First Service Command Sees Dimout Violations; Daylight Drill Expected

Audible Signals Will Be Given to Simulate Two Flights of Enemy Bombers—Statewide Air Raid Drill Called For Sunday, August 8th.

Restaurants and wayside cabins are the worst offenders of dimout regulations. The Branford War Council received this information this week from the First Service Command after its inspection for violations on July 22.

The report lists offenders and closes "More effective enforcement measures are called for."

Notification was received yesterday by the council of a statewide daylight air raid drill to be held on Sunday August 8th, between 1:30 and 5 P. M. Supervised by the Connecticut War Council the drill will bring into action the entire forces of protective services of local and state civilian defense agencies to ward off the effects of an imaginary enemy air raid directed at Connecticut industries and public installations.

Although no airplanes will be used, State War Council Administrator, Harold F. Woodcock said that audible signals will be given to simulate two flights of enemy bombers. The first will be assumed to come from the southwest, splitting at the New York border and striking the towns in the Stamford and Danbury warning districts almost simultaneously. The path of the theoretical raid will continue easterly with half of the bombers striking in rapid succession the towns within the warning districts of Bridgeport, New Haven, Old Saybrook and New London while the remaining bombers, which appeared over Danbury, will follow a course so as to attack the towns in the warning districts of Waterbury, Middletown and Norwich.

During the exercise Mr. Woodcock requested that personnel and equipment participating in the incidents be dispatched within town and city limits. He discouraged the movement of equipment and personnel from one town to another.

The conduct of the drill will be observed by umpires in local communities and will be witnessed by U. S. Army, O.C.D. observers, and staff members of the Connecticut War Council, Mr. Woodcock said. Audible signals will be used in all cities and towns with the alerts originating from the First Fighter Command.

Military Funeral For Cpl. Adams

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Adams of Sybil Avenue, Indian Neck, received word yesterday of the death of their son, Corp. George R. Adams, who received a medical discharge from the Army last week. While reporting at the local draft board he had a heart attack, and Monday was removed to Newington hospital for a cardiograph.

He was a member of the Branford Battery, and had been stationed at Camp Devens and later at Camp Edwards. Following an operation he was transferred to the Army Air Force.

In St. Louis, enroute to Camp Enid, Texas, following a furlough here, he was taken seriously ill and was removed to a hospital for an operation. He was later given his medical discharge from O'Reilly Hospital, Springfield, Ill.

He was 26 years of age and came to Branford from Massachusetts with his parents about 10 years ago. Mr. Adams is survived by his parents, two brothers, Edward, who has a medical discharge from the U. S. Navy following service in the South Pacific, and John, who enlisted in the Army Air Corps and is waiting to be called.

Funeral services by the Rev. A. W. Jones will be held Saturday at the Norman V. Lamb Funeral Home. Service will be military.

Special Survey Made By State

In a special traffic survey published by the Connecticut Department of Motor Vehicles there is a table which reads that before dimout regulations, June 1 to December 1, 1941, Branford experienced no fatal accidents but reported 28 non-fatal during the day; dusk or dark reports list two fatal and 25 non-fatal.

For the same period but in 1942 when the early dimout period was in force there were 14 non-fatal daytime accidents; 12 non-fatal, dusk and dark and 3 non-fatal at non-stated hours.

Accidents before dimout regulations in East Haven include 32 non-fatal day time reported; one dusk and dark fatal and 18 non-fatal. The number of accidents decreased after June 1942 to 8 non-fatal during day; 9 non-fatal at dusk or dark with 3 non-fatal at unstated hours.

The total for the area surveyed was 5081 before dimout and 3366 after dimout.

"On the face of foregoing comparisons it would seem that the drop in case experience from 5,081 to 3,366, a matter of 1,715 cases representing a decrease of practically thirty-four (34) per cent, indicated that the dimout period's accident experience was satisfactory," the report reads.

"It was acceptable, to be sure. A thirty-four (34) per cent reduction is, ordinarily, very satisfactory. But not when the hazard exposure or accident potentialities have been reduced in still greater degree. Incidence rate is high and does not compare favorably with the previous period when, although case totals were higher, the greater traffic volume provided so much wider opportunity for conflicts."

ROTARY SPEAKER

Donald A. Adams of New Haven, former president of Rotary International, was the speaker at the luncheon meeting of the East Haven Rotary club this noon in the auditorium of St. Vincent de Paul's Church in Taylor Avenue.

His topic was "Responsibility of a Rotarian for a Peaceful World."

Stricter Rules Govern Boats On The Sound

New Regulations For Use Of Small Craft—Take Effect Immediately.

Stricter rules governing the use of small boats in Long Island Sound waters take effect immediately, according to word received here from Coast Guard Lieut. F. K. Daggett, assistant Captain of the Port of New Haven.

The new regulations make it mandatory that anyone hiring any small boat, even a canoe, have a Coast Guard identification card, and forbid small boats from approaching any larger boats whatsoever.

The restrictions, which cover the use of rowboats, canoes and sailboats, further require that all persons hiring any small boats to others must keep a record of all their hiring transactions, showing the name and Coast Guard identification card and number of each person, as well as the time when such hiring began and ended.

Following are the rules for use of "small craft."

1. Except as otherwise specially authorized or as necessary in the conduct of legitimate business no person shall operate any small craft within 1,000 feet of any vessel exceeding 100 feet in length, whether the latter is anchored or underway.

2. The following special rules shall be applicable to all persons and agencies engaged in the hiring of small craft to others:

(a) No such craft shall be hired to any person not possessing a

Visiting Nurses Are Kept Busy

Mrs. Norman Lamb, president of the Branford Visiting Nurse Association makes the following announcement:

At its meeting held on July 14th, the Board of Directors of the Visiting Nurse Association expressed appreciation for the splendid work done by the captains and canvassers in making the annual drive for funds such an outstanding success. No small share of the credit goes to Mrs. John R. Waters for her able leadership.

The cost per visit as figured for the insurance companies to whose policy holders we give service amounts this year to 97½¢. The charge made for visits in the center of town is 85¢ and in the outlying districts $1 to $1.25, the majority being made at the lower level. This shows one reason why the organization is not self supporting and why it is necessary to ask the community for additional funds.

The annual summer check up of children who will enter school in the fall was held on July 16th. This was conducted by our nurses and some of the personnel of the State Department of Health assisted by local doctors. We are grateful to them for giving their time to this important part of our health program, and also to the many volunteers who so willingly held each year with the clerical work.

Our nursing staff is supervising the health of the children at Farnham House Camp this summer as, owing to the scarcity of nurses, it was impossible to employ a resident nurse or doctor.

Ten children have been sent to the Salvation Army camp at Coventry. This is made possible by the contributions of Branford people to the Salvation Army.

Periodic toxoid and vaccination clinics will be held at the Health Center during the summer.

The office hours are 8:30 to 9:00 a. m. and 1 to 2 p. m.

The nurses working hours are 8:30 to 5 p. m., except on Saturday when the hours are from 8:30 a. m. to 12 noon. There is always a nurse on call at other times but for emergency calls only.

GoodFellowship Dramatic Group Proves Worthy

Small Club Has Given Generosity of Time And Money To Make Others Happy.

Acquisition of the Stanley building for a club room by the Good Fellowship Dramatic Club draws attention to the accomplishments of the club since its inception in March, 1938.

The idea was to cement good fellowship in the community and one of its first undertakings was to be typed for blood. This was in the pre-war days when we heard less about donating of blood.

Attending the organization meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Eric Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Kelsey, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Munger, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lehr, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rinker, Donald Hayward, Sedgwick Allen, Ruth Cusic and Mrs. Donald Charlotte.

With a five dollar gift from Victor Hutchinson the treasurer opened his books with 30 active members.

Since that first evening there has been little change in membership but there is a waiting list of those who are interested in dramatics.

With funds raised by giving plays, entertainments and min-

Prof. Vernadsky Writes History

If you summer near the "Little Queen," in Short Beach you might hear Mrs. George Vernadsky rhythmically tapping out Russian history on her typewriter. For she is her husband's typist and is assisting him as he revises a published work on the subject.

Between Boris Godunov and Ivan the Terrible they put the manuscript under weights and go to the beach for a dip for they are fond of swimming.

"Ancient Russia," by Mr. Vernadsky is just off the Yale University Press and is receiving favorable notices. Indeed "Ancient Russia," is the first volume of a work on the country, when completed, will consist of ten volumes, immense volumes. The first six will be by Prof. Vernadsky and the last four will be done by Prof. Michael Karpovich of Harvard, and intended primarily for the scholar. The Vernadskys usually summer at their cottage in the woods up the Connecticut river, but with only an "A" card he sold his car, rented a local cottage, quietly situated in order to continue "his serious writings. ### Summer Bazaar Ends Saturday

The M. P. Rice Hose Company's annual summer bazaar will continue until July 31 at Hammer Field.

The proceeds of this carnival will be used specifically for the benefit of the twenty-nine members of the M. P. Rice Hose Co. No. 2, now in the armed services of their country, to furnish them with cigars, cigarettes, etc., every month in addition to putting a good portion of the proceeds into war bonds, as was done last year.

It was decided to omit the ten cent charge for admission and instead, all would be admitted to the carnival grounds without charge. This will, of course, necessitate a reduction in the number of bonds to be awarded and the bond award will consist of one $25 bond each evening, drawing to be at 11:00 P. M. and the winner must be present to obtain the bond.

There has been no change, however, in the remainder of the program or plans and with the several added attractions, the carnival promises to be one of the finest ever held in town.

Archie Morse Given Honors At Gathering

Almost 150 railroaders and representatives of New Haven Industries gathered recently at the Railroad Y.M.C.A. in New Haven to honor Archie M. Morse of East Haven, Yardmaster at Belle Dook for many years, on the occasion of his retirement from service coincident with his award of the railroad's half century honor emblem, which was presented to him by J. Frank Doolan, Operating Assistant.

The gathering was unusual because of the presence of so many representatives of what Mr. Doolan termed "the most important single industrial unit on the New Haven Railroad"—the Industrial Section served by the Manufacturers' Railroad. They all paid high tribute to the splendid service accorded them over the past thirty-four years since "Archie" Morse took over as yardmaster at Belle Dook.

Among those who spoke were Emil Marshall, Koppers Coke; Charles Phillips, National Folding Box Co.; Harvey Davis of R. G. Davis Co.; Thomas J. Heffernan, of New Haven Terminal; Harry Wolf of I. Hershman & Sons; George Snow, local chairman, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; William F. Donohue, general chairman, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; John O'Connell, general chairman, Brotherhood of Railroad & Steamship Clerks; A. Molstein, Molstein Coal Company; Clifford W. Kealey, general chairman, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen and Rev. A. H. Clark, rector of Christ Church, East Haven.

Mr. Morse's wife and his son, Edwin Morse and his wife were also present. Long-time residents of East Haven, Mr. and Mrs. Morse left the same day for St. Petersburg, Fla., where they are to make their home. Mr. Morse was born at Paradise, Nova Scotia, January 6, 1877. He entered the service of the New Haven Road in September, 1892 as yard clerk, was promoted to assistant yardmaster November 1, 1906, and was made yardmaster March 6, 1909.

BUSINESS MEETS

Associated Business of Branford meets Thursday evening at Howard Johnsons.

An advertising campaign containing questions and answers and general information about the WAVES, will appear soon in the Branford Review in conjunction with the First Anniversary of the WAVES, which will be observed on Friday, July 30. The series of advertisements is being sponsored by business firms in Branford and East Haven, and is designed to answer those questions which young women interested in the WAVES ask most commonly. Mrs. Mildred Georges, 208 Main Street, has been appointed the Navy Representative for WAVES in the Branford and East Haven area and is in charge of procuring all advertisements during this campaign.

Specialist John MacArthur of the Navy recruiting service, is in charge of a drive to boost enlistments in the WAVES from this area, as well as to handle applications of men for enlistments in the regular naval services. He will be located in the Branford Post Office building on the following days until further notice: Tuesdays from 11:30 to 12:30 and East Haven Town Hall from 2:30 to 3:30 P. M.

A modification of the physical requirements for enlistment in the WAVES has just recently been announced, especially those pertaining to the eyes and to height. It is also no longer necessary for an applicant to undergo a physical examination by a private physician and then to present a certificate stating she is in good physical condition. Applicants are now required to pass only the examination given when they are called to New York for an interview.

"Hundreds of girls who are interested in the WAVES have just completed their academic year at various schools and colleges," declared Specialist MacArthur, "and the purpose of this advertising campaign is to acquaint them with the opportunities open to them in the WAVES, and to answer some of the questions they may have. These girls, and thousands of others who are not in essential war jobs, are needed immediately in the naval services to free men for active sea duty."

Complete information and application blanks for the WAVES, as well as for the regular navy, may be obtained from Specialist MacArthur on the days he will be in this area, or at the navy recruiting station, 185 Church St., New Haven.

Has Important Part To Play

A quota of $5,007,000 has been accepted as Conn.'s share of the National War Fund goal of $125,000,000. It was announced by Oliver V. Ober of New Haven, Campaign Chairman of the Connecticut War Fund.

A committee is now at work breaking the figures down for county and town quotas.

Mr. Ober also revealed the breakdown of the national quota. More than one-half of the total or $67,500,000 will be utilized for services to the armed forces; $40,000,000 for United Nations relief; $23,000,000 for refugee relief; $800,000 for administrative and campaign expenditures; and $12,800,000 for a contingency fund to meet needs which may arise out of changing war conditions.

The United Service Organizations, better known as the USO, will receive $81,227,000 of the amount allocated for services to the armed forces. The United Seaman's Service is allocated $4,125,000 and the War Prisoners Aid, $2,200,000.

United Nations relief is divided as follows: Russian War Relief, $10,155,000; United China Relief, $9,875,000; British War Relief, $5,598,000; Greek War Relief Association, $5,122,000; Polish War Relief Society, $2,750,000; United Yugoslav Relief Fund, $2,238,000; French Relief Fund, $2,183,000; Belgian War Relief Society, $1,325,000; United Czechoslovak Relief Fund, $534,000; Norwegian Relief, $200,000; and Friends of Luxembourg, $121,000.

Refugee Relief Trustees has been assigned $2,000,000, and the United States Committee for the Care of European Children, $112,000.

Mr. Ober, who is heading the State drive, was Chairman of the USO War Fund campaign in Connecticut last year. At that time, Connecticut surpassed its quota and contributed the largest per capita gift in the nation.

In announcing the State quota for the war fund this year, Mr. Ober said: "A large goal has been set for us. Connecticut must play a vital part in the national campaign in addition to raising funds for its own needs on the home front. We have always responded to every patriotic workable cause in the past. To achieve our goal this year will not be easy, but I am confident that the State will further its part in the national campaign in this way."

New potatoes are only to be thoroughly scrubbed and cooked.

What's the Main Course?

Does the name "vegetable dinner" sound prosaic to you? It need not. For, a bit of imagination worked in with the available vegetables and other foods can produce a main dish that is as mouth-watering as it is nutritious. For instance, here's a course that will serve six—and serve them mightily well.

VEGETABLE DINNER

1 1/2 cups elbow macaroni
6 medium green peppers
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons salt and pepper
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup cottage cheese
1/2 cup canned tomatoes
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese

Cook the macaroni in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Cut a thin slice from the stem end of the pepper and remove seeds and white ribs. Cook in a small quantity of boiling salted water in a covered pan until just tender. Drain. Then the slices taken from the ends, add the onion and cook in the butter over low heat. Add the cheese and macaroni and mix well. Add the tomatoes and season with salt and pepper. Reheat and pile in the green pepper shells. If desired, cover with toasted soft bread crumbs. Six servings. Arrange sliced peppers, buttered carrots and boiled green onions on serving platter as illustrated.

TABLE TALK

"Potatoes on the market in abundance," says the Department of Agriculture. Remember last May and early June when we went through a "potato famine"? Now that they are again plentiful and in less demand, we can forget the substitutes we were forced to use and enjoy new potatoes cooked in a variety of ways. The State Nutrition Committee points out that this root vegetable is one of high nutritive value. Potatoes have more calories alone than corn, phosphorus and vitamin C are three essential nutrients that it underneath that brown jacket. It is important however, the committee says, to cook them with any salted greens, leafy vegetables, eye to conservation of these valuable vitamins and minerals.

New potatoes are only to be thoroughly scrubbed and cooked.

Who's News?

Lillian Leonard, lovely balladeer of the CBS "Gay Nineties Revue," has turned composer—and in no small way, either. She has written a new song, "The Major," which is being played by the U.S. Navy Band.

Ray Kiser, shown here, this summer stands alone, this summer as the only full-time commercial performer on the coast-to-coast networks. His "College Musical Knowledge" has aired in the same slot for more than five years.

These three minutes and five seconds of news which Cecil Brown, world-famous war correspondent, brings you nightly via CBS represents five hours of work corresponding to the conditions news releases, besides several hours' toil at home.

Dinah Shore, shown here, added to her "dear old country" popularity poll in the country. She was voted in Movie and Radio Digest's annual poll the most popular female singer.

Phil Spitalny, renowned maestro of the "Hour of Charm" all-girl orchestra, is interested in backing up his radio show with a big band. Plans are being made to start his radio troupe in 14.

MOVIE GUYED

HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP

Lucille Ball has a new dog, a new friend—and a coincidence. Driving with her mother to Camp Arlington to visit her husband, Desi Arnaz, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star picked up a sick puppy dog on the highway near Riverside.

Robert Taylor just can't escape spinach—the facial film. For two months during the filming "Battleground" Taylor had to grow and wear a heavy stubble. Shaving was forbidden.

Spencer Tracy's recent tour of naval hospitals on the Pacific Coast has revealed to the MGM star that the boys in the service enjoy talking to film folk personally much more than being entertained. William Powell recently wore four different suits for four successive scenes in one day's filming of MGM's "The Heavenly Body" in which he is co-starring with Hedy Lamarr, which is some sort of a record. Powell long knew as an actor's secret: a detective in MGM's "Thin Man" series has a new type of role in "The Heavenly Body" in which he portrays a professor of astronomy.

The musical music gets the "jive" touch when Tommy Dorsey and his band swing out in a rhytmic arrangement of the well known National Emblem March in MGM's "Broadway Rhythm."

A constant source of amusement to MGM directors is little

Mr. Preuss was born in New York City and was a resident of the town for the past several years. He had built for his little family a home. He was only in the thirty-fourth year of his age when he died. He was employed as an employee of the Brock-Hill North Branford Volunteer Fire Department, active in local defense work, and an attendant at the North Branford Congregational Congregational Church.

He is survived by his wife, Florence Peterson Preuss, formerly of Frank A. Jr., Richard, George, James and John, also one sister, Mrs. Walter H. Jones of North Branford. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mrs. Preuss with her boys, the oldest of which is eleven, and to the family which she has so lovingly made her home in the house all but finished by her husband and father.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Searer and Robin McKinnon

WHAT sort of world are we going to have after the war is over? That's a question of which many thinking people are dwelling these days. A most provocative book on this subject is "Prefaces to Peace," a volume containing the writings of five leading American statesmen as contained in the Weekly Bulletin of the Book-of-the-Month Club is distributing as a dividend this summer.

The five statesmen are Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential candidate in 1940; Henry A. Wallace, incumbent Vice-President of the United States; Sumner Welles, Undersecretary of State; and Herbert Hoover and Hugh Gibson, the former an ex-president, and the latter once Ambassador to Belgium.

"Prefaces to Peace" is a symposium on what these American statesmen foresee for the post-war world. Included in the single volume are Mr. Willkie's "One World," the book that broke all modern publishing records; "The Problem of Living Peace," by Mr. Hoover and Mr. Gibson, Vice-Presidents Wallace; "The Price of Free World Victory," adapted from his new book "The Century of the Common Man," and Mr. Welles' "Blueprint for Peace," adapted from "The World of the Four Frontiers."

Each of these works differs widely from the others on what plans the authors advocate for the establishment and maintenance of peace, once the war is over, but all of them are agreed on one point at least: that the planning for the post-war world must be undertaken now, even while the war is going on, otherwise, even though we win the war, quite possibly we will lose the peace.

In her book "The W.A.C.'s" which might be described as a book of etiquette for the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, Nancy Shea tells of the new recruits to the women's army who told her they were just "letting up" for a rest. Shea, according to Miss Shea, are already developing their own brand of army slang. A love chest, for instance, is now nothing more than a "W.A.C.'s locker." The station university is the post exchange "Simon Legree" is the food appetization beyond a First Sergeant and a "China Clipper" is a

But the last bottle she drew out from her cellar was not vodka—it was kerosene—and the next morning there were only charred remains of her home. The five officers, as well as her hostess, had perished in the flames.

Soldiers overseas and in camps in this country aren't the only ones who are asking such questions. In business conferences, in stockholders' meetings, in committee hearings all over this land, business men are asking them, too, and trying to get ready to answer them in the affirmative.

There can be enough jobs over the world for all of us. The necessary financial reserves to go to work on postwar ideas the day after the war is as practicable. We all know we can't throw controls overboard the day the fighting stops or we'd have a bedlam of inflation. But with wartime controls cut away when the time comes so that American industry can do its part in peace-time as magnificently as it's doing it now in war?

It's up to all of us to help answer this question by being deeply concerned about it; by watching what's going on, and by letting those in high places know how we feel.

Take Heed; Pull Up The Weed, To Lessen Hay Fever

A plea that all possible efforts be made to get rid of ragweed before the "hay fever" season begins is contained in the Weekly Bulletin of the State Department of Health. Readers were urged to adopt the slogan: "Take heed, pull up the weed." The "hay fever" season will begin when the ragweed pollinates about the middle of August and will continue until the first frost. Civilian and Army clinics have shown that most hay fever is caused by ragweed pollen though grass pollen causes sensitivity in some. "Hay fever" not only causes discomfort, but very often incapacitates many workers. The best protection against this type of hay fever is to destroy the weed and thereby decrease the concentration of the pollen.

The Branford Garden Club which sponsors the local campaign against the weed, has for years used its influence here to eliminate the plant.

Ragweed is present in all parts of Connecticut and is especially thick in some low areas. Once the season starts, a ragweed seedifer will get little or no relief except in wooded sections in the northeastern part of the state or where the shorter weeds are predominant. The large number of victory gardens has brought a large amount of land under cultivation, but ragweed may still be seen in the garden borders, although the gardens may be free of weeds.

Remember that: 1. Ragweed plants grow every season unless pulled up. 2. Ragweed pollen produces hay fever. 3. Ragweed pollen is released into the air from the middle of August to the first frost of each year. 4. Ragweed pollen is carried by the wind. 5. Cooperation is needed to get rid of the weed.

4-H Girls Produce 18 Million Hunger-Shattering Bombs

A reserve stock of 18,000,000 hunger-shattering "bombs" are now being produced by 4-H Club girls throughout the U. S. in a mighty war effort. The "bombs" are canned fruits, vegetables, meats and soups, which are being lined up on pantry shelves of rural homes for future use. They will release not only tons of commercially canned products for our armed forces, but also millions more for the vitally important job of getting food-stuffs and weapons to the battle fronts.

To obtain proper training in the Club girls are participating in the current National 4-H Canning Achievements activity, whose chief objectives are to contribute to the nation's 1943 wartime program of conserving vital foods, utilizing farm products, promoting better balanced diets, and reducing expenditures by the use of the family food preservation plan.

Participants with outstanding records of achievement in this activity will receive awards presented by Mrs. Ruth Kerr, head of a glass jar concern, which are based on county, state, and national levels. The activity is being conducted along with other 4-H wartime projects of production and conservation, under the direction of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, State Agricultural Colleges, and County 4-H Club Agents.

Connecticut's State champion in this activity last year was by Betty Buell of Plainfield, Windham county.

Madam Chiang Likes Steak "Medium" Done

Madam Chiang is a dainty eater, Chief Alderman says, who "knows good food and appreciates good cooking." Alderman found that China's first lady prefers either steak (when obtained) or chicken as her main course and likes her steak "medium done." Also, the chef says, she gets as much enjoyment out of a good cup of coffee as she does from a cup of her own special tea. Madam Chiang brought her own tea along with her on her Canadian trip and it was brewed for her by Chief Alderman. She had coffee for breakfast and dinner, drinking tea in the afternoon.

For Your Protection--- and for the protection of your community

When there is an air raid warning DO NOT USE YOUR TELEPHONE except for serious personal emergency.

During recent air raid tests, most people have cooperated by not telephoning. However, there are still a few unnecessary calls, both during the alarm and immediately following the "All Clear."

In an air raid test or an actual emergency, TELEPHONE LINES MUST BE KEPT FREE FOR URGENT OFFICIAL CALLS . . . CALLS WHICH ARE BEING MADE TO PROTECT YOU AND YOUR COMMUNITY.

You may encounter slight delays in service before the first audible signal of an air raid alert, so please remember: that is the critical period of alerting local defense personnel and is the time your telephone central office is extremely busy handling vital mobilization calls.
