PRICE FIVE CENTS

Ambulance Available If Branford Decides To Purchase Machine

General Opinion Favors Starting Committee To Create Fund of $2000 — Town Officials Consulted On Housing And Liability Problems.

In response to numerous letters and calls of the subject of buying an ambulance for the town, the Review has been doing some missionary work over a period of several weeks with the thought in mind that a car would extend beyond the period of emergency.

Everyone contacted has agreed that Branford should not have to wait for a car to arrive from New Haven. Likewise there were none who thought but what lives would be saved.

Granted then, for the sake of presenting the subject, that the people of Branford want and need a machine not for defense alone but for permanent town use.

The only car we have so far located is "a very fine, good, used, fully streamlined 1935 custom built Packard. The interior of the patient compartment is absolutely new. It has been thoroughly renovated. The exterior of the car is perfect in every detail, mechanically guaranteed. It has been put through shops and its condition is A-1. The rubber is in excellent shape and consists of six good tires and tubes.

The ambulance is equipped with a cot fastener, a full sized cot and a new mattress; two attendant seats; a rear compartment heater; rear door step, roof flasher; siren under the hood; also a pair of new fog lamps.

The dealer will drive the car here for inspection.

There is another side of the picture. Housing, insurance, drivers, upkeep, collection of accounts, all are matters to be given consideration. Driving would probably be done by police or firemen.

After consultation with several town officials there arose no question but what the town would accept the gift and might build a garage to house it.

Those most likely to head a committee feel that it is possible to raise $2000. for that purpose. The purchase price is $1250. If $2000 is collected the balance would be put toward housing and upkeep.

There is the story. We have done about all we can. The rest is up to you.

Kligerman Says Branford Needs 300 Small Homes

WPB Prohibition of Non-Essential Building Creates "Uncertain" Condition.

The War Production Board last night prohibited new construction of non-essential residences, road, and commercial buildings and indicated that projects already under way might be halted if the materials going into them could be used more effectively in the war program.

When asked what this means to Branford, Manuel Kligerman of the Branford Coal and Lumber Co. said that he does not expect the order to halt building of homes for defense workers, inasmuch as Branford is listed as a defense area. Large homes, shore cottages and non-essential buildings will be curtailed if not stopped completely.

Mr. Kligerman said that the situation is "uncertain." "Labor and scarcity of metal substances are more seriously affected than the lumber business itself." Factories doing defense work will unquestionably, he said, be given priorities and he looks for a much-needed wave in remodeling and repairing.

Attempt by the government to prevent inflation and create a potential market results in a condition which was non-existent in World War I.

When asked about the housing shortage here, Mr. Kligerman said, "Branford needs 300 small homes," but repeated "conditions are very uncertain, very."

MARIETTA ABLONDI DIES OF INJURIES

Marietta Abondi, 7, daughter of Postmaster and Mrs. Frank Abondi of Stony Creek, died Thursday night in New Haven Hospital of a compound skull fracture she received a few minutes earlier in a freak mishap.

In addition to her parents, the girl, who was a first grade student at Stony Creek school, is survived by an older sister, Jean. Funeral rites were held Saturday at 3 from the W. S. Clancy and Sons mortuary home. Burial was in St. Agnes cemetery.

Mr. Driscoll immediately enlisted all postal employees in Branford and seeks others in outlying sections. Volunteers will contact him. Anyone observing parachute troops or troops disembarked from planes after landing will report to Postmaster Driscoll either at the Post Office or at his home.

Mrs. Evelyn Dwyer of Short Beach, postmaster there, contemplates cooperation but has formulated no plans.

Spokesmen for a group of citizens said this afternoon that papers will be written today or tomorrow asking for a special town meeting to rescind the zoning authority.

A special town meeting held in the Community House Tuesday night voted to establish a zoning authority in the town of Branford by a rising vote of 49 to 46.

The authority was vested in a zoning commission of five men with the following personnel: John E. Brainard, Milton W. Goss, Cornelius T. Driscoll, Frank R. Williams and T. Holmes Bracken. This board will serve until the next annual town meeting, when a new board will be elected, the members' terms ranging from five years to one year.

The meeting developed differences of opinion as to the advisability of establishing zoning in Branford.

T. Holmes Bracken, speaking for the motion, urged the need of zoning and mentioned several instances in which the lack of it had caused residential districts to deteriorate. Both Mr. Bracken and Howard M. Whiting, who also urged adoption, pointed out that setting up a zoning authority had nothing to do with adopting a building code.

Leading the opposition were John Barnes and Walter Lord. The latter, although not a voter in Branford, was granted the courtesy of the floor.

Mr. Barnes based his opposition on the grounds that zoning would be an "opening wedge" for the setting up of many troublesome and expensive restrictions.

Mr. Lord followed the same line of argument and spoke of the experience of East Haven as proving his point.

Howard M. Whiting presented a resolution affecting the disposition by the treasurer of stock certificates, bonds or other securities owned by the town. This was voted in the affirmative.

T. Holmes Bracken offered a resolution asking that the unexpended balance of $70 remaining in the Indian Neck bridge bond account be appropriated for the selection's use for the repair of Blackstone bridge. This was voted in the affirmative.

Other matters on the call, having to do with routine matters, brought forth an affirmative vote with no opposition.

Walter H. Palmer was moderator and Winfield R. Morgan acted as clerk.

WE FACE A BIRTHDAY

Time moves on, and the Branford Review moves with it, meeting from day to day, week to week, year to year, new problems and conditions which time presents.
Along many lines there can be no definite planning for the future. This year starts this paper on its way toward its 15th year of community service and present-day conditions so affect us that definite planning for the future is uncertain.

SMOKING IN A WAR FACTORY

A judge presiding in Long Island City recently issued a ruling which forbids smoking in the plant of the Brewster Aeronautical Corp.
"General MacArthur said his men work long hours, too, and I'll bet they don't have much time to slip off for a cigarette."
The judge fined the 12 and gave them suspended jail sentences as a warning.

THE MAGIO BEAN

Announcement that the average goal of soybeans in the United States for 1942 has been set at 3,000,000 illustrates a welcome trend. We reverse the usual home-stationing fashion that the U.S.A. is not self-sufficient. The development of the soybean crop, from 2000 acres in 1899 to 5,500,000 in 1941 indicates that a good start has been made toward making it a crop of the future.

THE NEW ARRIVAL

NEW SLOGAN

"You can't improve on perfection," people used to say. But now that slogan itself has been improved on. Progress has hit it, too, and today's byword is, "You can always do better."
At last, according to the news reports, that's what they're saying in war factories all over the country! It's one of the reasons for the rapid rise in output of the weapons we need so badly. Most production of war materials requires a great deal of ingenuity and the development of many new techniques. Their development isn't easy, but, just the same, they are being perfected now, just as they always have been in peacetime.

WASHINGTON SNAPSHOTS

Behind the scenes here many of the social reform dreamers are hitching their wagon to the war, which has taken the place of the depression as a cover-all excuse for rushing into action with controversial theories about social reforms.
You don't read much about these boys in the papers right now, but that doesn't mean that they're not on deck. Many of them are carry-overs from the W.P.A. days, and to a large extent they are still thinking in terms of conditions that prevailed at that time.

ALL IN THE DAY'S WORK

For many long years we had a friend. His name was Laddie, he lived to be ten. When he was a puppy we brought him home. His coat was so fluffy and just like foam. And when we came in from out of doors, he'd bark and he'd hold aloft his tail. His tail would be wagging and his eyes alert. Looking for something to ease his hurt. He never went far from the house, you see. Cause he'd always be lonesome, like I seem, for me. As the years rolled by he grew quite tall. He sure was a picture, in spring or in fall. But he was feeble and tired, there at the end of the day. We worried and worried about our dear friend. Then God called him one day, in His kind gentle way. And let us to alone, there's no more to say. Poor Laddie is gone to his home in the west. We'll grieve for our doggie, like all the rest.

THIS BUSINESS OF LIVING

"FANTASTIC VENTURES" OF OUR AGE
The story of MacArthur's voyage from the Philippines to Australia will be told, I believe, as long as men speak the English language. Fate itself seems to have had hand in bringing that little convoy of transport boats safely through the mine-infested, Japanese-held waters to their rendezvous with flyers from "down under." The imagination is stirred profoundly and one remembers "old, forgotten far-off things and battles along ago."

Family Use of ARP Equipment Would Spring Fire Loss

Connecticut's annual spring fire losses could be materially cut this year if every family were equipped with the inexpensive fire-fighting equipment recommended for air-raid protection by the Office of Civilian Defense, according to engineers of the New Haven Water Company. While preparing to combat incendiary bombs, the public could also function as a home guard against the spread of needless brush fires, it is declared.

CONTEMPTIBLE

He pulled a boucer. Only when an incensed town meeting rose to object and Moderator Walter Palmer was fowled to "drop his gavel on the demand for 'Order!'" did "town" consist of T. Holmes Bracken, Chairman, his vicious and entirely uncalculated verbal attack on a neighbor.

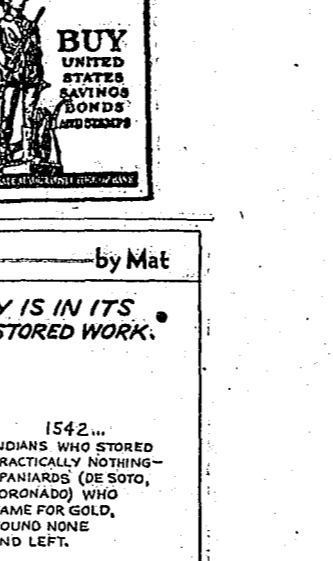

AMERICANS FOR AMERICA

"The fantastic schedules outlined by the President and Donald Nelson for American production will be met by American industry. The War Production Drive now under way, in which labor and management have joined hands, will deliver the goods to our men in the field, our boys training in tanks, and our sailors buffeted by the high seas."

FOOD DEFENSE

SALVATION

If any possible good came out of the town meeting it was the realization that this is a free country, directly or indirectly, citizen ideals rest upon freedom itself.
Most of us know all the arguments for free speech but in a town meeting raises its voice to give permission to an injured man to address the gathering, our faith in democracy is justified.
It need not be that we agree. We may entirely disagree with the speaker, but like others before us we defend his right to say it.
Yes, public opinion was the bright spot in all otherwise murky situation.

If trains are sometimes late...

We would like to point out that passenger trains today do not always have a clear right-of-way over all other traffic... sometimes to freight trains loaded with vital war materials.
Another cause of possible delay is the unprecedented volume of passenger traffic we have been called upon to carry. This is due in part to the gradual decline of the motor vehicle as a transportation factor... and the curtailment of coastwise waterborne traffic. As to the future... it is fully expected that passenger traffic will rise from the present 50% increase, to well over 100% before this war is won.
Then too, every passenger train has its "head-end" traffic, consisting of mail and express cars. Here volume has increased by leaps and bounds, often requiring more loading and unloading time at stations.
It is entirely reasonable to predict that, at times when you are traveling, or meeting trains, you may be inconvenienced by late arrivals. If this occurs, we hope you will understand, and make allowances for our wartime problems. For even though it may not always be apparent, our operating efficiency is now at the highest point in our history.
