R. Hammond Again To Direct Summer Theatre

Director Brings Sam Byrd To Stony Creek As Resident Man- ager Of East-Season Opens June 30th.

The Stony Creek Playhouse will open its 1941 season on June 30, and will again be under the direction of Ronald T. Hammond.

Mr. Hammond wishes to announce that among the outstanding members of the resident company will be Sam Byrd, who will be remembered as the original Duke Lester in "Tobacco Road," as Curley in the original production of "Of Mice and Men," as David Herald in "The Man Who Killed Lincoln," and for his work in "Street Scene." Mr. Byrd is also a producer in his own right in New York.

One of the plays Mr. Byrd has purchased for fall production is Jack Levin's "The Good Neighbor," which will be given a pre-Broadway production at Stony Creek toward the end of this season. Stony Creek patrons will remember that Jack Levin's first work, "They Love Best" was presented by Mr. Hammond last year, prior to the closing week of the season.

Mr. Levin's "The Good Neighbor" is a plea for tolerance and the eradication of hatred and hysteria, especially as it affects Americans of German descent and other minority groups, religious and political. He sent the play to Mr. Hammond in New York, who had three days later sold it to Sam Byrd, making it one of the quickest sales this season on Broadway.

Rosenthal Block Being Repaired For Bellis Co.

Heat Treating Co. of Meadow St., Burned Out, Causing $10,000 Damages—Will Operate New Factory In Rose Street.

Hundreds of Branford residents flocked to the scene of spectacular two-alarm fire Friday morning when one of the buildings of the Bellis Heat Treating Company, in Meadow Street, burned and caused damage estimated at $10,000.

So great was the start before the blaze was discovered that the efforts of volunteer firemen were futile.

When the first apparatus arrived about 2:50 A. M., the fire had already broken through the wooden roof of the large sheet metal structure and was raging out of control. Intense heat hampered the labors of the firefighters, soon nothing but the blackened and twisted framework of the one-story building, remained.

Fire Marshal Ernest Wood, who began an investigation immediately said that he had not been able to determine the cause of the blaze.

Officials of the company, which manufactures ovens and electric annealing furnaces and equipment, said that the building was valued at $3,000 and machinery at $7,000.

The Bellis Company has taken a long term lease on the brick building in Rose Street belonging to Philip Rosenthal and directly in the rear of the Ashley Shirt Company and Branford Printing Co. The Bellis Company is making alterations to suit its own needs and will resume production in its new location as quickly as possible since it has many rush orders on hand to fill.

The agreement with the Shirt Institute affects workers in Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia and Massachusetts.

Recently Cluett, Peabody & Co., one of the largest firms in the industry, which had been non-union since their inception, entered into contractual relations with the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

The wage increase which will go into effect June 2, according to Mr. Cursi will benefit 3,500 organized shirt workers in Connecticut in the cities of New Haven, Bridgeport, Branford, New Britain, Wallingford, Derby, Shelton, Danbury and South Norwalk.

The agreement with the Shirt Institute, according to Aldo Cursi, Manager of the Shirt and Clothing Workers' Union in Connecticut, A. C. W. A., provides for a general 10% wage increase and a vacation fund into which the employers will pay 2 1/2% of their weekly payroll. Members of the Shirt Institute met last Wednesday at the Pennsylvania Hotel, in New York, to ratify the agreement.

These poppies which are an exact replica of the poppies that grew on the battlefields of France, and were immortalized by the famous poem, "In Flanders Fields, between the crosses row on row" are a symbol of the men who gave their lives in the last war. The American Legion has adopted this poppy as their official flower and hold the sale each year to raise funds to use for relief work among their buddies. Throughout the various veterans hospitals, the disabled veterans make these poppies which they sell to the American Legion, thereby being able to purchase for themselves a few personal luxuries which the government does not supply. Does Your Home Need Protection?

Three out of seven property owners have complied with the law by placing approved fire escapes on three story dwellings.

Sometime ago the owners were given instructions by the fire officials to equip their structures with means of escape in the event of fire.

Unless corrections are soon made the officials have said they will be forced to use more drastic means to secure protection for the occupants.

May 25 is the date set for the Indian Neck Fire Company annual picnic. The affair will be held at Overie's, North Gullford.

Trinity Aid Society will meet May 22 in the home of Mrs. Harry Smith, Averill Place.

The hostess will be Mrs. Irwin Morton and Mrs. Frederic R. Murray.

PLENTY TO EAT
The effect of the defense program on demand and supply of food products, and means by which the entire food industry can cooperate to help make that program effective, was the vital topic recently discussed by the National Food and Grocery Council. The committee is composed of all branches of the food industry, including chains, independents, cooperatives and others.

The committee's discussion produced some good news for the consumer. It acknowledged and affirmed the industry's obligation to feed the nation with maximum economy during these trying times. It stated that a survey of available and potential food supplies reveals no cause for alarm on the part of the public. It pointed out that purchasing in excess of normal requirements is unwarranted and inadvisable, and urged consumers to conserve.

ALIENS
Doubtless most people have noticed that the government is making a drive against aliens who are in this country illegally. I hope that the attention of some of our more interested friends will call it to their attention.

HELPING WIN A WAR
John Thomas Cain is a 15-year old London coterby. Over here, we would say that he peddled vegetables. He has been given the green medal, one of the highest awards for gallantry, and is the youngest Briton to wear it.

"War's legitimate object is more perfect peace."—Gen. Wm. T. Sherman.
When incendiary bombs first started dropping on Britain, citizens had not yet been aroused to their responsibility. A nationwide fire prevention campaign was started. The British were made to feel that every incendiary bomb was an individual challenge. They learned, not to sit and take it, but to stand up and do something about it.

VACATIONS MEAN MORE NOW

Americans take vacation time seriously. We work hard and play hard in this country. The English humorous magazine Punch, paying too much attention to the latter habit, once declared that America is a vacation country—it's a picnic.

UNNECESSARY PARADOX
"At the end of the first nine months of the present fiscal year the number of persons holding jobs in business and industry was 5 per cent higher than at the start of that period. Over the same nine months the WPA rolls showed a net increase of 5.9 per cent despite the demands of defense production."

TWO-BY-FOUR
by Gilbert Stinger
The "Two-by-Four" stands a nice round figure, 100. This is the one-hundredth column to come out of the typewriter and into your newspaper. In May 1939 the first one saw the light of print in the Millford Citizen, and now each week it comes, too, in the Connecticut Echo and the Branford Review.

FIRST HUNDRED
Up at the top of the back of the paper on which I'm typing this edition of "Two-by-Four."

WASHINGTON SNAPSHOTS
BY JAMES PRESTON

Every real American would be tremendously interested if he knew the real inside truth behind the Congressional fight over the "Vison bill" for the defense of the basic issue is whether planners and theorists or experienced men shall run the nation for defense.

NO NEW TAXES NEEDED NOW
The American people—ninety-nine and nine-tenths of 'em—are patriotic, loyal, ready to make real sacrifices for their country's defense.

They Say
"We know that in this expense line the world's richest of raw material, of foodstuffs, fuel of the fibers and chemicals that are the physical basis of our civilization. We know that we possess here the most competent and integrated national industry adaptable to the needs of our people and capable of expansion, according to the needs of the moment."

Now that beneficial vitamins have been added to our bread, flour, milk, and other foods, some people have asked if there is any possibility of getting too many vitamins. Not at all. 1941 American Design Award Winners

WITH the presentation this week of the American Design Awards for 1941, Major Alexander P. de Seversky (1), aviator; Harold Van Doran (2), industrial designer; Glen Lukens (3), professor at Southern California; and Lilly Dache (4), fashion designer, joined the group of distinguished designers who have been honored by Lord and Taylor each year since 1937 when the store inaugurated the design awards.

Lord and Taylor has long been the champion of American designers. The store was the first sponsor of the American Design movement back in 1937, and has launched many young Americans in this field. The design awards were established to serve as an inspiration and boon to those engaged in industrial designing in this country. Now with America so dependent on her own talent, the awards take on an added significance. As Walter Hoving, president of the store, stressed in his presentation speech, "Our creative designing needs more and more the quickening impetus of appreciation."

For a designer to be eligible for one of the four one thousand dollar awards he must be an American citizen, and his work must have influenced the industry with which he is associated. The jury, composed of nine expert critics in the field of design, selected the winners on the basis of the following achievements: Mr. Van Doren for his design of the Philco Refrigerator which brought Philco into fifth place in the industry; Madame Ducho for her half-hat, the hat that put hats back on hatless heads; Mr. Lukens for his work in ceramics; and Major de Seversky for the greatest contribution to the advancement of airplane design in this country.
