Outcasts 8, Thunderbolts 6; Mustangs 23, Spears 5; Tornados 13, Sharps 2.

Girls Athletic Awards

In the interest of promoting outstanding sportsmanship and school spirit, a point system for athletic awards for girls has been announced this year by Miss Virginia McLay, supervisor of Girls Physical Education. Under the new system a candidate may participate in one major sport for two points and two minor sports for ten points each or four minor sports securing at least 40 points. The girls may enter into a majority of the games played in the tournaments to be held after school on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Points will be awarded for participation in the following major sports: basketball, volley ball, swimming, baseball and refereeing. Minor sports to be recognized are horseshoes, paddle tennis, deck tennis, badminton and shuffleboard.

"Spanish Earth" At Lincoln

"The Spanish Earth" playing at the Lincoln Theatre through Monday is an extremely interesting screen version of life in a Spanish village under the present condition of warfare. Ernest Hemingway wrote the thread of story, that, like his comments and interpretation, are spoken throughout the picture. He is the author of many well-known books, including "Farewell to Arms". Most of the scene are laid on the road from Valencia to Madrid, many of the fighting scenes were taken on the front line of defense and in Madrid itself. Men and women of the town play their parts in real life; the settings are those of nature.

Starting Tuesday, November 2, "M" will be shown for four days, in which Peter Lorre, who has since risen to fame, made his debut in Germany. It is a powerful, intelligent portrayal of a pathological character, who, because of Fritz Lang's amazing direction and the superb performance of Peter Lorre, draws the pity and compassion of the audience. Complete English titles make the story easily understood by those not knowing German.

Glands Rule Health

Everyone should be familiar with the fact that the body contains several important glands. They exert a tremendous influence on health as they give the blood stream certain substances which the body must have to be considered in every case of chronic disease. Many ailments such as blood pressure, tiredness, nervousness, menstrual disturbances and prostatitis usually have a disturbed glandular background.

The glands slow down in their work when the nerve and blood supply is hindered. This is where Dr. Hamilton's drugless method can benefit you. Chiropractic treatments go to the cause of these troubles by increasing nerve and blood circulation to the affected parts.

You who are looking for a quick way to strong, robust health without drugs or medicines are invited to consult Dr. Hamilton, Chapel and Dwight Sts., New Haven. His fees are very reasonable and within the reach of all. Phone 5-1927 for additional information or appointment. —Adv.

MISS PARIS, 1937

Only seventeen years of age, with curly blonde hair and a naive smile, Lily Lamb, who has been designated "Miss Paris, 1937," shows a divergent trend from the frail beauty of former winners. Miss Lamb was elected as beauty queen at the Casino de Trouville from a multitude of candidates at the Paris International exposition.

Capitol Revives "Naughty Marietta"

In the dance of love she heard the song of death in "Think Fast, Mr. Moto", the current feature at the Capitol for today and tomorrow with Peter Lorre, Virginia Field, Sig Rumann and Thomas Beck. "Criminals of the Air" is the second feature. Saturday is Bank Night.

On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Ronald Colman in "Lost Horizon", Frank Capra's mightiest production, with Jane Wyatt and John Howard will be the feature presentation. Robert Wilcox and Judith Barrett will be seen in "Armored Car" as the co-feature.

Wednesday and Thursday will mark the return of Victor Herbert's immortal "Naughty Marietta," starring Jeanette Macdonald and Nelson Eddy with Frank Morgan and Elsa Lanchester. "Reported Missing" is the supporting vehicle with William Gargan and Jean Rogers. Ladies' Gift Night will be featured both evenings.
