Indian Neck, Short Beach Sea Walls Must Be Built To Safeguard Highways

Efforts Made To Secure State Aid—Town Meeting Will Be Called When Selectmen Are Prepared To Offer Plans For Work Necessary Following Disaster.

The selectmen's attempt to make the state saddle some of the expense of repairing sea walls, washed out in the recent hurricane-tidal wave storm has apparently failed.

Property owners in Short Beach have been approached by state highway officials in an effort to determine who shall pay the expense of rebuilding the sea wall near the school. Several propositions have been suggested, owners being opposed to undertaking the expense as their property is in no danger of undermining. Some fear, jeopardizing the privacy of the beach should the state, town, or WPA do the job. Owners at this beach claim rights to the highwater mark, but the sea wall must be maintained for the safety of the road.

Another spot under consideration is the Montowese Hotel section where extensive damage was done. Sometime ago a new road at the rear of the waterfront homes was

Major Compton Has Brilliant Civic Record

Major Compton has a brilliant record as a soldier, a statesman and a business man.

During his service overseas, Major Compton received the three highest honors for distinguished bravery under fire it is possible for a soldier to receive.

He served for four years as secretary to former governor of New York, Nathan Miller; and for four years as deputy Secretary of the State of New York.

A resident of this state for the past 15 years, Major Compton has a fine record as a business man in Connecticut and is well known for his civic activities in Madison. He was one of the founders of the Madison Beach Club, has maintained an active interest in the theatre and was largely responsible for the splendid theatre which Madison offered to summer residents.

He was one of the leaders of the movement which brought the fight for lower utility rates before the utility commission and won lower rates for the towns of Madison and Clinton.

Major Compton opened his campaign ten days ago with a withering blast at his opponent, James Shanley in which he branded his opponent as a "yes man" and a shining example of the "rubber stamp" Congress.

Frederick Eaton Speaks On Care Of Shade Trees

Frederick S. Eaton, superintendent of trees in New Haven, spoke Monday at the Branford Rotary Club on the subject "The Rehabilitation of Our Shade Trees." The speaker was born in Branford and is the nephew of the late Alfred E. and Valdemar T. Hammer.

Mr. Eaton discussed the salvaging of damaged trees. He said that elms cannot be usually be salvaged. All dead branches should be removed as soon as possible on account of elm beetles. He said that in replanting there is no reason for not using elms, as young elms and those which have proper sanitation are not attacked by disease.

The speaker recommended the American Elm on broad streets and where there is plenty of moisture, but for narrow streets and where there is much pavement he advised planting the Norway Maple or the Siberian Elm.

The meeting was attended by 41, with two visiting Rotarians from the New Haven club, Samuel D. Bogan and Frank Callahan.

American Legion Meets Tomorrow

Robert Cate, commander of the Corcoran-Sundquist Post, American Legion has called a special meeting for tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Community House to consider giving an Armistice dance or ball.

Under the Post's by-laws a portion of the amount raised must be devoted to welfare work so members will consider tomorrow evening whether or not they will spend the remainder of the money on the trees instead of the general fund should they decide to hold a dance.

Branford And East Haven Hold Democratic Caucus To Nominate To Assembly

Branford Names John B. Sliney And Stuart J. Clancy—East Haven Nominates Herbert Herr and Richard Watson—Both Towns Selects Nominees For Justices Of Peace.

Candidate For Treasurer

Joseph E. Talbot of Naugatuck, Republican candidate for Treasurer.

Joseph E. Talbot Recognized As "Old In Service"

When the Republicans, recognizing the best of political timber, nominated Joseph E. Talbot, of Naugatuck, for state treasurer they upset a rather considerable group of Naugatuck electorates.

That electorate includes every ardent Democrat in the borough; because the Democrats of Naugatuck have been going nicely these last years and it looked like November 3 was to be a repeat performance so far as a majority was concerned for Warden John J. Sheridan and his lads.

But now Naugatuck seems to be a cinch for the Republicans and there is only one reason why this should appear so at this early writing, weeks before the vote is cast and counted.

He's known as "Joe" to so many in the borough that Republicans and Democrats alike forget party lines where the extremely well-lit young attorney is concerned. He's been officer of so many organizations, served so much in public life within the borough, that no one in the community, with the possible exception of Warden Sheridan, is so well-known.

And this factor is where the votes are derived, as every politician will tell you. More than any election in recent years, too, this

Need, Not Loss Necessary For Red Cross Aid

Twenty-one local persons have applied at the temporary Red Cross headquarters in the town hall for information, on disaster relief. The very small number of people who have applied for aid as a result of losses suffered from the hurricane has led local officials to believe that some sufferers may not know how to gain such aid. Applications should be made at the temporary headquarters in the town hall, and action should be taken at once as aid will not be offered indefinitely.

Need, not loss, is stressed, the information given by the applicant is confidential but before any disbursement can be made by the National Red Cross all cases must be investigated.

The list changes daily but at present three families are being housed in temporary homes. Contributions may still be made to the Branford Branch of the Red Cross for disaster relief.

Mrs. McDonald was introduced to the girls Monday afternoon in the First Congregational Church by Mrs. Greta Towne of New Haven.

M. I. F. Employee Writes About Tidal Wave

John Christensen, formerly of Branford, where he was employed in the M. I. F. is now located in the Philadelphia office of the factory. He sends the following contribution to Mr. H. E. Thitcher: "It is Mr. Christensen's father-in-law and 'Ma' is his mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Devine. The story as Mr. Christensen writes it is: 'It seems they were in the City (Providence) and decided it being a nice day to take the bus and go to the beach for the afternoon, where the boys could pick them up and bring them home late in the afternoon. After getting to the beach and looking the house over and having a stroll at the beach, he lay down for an hour's rest. Suddenly a huge wave, he judged to be about 15 to 20 feet swooped down, clearing everything before it. The Sun Porch let go from the house. Down they went into the water holding hands. They grasped

They had been asleep sometime, it was after 4 p. m. The tide was blowing hard and the wind had risen and overflowed its banks. The water was about six feet high all around the house. They both were on the second floor. The house set back from the water over 100 feet and is about seven to eight feet above sea level. It is a two and a half story all year round stucco house with a concrete cellar foundation.

What to do, neither could swim and Pa was afraid to stay in the house for fear that it would cave in on them. He asked Ma what she thought they should do, stay inside or get outside on the Sun Porch. She said, 'Well, if you can't swim, you do, I will do so, he decided to get on the Sun Porch roof from the window of the second floor. It was now about five o'clock or a little after. They could see very little ahead of them, it was so dense. Suddenly a huge wave, he judged to be about 15 to 20 feet swooped down, clearing everything before it. The Sun Porch let go from the house. floating timber. A second wave, smaller than the first came and some debris struck and parted them forever. This last wave jammed Pa into the fork of a tree so tight, he was unable to move. Probably he was knocked out on top of the other in a cove a mile and a quarter from out of water, which kept him from drowning. These three waves, one huge one and two short quick ones completely destroyed 320 houses at the beach and partly ruined 800 more according to a survey made afterwards. Our house stands now alone, like a lighthouse on an island. It took a beating but stood, and if they had only decided to stay in the house they would both have been safe.

Pa said the last thing he heard Ma say before the last wave struck them and parted them forever was 'Jesus, Mary and Joseph have mercy on us.' She was a devout Catholic, and was buried from the heart of the business district of Providence, several sea going barges lifted right up on dry land, an oil tank with 75,000 gallons of oil crashed tossed into the back yard of an Insane Asylum, high and dry port.

The Democrats have put out an ultra-conservative ticket, looking for Republican defection to their nominees. While he is past president of the New Haven County Young Republicans, Joe Talbot is "new blood", a young face on the Republican ticket of Connecticut. This is one of the points particularly stressed by Ezra James L. McConaughy, of Wesleyan university, the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor. It is to be part of the campaign for "Recovery with the Republicans" which will be led by Judge Raymond E. Baldwin of Stratford, candidate for governor, and young John Danaher. It is the policy of the new Republican platform that "there is a liberal brand of Republicanism, eager to serve the state and the party, anxious to undertake the preliminary measures necessary to a Republican victory in 1940—to end the experiment of the New Deal, an experiment for which Republicans can find no such term as "nobis" a suitable brand of Republicanism. This selection of candidates provide an appeal for labor beyond any induced by other tickets in many years, if ever. For labor has felt the stirring urges of rejuvenation and progress and there is parallel between this new Republican party in Connecticut and the stirrings of organized labor for more generally beneficial legislation of a permanent nature. That some of the Democratic candidates, a considerable group, taking members of the General Assembly seeking reelection, have opposed labor legislation, have that organized labor will look further this fall for those candidates it will support. Because some of the Republican candidates in the top brackets of the ticket have no "labor records" because they are seeking public office for the first time, means very likely that labor will give these preference, acknowledging the premise of the Republican platform which so definitely favors labor in many important instances. Branford Grid Team Faces Tough Contest In League Contest

Shelton High Combine Will Invade Town With Great Team According To Reports We Have Received—Knechtgen Also Will Present Tough Likeli—Game Set For Hammer Field Saturday

The Branford high school football team will have a hard time of it when they meet the Shelton High Combine on Saturday at Hammer Field. The Shelton team is expected to be one of the best in the league.

The Branford team has been doing well in their league games. They have won several games and are in good shape for the upcoming contest.

Local High Club Edge Out Big Hamden Eleven

The Branford high school football team outplayed the Hamden high school team to win a 14-12 victory at Hammer Field last Saturday afternoon. The Knechtgen-coached eleven scored touchdowns in the second and last periods, by Tannin scoring the first tally in the second period when he went around the left end to score after Branford had advanced the ball down to scoring territory. Barni kicked the point after touchdown.

Branford's second score came in the last period when Jim Barba intercepted a Hamden pass on his own 31-yard line and scampered the remaining 60 yards to score. He also converted the extra point.

During this last period the Hamdenites filed the air with passes, several of which were intercepted. The game was a heart-breaker for the Branford fans who were hoping for a victory.

Wallingford West Sides Meet Green Wave Club At Hammer Field

Dartmouth Meets Dartmouth In 45th Series Contest (Special to The Review) The colorful Harvard-Dartmouth rivalry dating back to 1882 will be renewed once again Saturday afternoon at Hammer Field.

The Wallingford combine who are regarded rather highly by some covering Connecticut schoolboy football, Derby is the only league team listed in the second bracket.

It is somewhat alarming to learn that there are more than 400 college football publicity men in this country each of them determined to place at least one man on this season's All-American eleven.

Laurels Battle Tough Eagles To Scoreless Tie

Showing almost a complete reversal of the poor form which caused a loss to the Fair Haven All-Stars some few weeks ago, Coaches Harton and Sokolowsky's Branford Green Wave played a hard, clean, and improved ball in its tilt at home last Sunday afternoon.

Shelton, on the other hand, have progressed rapidly in the past few weeks. They have won several games and are in good shape for the upcoming contest.

FROM THE PRESS BOX

The eyes of all Connecticut will be focused on the New Haven Arena, the night of October 29, when John Henry Lewis meets the Elm City fighter, Al Gainer for the light heavyweight crown. This will be the biggest fight this state has witnessed since the boom days of the Kap-Jin-Battlino era.

The middle of the American football field should be benefited, says J. Kingsbury Esq., General Manager of the Redskins, professional football publicity men in this country each of them determined to place at least one man on this season's All-American eleven.

Derby Grid Team Highly Rated By Gallagher System

Shelton, Stratford Derby and Branford Making Great Bidding For First Place Honors In League

According to the Gallagher ratings which are regarded rather highly by some covering Connecticut schoolboy football, Derby is the only league team listed in the second bracket.

It is somewhat alarming to learn that there are more than 400 college football publicity men in this country each of them determined to place at least one man on this season's All-American eleven.

Town Welcomes Metals Experts

Brantford did its best with good weather and good fellowship to entertain the New Haven Chapter of the American Society for Metals on Thursday, October 15th.

The arrangements for the day were carried out by the Technical Chairman, Mr. Ernest G. Craig and Mr. D. F. Saville, Secretary-Treasurer, who as Plant Engineer and Metallurgist respectively at the Malleable factory had trained a group of guides to conduct the visitors through the works.

More than forty visiting members through the plant of the Malleable Iron Fittings Co., and the Technical guides explained the finer points of the business.

The dinner followed in the cafeteria of the Branford High School and was attended by nearly all of the members of the local chapter.

The speaker, a high authority, indicated that malleable iron was the way back and in the opinion of engineers would complete with stampings and forgings, and even with steel.

The next meeting of the New Haven Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants will be held on October 25 in the Y. N. A. N. Evening Dinner will be served at 6:30.

The speaker, R. W. Starveid is recognized as one of the leading authorities on office machines and their proper application. In 1936 he established the American Unit of the International Office Machines Corporation, an organization that was founded in Holland, spread to London, and has now come to the United States.

THE MOVIE GUYED

HOT TIPS FOR THE WEEK:
Wallace Beery and Mickey Rooney, both veterans of the screen, are united for the first time in "Stablemates," a melodrama of the race track. The picture opens at the Loew Poll College for a 2nd Big week starting Friday.

The story, a dramatic unfolding of the friendship which exists between a once famous veterinary and a stable boy, has the flavor of "The Champ," the memorable picture which starred Beery with Jackie Cooper.

Beery plays the role of the veterinary, in trouble with the law, who comes to the aid of Rooney when the boy becomes the owner of a thoroughbred. Offering opportunities for broad comedy and some starkly dramatic scenes reminiscent of his characterizations with Marie Dressler, it is tailored for Beery.

Rooney, who is the latest star on the M O M lot roster, has a role which tests his versatility and acting ability. Differing in every respect from his characterization in the Judge Hardy Family series, his portrayal of a stable boy demands understanding and an appreciation of dramatic values.

In the supporting cast are Arthur Hohl, Margaret Hamilton and Majorie Gateson.

The 2nd big feature on this great program is "Mysterious Mr. Moto" with Peter Lorre, Mary McGuire and Henry Wilcoxon.

WATCH FOR COMING HITS:
"Submarine Patrol" with Richard Greene & Nancy Wells..... "Suez" with Tyrone Power & Loretta Young..... "Sweethearts" with Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy..... and many others.

See you in the Movies,
Your MOVIE GUYED

A heart-warming human story rich in the thrills and color of the most exciting spot in the sporting world..... the race track. This picture will introduce the Gambinis, the screen's newest family who will surely win your hearts. Papa Gambinis is played by the lovable Henry Armetta who together with an enjoyable police force provide the laughs. This is a Movie Quiz Picture.

Scouts of the Troop acted as messengers at the telephone exchange during the hurricane; the Troop worked on the Green, clearing away; and Scouts of the Troop aided in the direction of traffic for several days. The Senior Patrol Leader of the Branford Troop mobilized the older Scouts of the Troop, to offer aid to private homes in clearing away Mr. John Van Wilgen, who is Scoutmaster of the Branford Troop, served with the National Guard after the hurricane. Shore Bench Scouts were very much in evidence in the clean-up at Short Beach. In Madison, members of the Scout Troop there were on the job. Mr. Gordon Peery is Scoutmaster at Madison. Mr. Peery served on the Beach Patrol at Madison, after the hurricane.

THE POCKETBOOK OF KNOWLEDGE

Meanderings of a Book Worm

The new Martin Johnson book, "Over African Jungles", which tells the story of a new kind of African exploration and adventure has Juniors' attention this evening. It is a record of a glorious adventure over the Big Game country of Africa 60,000 miles by airplane and, Juniors' delight, has more than 3,000 new photographs. I hope Juniors has done his Algebra.

Another book Juniors has is "The Boy Scouts Book of Outdoor Hobbies", edited by Franklin K. Mathews. It contains expert advice, helpful information, and interesting articles on a great variety of outdoor hobbies and sports. Our son likes the book because there are stories, and advice by experts on canoeing, skiing, skating, surf riding, sprinting, tumbling, shooting water sports, model airplane, building and nature photography.

My lovely daughter is enjoying Helen Worden's "Society Circus" that witty and intimate book that appeals to all young ladies like Patty. Miss Worden writes about not mere names and misty figures, but friends and acquaintances. She knows them, their families and their doings, and she has been unsparringly frank in telling the world who they are and just how they live.

Our next door neighbor suggests that Pat read "Be Your Age" by Marjorie Barstow Greenble. She says she believes it is the first service counsel on the difficult progress from adolescence through middle age. Everybody must make the journey. Mrs. Greenble shows how to grow up gracefully and with a minimum of anguish.

Ted, Sr. likes travel books, "Mangle and Mystery in Tibet" by Alexandra David-Neel by the author of "My Journey to Lhasa" and then there's "Spanish Raggale-Taggle", adventures with a fiddle in North Spain by Walter Starke and "New Worlds for Old."

Irina Skariatina and Victor Blakeslee wrote "New Worlds for Old" Irina Skariatina training and background, including all that is finest in the traditions of old Europe, are complemented by personal experience and keen viewpoint regarding the shattering events which are reshaping the destinies of the New.

Now, my choice, for the evenings reading is to finish "Old Covered Bridges" by Adelbert M. Jakeman.

Mr. Jakeman has not only written the romantic history of these old landmarks but has also unearthed a great many of the stories and legends which have become a part of their charm. This book digs deep into the soil of American tradition and I like it, like it very much.

We are all reading that delightful "Benjamin Franklin" by Carl Van Doren.

Benjamin Franklin, the boy who walked the streets of Philadelphia munching on a loaf of bread, the

Frank Clancy Returns From Convention

Frank S. Clancy a member of W. S. Clancy & Sons funeral directors of this town, has just returned from New York City where he took part for 3 days in the deliberations of the National Funeral Directors Association, holding its 57th annual convention in the Hotel Roosevelt there.

The association comprises practically all the reputable and legitimate funeral directors in the country, with 9000 members in 48 states. Three leading federal government officials came from Washington to address the delegates on matters of national importance affecting the profession and the public.

Protection of the public health from epidemics in time of catastrophe depends in part on the work done by embalmers and therefore it is important that the technical training of embalmers should be of high grade and that they are rigidly examined before they are granted state license, it was pointed out.

The right of every person who dies to have decent burial, as a matter of human dignity regardless of his economic status, is a principle that has become increasingly important since the passage of social security legislation, it was asserted by the newly elected national president of the association, Charles W. Porterfield of Holton, Kansas.
