

New Haven Plans For Tercentenary

Industrial Concerns Will Participate

New Haven's Tercentenary celebration dates have been set as June 1 through June 11, excluding a Sunday, it was announced last week by John C. Tracy, chairman of the festival committee, and by Judge John L. Gilson, chairman of the Mayor's Tercentenary Celebration Committee, coordinating unit for the coming festivities.

Arrangements are already underway to bring to New Haven thousands of visitors from far and wide, to witness a parade of colorful historic events, among the most prominent of which are an exposition of industrial progress, to be held in the Yale baseball cage throughout the 10-day period, and a mammoth pageant, which will take place in the Yale Bowl on the evening of June 7, 8, 9 and 10.

Concerns To Participate

New Haven's industrial concerns, many of which were organized soon after the settling of New Haven, will participate in the exposition, showing visitors the products which have made New Haven's name famed from one end of the world to the other. The pageant will be presented by a well-known firm which will send pageant masters, scenic artists, script writers and decorators here to "set the stage" for participation by hundreds of local residents. Using practically the entire field of the Yale Bowl as a stage, this pageant should prove one of the most outstanding events of its kind ever held on the Atlantic seaboard.

Local organizations are planning not to schedule other events during this period, and local firms are making ready to entertain many thousands of out-of-town visitors.

SAFETY TALKS

MANY TO ATTEND BIRTHDAY BALL

First Selectmen and Mrs. James J. Sullivan To Lead Grand March

Reilly Encourages Business Club

At a meeting of the East Haven Business and Professional Men's Association last Monday noon, Mr. Thomas Reilly, local real estate agent and lawyer, addressed the members of the club on the duties of a business association.

In summing up his talk, Mr. Reilly stated that East Haven needs a civic organization of this kind and that it should have a definite policy and platform, meet weekly and have a speaker, should be non-partisan, and that it would not amount to anything unless sufficient time was spent in its development.

A nominating committee, with Mr. George A. Sisson, as chairman, Mr. Walter Tacy, Mr. Fred Wolfe, Jr., and Mr. Meyer Levine, was appointed to bring in a slate of officers to be elected at a meeting next Monday evening, January 31, at 7:30 p. m., in the basement of the Town Hall.

Being a Good Citizen

Jud Tunkins says a good citizen has to be a good sport when he trusts a great statesman, the same as when he puts his faith in a race horse. The race horse is doing his best and hollerin' at him from the grandstand isn't going to make any difference.

It has been announced this week, by Mr. Bertram Weil, chairman of the President's Birthday Ball Committee, that over 300 will attend the gala affair tomorrow evening in the Town Hall for the benefit of infantile paralysis. Mr. Weil also states that tickets are selling fast and that this year's Birthday Ball will surpass all previous ones held in the Town.

The outstanding event of the evening will be the Grand March, which will be led by First Selectman and Mrs. James J. Sullivan scheduled for 10 p. m. Members of the Harry R. Bartlett Post 89, American Legion, are urged to attend the Ball in uniform.

Floor Show

For the enjoyment of those present, a stellar floor show has been arranged by Mr. Bart Minter, Jr., chairman of the entertainment committee, with Mr. Jack Kerin, New Haven theatrical entertainer, as master of ceremonies. Mr. Kerin conducted the Grand March at the President's Birthday Ball at New Haven, two years ago, and East Haven is honored by his presence here this year.

Members of the cast include Miss Carol Hegel, toe dancer; Mr. Johnny Moran, soloist; Miss Gloria Gallo, tap dancer; Cosmo and Caren, waltz and ballroom dancing; Miss Jane Schile and the Co-co Head Hawaiians and Miss Olive Gallo, acrobatic dancer.

A door prize for women being either a hat or a handbag, has been donated by the Rosebud Millinery Shop of New Haven for the affair.

CONNOR URGES EARLY RENEWAL OF AUTOMOBILE REGISTRATIONS

Car Owners May Display 1938 Plates February 15 on Renewals Only

One of the harbingers of spring is the announcement from the motor vehicle commissioner that the time has arrived for motor vehicle car owners to renew their registrations or suffer dire penalty under the law. And so, in the midst of current wintry conditions comes a notice from Colonel Michael A. Connor, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles for Connecticut, asking the editor to announce to our readers that motor vehicle registration time is here again and urge that we all be among the early applicants.

"All motor vehicles owned by Connecticut residents and operated within the boundaries of this state," reads the official notice from the State Department of Motor Vehicles, "must be registered for 1938 on or before the last day of February. All motor vehicles owned as stated above must have the 1938 inset plate on their 'markers' on or before Tuesday, March 1st. There will be no extension of time. Motorists planning to be out of the state during the closing days of February are advised to secure 1938 registration certificates and insets for number plates early so as to make the required change of designation on the 'markers' on or before March 1st, as police authorities in all states of the union have been instructed that February 28th is the last date for the legal use of 1937 registrations and number plates."

The Commissioner urges all motor vehicle owners to apply at the branch office nearest their place of residence. We are informed that the 1938 registration certificates are already for issue, typed and completed in all details, just awaiting call by mail or in person.

Until further notice distribution of registrations and insets will be made only at the main office in Hartford and the permanent branch offices of the department located in Waterbury, Danbury, Stamford, Norwalk, New Haven, New London, Norwich, Willimantic and Bridgeport. The natural trading areas surrounding these larger cities have been designated by the Commissioner as the sections of the state each office will serve. Therefore, car owners who send their renewal applications into Hartford are doing the wrong act. They should apply in person or by mail to the branch office nearest their place of residence. If the car owner applies in person they present the signed application which is attached to the 1937 registration. The amount of the fee is stated plainly thereon. The 1938 certificate is immediately given them, being already for issue. The entire transaction will not take more than five minutes, according to Commissioner Connor, unless the applicant waits until the last few days when the rush of regular "procrastinators"

The department urges everybody who cannot take the time now to visit a branch office to apply by mail and assist the department to clear many registrations out of the way before the final few days. During the calendar year of 1937 the department issued the greatest total of registrations in its history, 450,321 certificates and sets of plates. The bulk of this record total should be handled this year as renewals, between now and March 1st. So much business crowded into ten offices in the few weeks remaining means taxing the capacity of the personnel at the various offices, even with extra clerks authorized by the Board of Finance, to extend quick service to the public. Mail applications, therefore, are being solicited by the department, car owners being urged to save their own time by letting Uncle Sam do the work for them. The important item to remember is that application must be made at the nearest branch office to the place of residence of applicant.

This year the law permits the display of 1938 plates on Tuesday, February 15th, so that the early applicants can change their markers and travel anywhere without fear of being in conflict with authorities of other states. This concession applies only to renewals, however, and not to those car owners who are registering their vehicles for the first time.

Young G. O. P. Seek Permanent Headquarters

The question of permanent headquarters was the main theme of the recent meeting of the East Haven Young Republican Club last Tuesday evening, at the West End Fire House, at which a large number attended. However, a committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. John Mele, William Durso, Herman Hackbarth, William Osborn and Second Selectman Harold Hall, ex-officio, to investigate suitable permanent headquarters for the club. Tentative plans were also made for the coming months.

Advisory Board

An Advisory Board of Messrs. Harold Bromberg, Russell Mallison, Rudy Schmidt, Fred Williams and Julius Kaczinski were appointed for the coming year.

Officers for the year are Mr. Harold Hall, president; Mr. M. Anastasio, vice-president; Mr. William Osborn, secretary; and Mr. Herman Hackbarth, treasurer.

The Young G. O. P. will hold their next meeting on Tuesday, February 8.

THE BIRTHDAY BALL

Tomorrow evening, January 29, over three hundred East Haveners will attend the Fifth Annual President's Birthday Ball in the Town Hall.

An affair such as this, if looked upon in the right way, is a just cause, in that all proceeds from the various balls about the country will go toward the erection of a new national foundation, scientific research, hospitals and clinics for the purpose of combating infantile paralysis.

Every year, in some town, county or state this grim terror produces fear, panic, death and human wreckage among the townspeople.

To those who feel that such a need is unnecessary, we wish to ask them what they would do if those dear to them were suddenly taken by this dreaded disease? Where would they go for help? How long could they finance the necessary specialized care?

The answer to this is the national foundation, and by attending the ball you may enjoy yourself so that others may walk.

Among Important Trees

The ten most important trees in the world, according to an official of the Society of American Foresters, are: 1, date palm; 2, coconut palm; 3, almond; 4, apple; 5, fig; 6, mulberry; 7, olive; 8, lemon; 9, cinchona; 10, rubber.

Unquestionably, the foremost families of trees are the palms. First in importance is the date palm. This tree is known to have been in cultivation for more than 4,000 years. It supplies the date of commerce, oil, wood and fiber.

The coconut palm, originated in the Malay archipelago and has been cultivated for at least 3,000 years. Its chief products are the coconut and its kernel, which when dried produces copra, a product valuable in the manufacture of commercial fertilizers.

The almond, probably originated in western Asia and the Mediterranean region. The almond is mentioned in the works of Theophrastus, a naturalist of the Third century B. C.

The apple produces one of the leading fruits of the world. It is the most important in North America and probably in the entire north temperate zone. It was known in prehistoric times.

The fig tree grew originally in southern Asia and Europe, whence it has been introduced into other subtropical lands. In America, the fig is grown in the Gulf states and in California.

The white mulberry is native to India and Mongolia. It has been grown in China since ancient times for its leaves, the chief food of the silkworm.

The olive tree is mentioned prominently in Homer's "Odyssey." The lemon tree originated in India. The lemon has been cultivated for some 2,500 years.

The cinchona of Peru and Bolivia is the source of quinine. It was introduced in Europe in 1639.

Although under cultivation for less than 100 years, and extensively grown for less than 40 years, the rubber tree is among the most important in our civilization.

What's What In BUILDING CONSTRUCTION

An open forum for the discussion and explanation of construction and material problems
By Walter R. Shiner
Reg. Architect, State of Conn.

SUPERVISING SMALL HOME CONSTRUCTION

Floors cost very little more laid with borders, say about 18" to 24" wide according to the size of the rooms, and give a much better appearance than straight laid floors.

If more expensive floors are desired than can be obtained with common type flooring, there is the Colonial Plank flooring in standard and random widths (usually oak) the English squares and diagonals, etc. Some of these types are laid with wooden pins dutchman, etc., and are very beautiful.

The supervisor should see that floors are properly nailed about every 12 inches and that bad knots and sappy pieces are thrown out along with other dark strips that do not harmonize for color. He should not allow any face nailing and where the under flooring is out of level as often happens in new homes as well as old, he should see that the floor is properly shimmed up with shims close enough together to prevent creaking.

LINOTYPE

Pedestrian: "Yes, and some of you motorists ride around just as if you owned your autos."

"Country Dances"

There is no connection whatever between the term "country dances" and country life, says Pearson's London Weekly. These dances are largely of village origin, and they derived their name from the French word "contre-danse," which means a contra-dance — any dance in which the partners stand opposite (contra) each other in parallel lines and dance in couples up and down, between the lines, as in the Sir Roger de Coverly. Contra-dances have been popular in the villages of England and other countries for centuries.

Errors in Bible Printing

The Unrighteous Bible was an edition printed at Cambridge in 1653, containing the printers' error, "Know ye not that the unrighteous shall inherit (for 'shall not inherit') the Kingdom of God?" The same edition, says Pearson's London Weekly, gave: "Neither yield ye your members as instruments of righteousness unto sin," in place of "unrighteousness." This is also sometimes known as the Wicked Bible, a title which is obvious in its allusion. Other curiously-named Bibles are the Treacle Bible, the Standing Fishes Bible, the Place-Makers' Bible, the Idle Bible, the Ears to Ear Bible, all named because of errors of printing.

Poets' Corner Memorial

The Poets' corner in Westminster abbey became a memorial to men of letters because its first tomb was that of Chaucer. He was buried there not because he was a poet but because he was clerk of the Works at Westminster. His tomb stands beneath a stained-glass window of scenes from the "Canterbury Tales." A small Genius holds the medallion honoring the poet John Gay, and on it is the following inscription by Gay himself: "Life is a jest; and all things show it: I thought so once, but now I know it."

THE HAT-BOX

Evening Hoods

Along with the change of mode for headwear comes the new evening hood.

This loveliest of all evening hoods is of black velvet with rhinestone trim, cut out with a soft circular up-turned brim. The hood crown is cut out quite full so as to protect the hair without crushing it. A velvet neck-band runs under the chin and fastens at the left side with a very brilliant rhinestone clasp.

The more fluffy evening hoods have a tiny bunch of flowers in place of the clasp with a thin flare of lace placed on the face side of the brim.

These evening hoods are charming with evening wraps.

East Haven To Even Score With Branford

Jeffs To Play Waterbury Olympics

By Eddie Munson, Sports Editor

East Haven High will be out for Branford's scalp when the two outfits meet Tuesday evening. East Haven's only chance of winning the Housatonic loop title seems to be by triumphing over the Hornets. It is hoped that Jimmy Glynn will be able to play Tuesday as his high scoring will be sorely needed.

As yet the site hasn't been chosen for the contest, but the game will start at 8:45 with the two jayvee teams battling at 7:30.

East Haven-Commercial

An interesting scrap is in the offing for all East Haven basketball fans tonight when the East Haven High hoopsters take on the Commercial team from New Haven. East Haven will feel the loss of Captain Glynn sharply, but the Mahermen are rated an even shot to upset the city lads.

In the preliminary which commences at 7:30, the East Haven Jayvees meet the Commercial Jayvees.

East Haven Trims Hamden

Last Tuesday afternoon East Haven walloped Hamden's fighting varsity 36-26 on the Hamden floor. Missing Captain Jimmy Glynn, who is out because of illness, East Haven's offense did not begin to click until after the initial half, but the second half saw the blue and gold players collect 24 points.

Thomson and Hanson with 12 and 10 points respectively, were high scorers for East Haven.

Jeffs vs. Olympics

Although neither the Jeff Girls nor the big team have Saturday games scheduled this week, both teams will play out-of-town games Sunday. At 3:00 the Jeff Big Five will oppose the Olympics of Waterbury in a return game and the unbeaten girls tackle the Stamford All Stars at 8:30 in Stamford.

Both fives have been playing wonderful ball this season and expect to continue their winning ways Sunday.

Intra-Murals Resumed

Due to a weeks postponement, the high school intra-mural basketball league did not start play until yesterday.

The games, in which approximately 125 students will participate, have been inaugurated to foster sportsmanship and cooperation and to give students not proficient enough to play on the varsity or Jayvee teams a chance to enjoy all the benefits of the sport.

Sub-Freshmen Basketball

The following members of the boys sub-freshmen basketball teams, of the East Haven High School, have been chosen to play against the high school Freshmen.

Trojans, Angelo Tinari, captain; Louis Maretti, Raymond Clinton, Salvatore Baldino, Theodore Poirier, Henry Madley, Carl Swanson, James MacLachlan, Dominic Melillo, Bernard Luongo, Theodore Grandshaw, Albert Weil.

Red Devils, Frank Zimmerman, captain; Wayne Davis, Victor Farnocchio, Remo Perna, William Clancy, Michael Mulqueen, Jack Barry, Edward Nitsch, Billy Mintz, Marcus Gandossy.

Eagles Willard Stephenson, captain; Walter Miller, Irving Reynolds, Raymond Yuse, Anton Schultz, Eugene DeFilippo, Stephen Midzieski, Albert Bourget, Rose Coe, Elmer Smyack, Daniel Morgan, Robert Taylor and Edward Giering.

BRITISH WOMAN TO SELL MANOR GHOST

She's Not Nervous, but He Makes So Much Noise.

London. — "Haunted wardrobe—advertiser will be glad to deliver same to anybody interested, complete with ghost, which would also, no doubt, feel more at home if welcomed."

That notice in the classified columns of a London newspaper has brought to light a strange story. The advertisement was inserted by Mrs. B. Barclay, of Caterton Manor, Oxfordshire.

"The wardrobe is a large piece of furniture in walnut, with four drawers and mirrors, which I happened to pick up at a sale three years ago," she explained. "I paid only $50 for it because, though it took my fancy, there was little of artistic value in it. I put it in a guest room of my house and thought nothing more of it."

"Just about three months ago, however, some friends who were staying the week-end asked me if I could account for the strange opening and shutting of the wardrobe drawers which had kept them awake all night. The noise has since continued nightly."

"And that is not all. The figure of an elderly man, dressed in old-fashioned clothes and wearing a kind of deer-stalker cap, now walks downstairs and out of the front door every evening. I see him myself by the electric light and have tried to touch him, but he vanished in my fingers. I am not psychic, nor am I nervous, but this wretched ghost will make such a noise."

"The trouble is that I can get no one to stay at the manor. My staff gave notice, and my friends decline week-end invitations."

Size of a Billion

The Oxford dictionary says that the billion was purposely formed in the Sixteenth century to denote the second power of a million, in France, the name not being adopted in London until the end of the Seventeenth century. Subsequently, French arithmeticians altered the application of the word "billion," figures being divided in numeration into groups of threes instead of sixes. As a result the French billion and trillion (which we use) denote not the second and third powers of a million, but a thousand millions and a thousand billions. England retained the original and etymological use.

LA GUARDIA DEPUTY

Most important man in the New York city set-up (besides Mayor La Guardia) is Magistrate Henry H. Curran, pictured puffing a cigarette after hearing that he had been appointed to the office of deputy mayor. The duties of the office newly created are largely administrative, and according to the law, the mayor is permitted to delegate almost full powers to him.

"Love and Hisses" Plays Capitol

On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of the coming week, the Capitol Theatre will present those two Rajahs of Razz, Walter Winchell and Ben Bernie, in their latest film success, "Love and Hisses." They are ably supported in their venture by Simone Simon, Joan Davis and Bert Lahr.

As an added treat, "A Dangerous Adventure," with Don Terry will be shown. A single and newsreel help toward making this a pleasant evening's entertainment.

"Spider-Wasps" in Brazil.

In Brazil "spider-wasps" are fairly common. They store their underground nests with spiders and caterpillars which they have stung. In digging the nests, a spider-wasp often carries out a little pebble by holding it between the front legs and the "chin."

Lincoln Presents Life Of Beethoven

In "The Life and Loves of Beethoven" now showing at the Lincoln Theatre, the director has adapted to dramatic purposes the episodes of Beethoven's career. Under his able direction, Harry Baur gives a thoughtful, impassioned performance. The Moonlight Sonata, fragments of the Third, the Sixth, the Ninth Symphonies — form the musical background of this dramatic picture.

The program includes one of Robert Benchley's "The Romance of Digestion" and the first showing in New Haven of the most recent issue of "The March of Time," entitled "Inside Nazi Germany."
