Praise Farmers In War Effort

Connecticut farmers received the praise today of the chairman of the State Defense Council's committee on farm labor for maintaining and increasing their production of food this year in spite of serious shortages of farm labor.

Farmers have done "amazingly well," said Paul L. Putnam, University of Connecticut extension specialist in farm management who has headed the farm labor committee since early summer. "This is the end of the crop season and the farmers have come through. The hay is in the barn. The crop is in the silo. The tobacco is in the sheds. Most of the apples have been picked and most of the potatoes have been dug. Crops have been harvested with very little loss. Farmers have done a magnificent job of food production under very severe handicaps."

Putnam said that in the first seven months of 1942, production of both milk and eggs, two chief crops of Connecticut agriculture, increased 9 per cent over the 1941 figures. The work had been accomplished, he said, by use of new sources of farm labor such as boys and women, and by harder work and longer hours on the part of farm operators and their families.

The United States Employment Service, official agency for placing farm workers, made 7496 farm placements from January through September, he said, compared to 3784 in the same months last year. Putnam emphasized that farmers should continue to turn to the United States Employment Service for help, either regular farm hands or seasonal workers.

The labor committee chairman looks for more serious difficulties next year. "It is really going to be tough," he said, "and every year following it will be tougher as long as the war lasts."

Congress is pleased with the way Director Byrnes is going ahead with his plan. There is, however, much dissatisfaction with the coordination of the armed forces.

Representative Maas, a flying Colonel in the Marine Corps and ranking minority member of the House Navy Affairs Committee, has served notice that he will introduce legislation to set up a unified command at an early date.

The positive recommendations of Representative Maas, who has just returned from the Pacific war theater are having a profound effect here. The general is positive in his recommendations against a separate air force, contending that the lessons of the war in the Pacific point to one conclusion—that a closely-knit, highly cooperative amphibious force is required for efficient operation against the Japanese forces.

State Bulletin Federal Funds Issues Report On Pneumonia For Injured

A gain from 37-8 to 59-7 years in the average age of death from all forms of pneumonia occurred during the period 1920-1940, William C. Walling, Director, Bureau of Vital Statistics, reports in the October monthly bulletin of the State Department of Health.

The copy of the letter referred to by Mr. Sturges from the General Counsel, Office of Civilian Defense, in Washington follows: "In accordance with your request at the meeting of State Directors, I am writing to advise you that the President has signed a letter, dated October 5, 1942, to the Secretary of the Treasury with respect to the $5,000,000 allocated for the aid of civilians. This supplementary letter amends the allocation so that it will cover injuries sustained by civilian defense workers, which term is defined to include members of the United States Citizen Defense Corps, the Civil Air Patrol, and the Aircraft Warning Service.

It is worth fighting for, this ultimate democracy, though we ourselves may never see its perfection. However, by the Grace of God and our own devotion and strength, our children will see it. They shall inherit the treasure for which we have fought and died—if we have faith. If we realize that nothing is too much to sacrifice for this inheritance. Work is not too much. Courage and our lives are not too much. All the money we can pour out into War Bonds and Stamps is not too much. For, if we hold back, in work, in courage, in life, in money, we shall not bequeath democracy to our children. We shall bequeath them only the bitter knowledge that when we were tested through hundreds of years and that they have inherited from us only slavery and fear.

U.S. TAXES INCREASED ON TELEPHONE SERVICE Effective November 1

To help pay the enormous cost of winning this war, a new United States Tax Law was signed by the President on October 21. This law includes increases in taxes on your telephone service.

- 1. Local exchange service (other than coin telephone). The tax has been increased from 6 per cent to 10 per cent. Example: If your local service and equipment cost $4.00 a month, the old tax was 24 cents. This has been increased to 40 cents. 2. Toll calls under 25 cents (except from coin telephones). The tax has been increased from 6 per cent to 10 per cent. Example: If your monthly toll statement shows five 20-cent calls (a total for the five calls of $1.00) you pay a 10-cent tax. (Formerly you paid 6 cents.) 3. Toll calls 25 cents and over. The tax has been increased to 20 per cent. Example: If you make a 40-cent call from your home or business telephone, you pay an 8-cent tax. At coin telephones, the tax is figured on the nearest 5 cents. On a 40-cent call the tax would be 10 cents.

PLEASE READ ENCLOSURE WITH YOUR TELEPHONE BILL For your convenience we have explained the details of the new tax law in a special announcement which is enclosed with this month's telephone bill.

As an additional contribution to the war effort this course is also available to men of military age and to girls and women, in view of the fact that the army and navy are accepting women.

LIGHT LINES by R-K

It's too bad more people can't see the inside of a power station.

Every time I visit the Devon plant of The Connecticut Light and Power Company I get a new thrill.

Great furnaces roar steadily as hundreds of tons of coal are fed to them each day.

Turbines vibrating with power turn huge generators.

Men at control boards watch hundreds of dials 24 hours of every day.

From the coal pile to the boiler room, from the turbines to the control panel, men and machines are constantly busy.

It always sets my backbone tingling just to walk into the building.

It's like listening to the purr of a 12-cylinder auto engine, magnified ten thousand times.

You can't see the power but you know it's there. And you know it's going into factories to make the stuff that's going to lick the Japanese.

Just as I know that...

THUNDER ALONG THE LINE...

You don't hear about it much, because they're not talking. Not these men. They have no time for talk.

But you can see it.

It's there in the grim lines of brakemen's faces... in the quick, accelerated steps of yardmasters... in the steely, set look in switchmen's eyes. It's the hard, cold bitterness of men who are serious—damned serious—and working in dead earnest.

They mean to see to it that their wives and kids won't suffer at the hands of Axis madmen.

They're out to avenge the dead Marines of Wake Island... the toll of horror in the Atlantic... the blood and death of Pearl Harbor.

They're backing American fighting men to the limit—determined that Tokyo shall be blasted—Berlin blitzed—until the debts of ruthlessness are paid to the full... in terms of Axis blood, death and ashes.

What have they done?—In a few short months they have tripled New Haven war freight haulings... carried countless war workers... handled a doubled passenger traffic... and met the desperate need to transport troops by the thousands.

They are ready and eager to do more—anything America may ask! For theirs is the spirit that smashes records—fights to the death—wins wars. It is the spirit that established New England—and made America.

Thank God for it!
