Fire Marshal Places Loss By Fire At $29,900; Department Praised

Stevens Woodcraft Company Carries On Until New Location Is Found—Spalding Company Contributes To Firemen's Aid Fund—Hamilton Shops Suffers Heavy Losses

Last evening Ernest Wood, fire marshal placed losses on the Park Place fire of last Wednesday night at $29,900. Property valued at $260,000 was involved and that property was insured in the amount of $140,000.

Marshal Wood stated that in most instances there was sufficient insurance. As was suspected last week before figures were available the Hamilton Shops suffered the greatest loss. Furniture of the firm was stored in the Red Men's building.

Fire commissioners are sending notes of appreciation to the East Haven fire department.

Headquarters Fire Company No. 1, East Haven responded to the call. Driver H. Andres of the East Haven fire company praised the ability of the Branford fire companies, stating that in his twenty years of service with the department he had never seen such splendid fire-fighting ability and cooperation as was shown between the companies at the fire. Company No. 1 remained two hours in Branford.

Chief Roy Enquist of the Branford Fire Department is in receipt of a check from the Spalding Company, druggists, in appreciation of efficient handling of the fire. The money will go to the Firemen's Aid Fund.

During the height of the fire, Mrs. Henry Staby, personnel director for the Rockbestos Company in New Haven, telephoned to business people in town three times, offering the services of their entire

Lecture Course During March For Mechanics

The American Red Cross Motor Corps in Branford is participating in a course of lectures and shop work in motor mechanics given at the Auto Electric Co. in New Haven by Mr. Harvey Davis who has volunteered his time for these evenings. The group is divided, one unit attending the first two Mondays of March and the other the last two.

Tuesday night at the Armory, Mrs. Myrtle Doolittle, first aid chairman was instrumental in securing the services of LeRoy O'Neil director of Red Cross first aid and water safety in the New Haven area who showed films on the latest and most efficient first aid methods and also conducted practice work. The motion picture projector for the showing was loaned by Valdemar Hammer.

Last evening in the town hall the motor corps was represented by Mrs. S. C. Tolman at a series of motion pictures presented by the S.N.E.T. Co. for civilian defense and town officials.

ROTARY HAS NOVEL LUNCHEON PARTY

The speaker at Rotary Monday noon was Elson Dooliver, planning engineer for R. Wallace and Son, Wallingford, whose topic was "The Industrial Engineers' Place in Modern Industry." There were 40 members present including five visitors: Warren Notham of Wallingford, F. H. Holbrook of Madison, Robert Hodgkins of West Haven, Edward F. Wheeler and H. B. Judd of New Haven.

Raymond E. Pinkham made a gift to the Rotary club of 15 dozen eggs, a product of hens raised by him, and served by the Oasis, as scrambled eggs instead of the regular meal, the Rotarians also going without dessert.

The difference was a saving of $16, which was given to the Red Cross War Fund.

Society Meets War Time Need

In its 11th Annual Easter Seal Sale which opens today, the Connecticut Society for Crippled Children seeks to raise a quota of $75,000.

The Society is enlarging its program to be ready to meet the needs of disabled veterans of the present war in the fields of rehabilitation and retraining. Many such physically handicapped persons can be helped to return to their former jobs or to learn a new trade or profession through the confidence and muscle training which can be given them in the Society's Workshops.

In order to carry this increased responsibility, the Society, to be known in the future as the Connecticut Society for the Crippled, is hoping for a widening circle of

Funeral Services For Mrs. Smith Held Saturday

Mrs. Wilbur F. Smith, 92, died Thursday at the home of her sister, Mrs. William H. Kelsey, on East Main Street, following a brief illness. She was a member of the Higganum Methodist Church, and a charter member of the Higganum Grange and Pomona Grange. She is survived by a brother, James Dolph, of Rogers Street, her sister, Mrs. Kelsey, several nieces and nephews, also several step-grandchildren and step-great grandchildren.

Services were held from the Norman V. Lamb Funeral Home on Montowese Street, Saturday afternoon. The Rev. Matthew G. Madden officiated. Burial was in Higganum.

Blood Plasma Not Paid For

If you want to help the armed forces by contributing to the Red Cross Blood Bank, phone Mrs. Arthur Knowlton, 71-12. The next date set for Branford donors is March 27.

To correct an erroneous statement that has been recently circulated, it can be said that the government does not pay the Red Cross for blood plasma donated by patriotic individuals to save lives of wounded servicemen.

It is an expense born by each chapter that is a blood donor center at the rate of 86 cents a pint. The Connecticut Mobile blood donor unit has its headquarters in Hartford and last year alone paid $15,000.

There, the blood is packed and shipped to designated laboratories where small samples of all blood is tested and made ready for use of Army or Navy.

From the time it leaves Hartford it belongs to the government which pays laboratory expenses for processing. The Red Cross is not paid!

PARTY FOR NURSE

The board of directors of the Visiting Nurse Association and the Nurses' committee held a party last Thursday night in honor of Miss Mary Jane Kamerzel, who is awaiting orders to leave for the U. S. Army Nurses Corps. Miss Kamerzel was presented with a purse, in appreciation for her work with the Branford V. N. A.

Bernard Brown Dies In Action

A telegram from the War department has been received by the family of Sgt. Bernard B. Brown, of Harbor Street, a member of the U. S. Army air force, telling of his death in action, January 17, during a bombing mission over Germany. This was one of many such missions over Nazi territory in which he participated.

Sgt. Brown was graduated from the Branford High School in 1940, and before enlisting on January 23, 1943, was employed at the High Standard Mfg. Co. in New Haven.

He received his basic training at Lowry Field, Colo., and displayed his wings which had been awarded at Delhart, Texas, June 1943, in September when he flew home for a short leave before going overseas.

News of his death came from Germany by way of the International Red Cross. Sgt. Brown is survived by his father, Joseph F. Brown, who is stationed with the U. S. government as a construction engineer at Pearl Harbor; a sister, Maxine, now in Delaware, Md., four brothers, Francis J. of 211 Harbor Street, Pfc. Raymond, with the U. S. Army in England; Pfc. Herman, anti-aircraft, stationed in Ireland; and Edward, of Short Beach.

Baldwin Comes To East Haven

Gov. Raymond Baldwin will be the guest at the "East Haven Night" dinner and meeting of the Men's Club of the Old Stone Church to be held Tuesday at 6:45 in the parish house. The dinner will be served by the Woman's Aid Society of the church and attendance is limited to 150.

In addition to the governor, the clergy and some of the town officers will speak. Stanley Shamp, president of the club will preside and introduce the speakers.

All men of the town will be welcome and group invitations have been extended to the churches and various organizations. Those who have not made reservations are asked to do so now through Stanley Shamp, president; Floyd Blake-man, general chairman of arrangements, or Paul Stevens, membership chairman.

Three Methods Of Adding Life To Your Years

Pastor, in Recent Sermon Suggests Ways To Add To Average Life Span.

About ten days ago a current medical journal came into my possession. There appeared in the journal a most interesting article on the "Life Span of Man." It showed the number of years that had been added to the average life span during the past ninety years. In 1850 the life span of the average man was 40, in 1940 it had been increased to 58. The writer of the article became so bold in his predictions to state that in the year 2040 the average life span would be over 100. Imagine reading a book entitled "Life begins at 95!" Or John Jones died in the Branford Memorial Hospital at the age of 167! What the future hath in store for us, no man can determine!

However, increasing the years of a man's life span will automatically create a problem, that of adding life to our years. "No ration points" is not the only means toward hunger. There is such a thing as the hunger for happiness. They cry of the average human soul is not "let me live longer," but rather, "let me live happier." Suicides, cynicism, disillusionment, social tension, an all-absorbing fear, the loss of the spirit of expectancy, all point to one thought: the average person wants some tangible information as to the possibility of adding life to years. The average thoughtful citizen of Branford says, "Not quantity of life, rather quality of life!" Methuselah lived to be

Second Region Exceeds Quota In Bond Drive

Every town in the New Haven area exceeded its quota in the Fourth War Loan drive of the U. S. Treasury, final figures issued by members of the War Finance Committee in New Haven showed. The metropolitan area of New Haven went over the top by nearly $5,000,000 with a quota of $30,377,000 and subscriptions of $35,094,878.50.

Chairman of the drive, William J. Falsey, Abbott H. Davis and Carl G. Freese, said that final figures for the second region which includes New Haven and 16 towns, were $47,485,740.75 and exceeded the total received in the Third War Loan Drive. The quota was $38,400,000.

The results of the towns in the region and their quotas are as follows: Branford, $774,744, quota $454,000; Clinton $88,068, quota $82,000; Guilford, $418,344.25 against $319,000; Madison, $114,881.75 against $106,000; Meriden, $8,794,856.25, quota $5,252,000; Milford, $741,053, quota of $544,000; Wallingford, $1,458,914.75 against quota of $1,206,000.

New Haven and its region reached its quota of $9,000,000 in series E bonds. Sales of series C tax savings notes led with $12,088,200 reported for the region.

Members of the committee, including region chairman and state co-chairmen John J. McKeon and Louis L. Hemingway expressed their deep thanks to the people of New Haven and its entire region for the fine support of the drive.

Malcolm Devine Aims To Form More Cub Packs

Members of the New Haven Junior Chamber of Commerce have formed into teams and will canvass church, industrial and civil organizations in New Haven and vicinity to all the Quinlupack Council, Scouts of America, in its current drive to obtain sponsoring organizations for more scout troops and cub packs in the New Haven area. Sherman Relfly and Roland M. Bixler have been appointed co-chairmen of this activity.

Herbert M. Nicholas, general chairman, has made public the following names of local chairmen: Malcolm Devine, Branford; James Gilbert, West Haven; Arthur Baldwin, Milford; Raymond S. Berkins, Hamden; Harold Nash, East Haven; and Robert Hellinger, Guilford-Madison.

SHORT BEACH GROUP TO SPONSOR CHILD ACTIVITY PROGRAM

Meeting last Friday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Minott Wallace on Beckett Avenue, a number of Short Beach residents outlined a program designed to aid Girl and Boy Scout and Brownie units and to promote other activities for children and youths in the community. Plans were made for an organization meeting at the same place on March 12 at 4 p.m., when representatives of churches and civic groups and all other residents interested will be invited to take part.

As its first step, the group decided to attempt to widen adult interest in youth activities, and to unify forces for good within the community with a view to developing facilities extending such activities. Attending the meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wayland, Edward Wayland, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Morgan, Victor Hutchinson, Mrs. Herman Lehr, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Farnsworth, Mrs. Denise Close, Mrs. Stanley Walton, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert A. Pearson. Pledges of support had previously been given by Mrs. Mortimer Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Burdge, Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. White, Mrs. Arnold Peterson, Mrs. Munson Wallace, Clarence Munger, Paul Bennett, Philip Bulger, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Corning, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klotzberger, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Lee.

Legion Officials Here March 17

Corcoran Sundquist Post 83, American Legion, announces that the Legion's 25th birthday will not be observed this year with any special celebration owing to the seriousness of the times.

The only activity planned to commemorate the anniversary will be the county oratorical contest to be held in the Branford High School on the night of March 17, at which time, Miss Sophie Morris, recent winner in the local contest, will represent the high school. It is expected that many officials of the Legion, as well as military and naval officers, will be present, and Commander Eugene B. Rodney extends an invitation to all interested townpeople to attend.

Service Officer Francis V. Reynolds and Educational Officer Raymond E. Pinkham announce that any son of a deceased veteran of either World War I or II actually in need of financial assistance with which to continue his education is eligible for a National Commander Scholarship, irrespective of the date and cause of death of his father. All inquiries must be made by April 15th.

Reorganization Of Sea Scouts Is Commenced

Skipper Walter Haller announces the reorganization of Branford Sea Scouts. The group meets Monday evenings in Trinity Parish House and registrations are still open.

Carl Gullens and William Hayden have re-registered and new members are: Donald Fouser, Robert Trapp, Fred Mason, Frank Hopkins, Everett Pearson, John Tyler, Ralph Bolter, Bruce Burdge, Lawrence Hawkes, Charles Gaugle and John Wigg.

Roger Lee and Victor Hutchinson will be mates and Frank Burdge is chairman of the sponsoring committee.

Supper Plans Are Complete

St. Patrick, patron saint of Ireland will be honored Saturday night at Carnak's Silver Dollar when the entertainment committee of the Democratic Town Committee gives a St. Patrick's dinner, final arrangements for which are complete.

Robert L. Rosenthal of this place will be toastmaster. A talk will be given by Mr. John Dow, state chairman of the Democratic party and Mr. Frank Smith of New Haven, and popular speaker has been secured as after dinner speaker.

Frankie Rourke, well-known tenor of New Haven will sing old favorite Irish tunes in keeping with the occasion. Dancing will follow.

A training meeting of the Air Raid Precautions organization of the Branford, Guilford and Madison area was held last evening in the town hall under the direction of Building Warden O. J. Crilison and Gas Officer J. S. Blakely.

A.R.P. training pictures and war pictures were shown by Mr. B. A. Church, air raid precautions engineer of the Southern New England Telephone Co.

A short illustrated talk on "Self-Aid" during gas attack was given by Mr. Church at which time Gas Officer Blakely was introduced. Pictures shown were "Marines Capture Tarawa," "What To Do in a Gas Attack," "Battle of Midway," "Kill or Be Killed" and "War Department Report on How Strong is Our Enemy."

Other guests included Connecticut Light and Power personnel, members of the Civilian Defense Council, Fire and Police Officials and Captains.

G.O.P. Planning Saint Patrick's Day Gathering

A unique plan to hold "coincidental" meetings throughout the State is being arranged by the Vice Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, Mrs. Alice Russ Cochran. The date set for these meetings is Friday, March 17, the time 2:30.

Senator John A. Danaher will address these groups over a radio broadcast from 3:15 to 3:45. This broadcast will originate at a St. Patrick's tea gathering of the New Haven County Women's Association in New Haven. Stations WIOC and WNAB, Bridgeport; WNBC, Hartford; WATR, Waterbury; WSRR, Stamford; and WNLO, New London will carry this broadcast.

Gov. and Mrs. Raymond E. Baldwin have been invited. Guests will be welcomed by Mrs. Dwight Smith president.

Mrs. Frank Daley of this place and Mrs. Charles Miller of East Haven are arranging the musical part of the program.

On the arrangements committee are Mrs. William Hadden, wife of the Lieutenant Governor, Mrs. Waldo Blankesie, state committee chairman, 12th district, Mrs. Milton Bradley, past president, and Mrs. Fred Grimley.

Reservations are unnecessary, but the committee would appreciate it if those who intend to attend would notify Mrs. Irving Harrison or Mrs. Milton Bradley.

Similar meetings were held last year at this time when Governor Raymond E. Baldwin, Secretary of State Frances B. Redick and Vice Chairman Alice Russ Cochran addressed the women of Connecticut.

The novelty of holding these "coincidental" meetings in every town and city in the State to listen to the radio broadcast by Senator John A. Danaher is being received with enthusiasm by the women of Connecticut.

Random Reading Broadens Young Readers' Minds

Strict regulation of what children may read can stunt their mental growth. In a carefully limited mental diet for children there is danger that they may develop a distorted viewpoint toward life. In a challenging article "Let the Children Read What They Like" in the March issue of Good Housekeeping magazine, D. C. Russell discusses this problem of reading matter for children and the old-fashioned shibboleths with which it has been surrounded. "I am in sympathy with parental interest in children, but in complete disagreement with parents' ideas about this subject," he writes. "Their reason is the obvious one that children should not be exposed to any of the mysteries of life, that what they read must be wholesome, raising no questions and instilling none but the highest ideals. Children, in fact, must be kept mentally sterilized." From his own experience, the writer recalls instances of children who were given the run of the library in their homes, and has noticed that such children had more active minds and a wider range of intellectual interests than the children who were limited by strict parental censorship. "To refute the contention that a child's mind is liable to be contaminated by a random choice in literature the writer points out that farm children, early in life, are familiar with the facts of life as manifested among the animals on the farm, without suffering deleterious effects. "What seems dangerous to you he will probably pass over as being without interest," the writer asserts. "His mind will absorb only what is on his level of understanding; he will receive what he is fit and ready to receive. Then he will not be denied what is necessary for his mental growth. The world proves that more damage has been done by stunting the mind than stunting the body."

More than half a century has passed since Jack the Ripper committed his Whitechapel murders, but that world-famous criminal has never ceased to be a perpetual topic of interest in England and America, especially in London where people still remember with shuddering horror those foggy nights and days in the fall of 1888 when the newspaper boys bellowed, "Murder—Another Horrible Murder." Hence, a newspaperman in Fleet Street, who cannot sell anything else in London, can always sell a story about Jack the Ripper—so they say. But what could he or anyone else report on an item of which it can truthfully be said that it has become an international subject, since no crime expert of repute in any part of the world failed to approach that cause celebre from every possible angle and investigate it as he saw fit? Moreover, in addition to famous criminologists, dramatists and fiction writers have been inspired by Jack the Ripper. Perhaps the most famous reconstruction of the case was Marie Belloc Lowndes' "The Lodger" a block-buster from its first printing and which, through the years has sold millions of copies. It is from Mrs. Belloc Lowndes' novel that "The Lodger" has been brought to the screen starring Merle Oberon, George Sanders, and Laird Cregar, which is now playing at the Loew's Poli College. Preview reports have hailed the film as the greatest of all screen shockers. Certainly the story is there!

Bob Thompson and Nick Barbaric given mention in latest Telephone Bulletin. Also carries pic of Mary Batrow. Tall vases of pussy-willows. Must remember to ask Ray Pinkham what he feeds those chickens. Judge Frank W. Daley presides over East Haven Court. Diary of week end trip to New York—Being from the country the first blunder made was by my companion who turned politely to apologize to a pole in the subway. Wonder where they took all the dirt when they excavated for said subway. Cold and very hungry we, six of us, dropped into a restaurant for a quick bite. At my elbow was an escalator. Needless to say I most got a stiff neck from watching funny people riding up. One group of young men, well dressed and having lots of fun spotted the day by saying, "Isn't this cricket?" which reminded us that we prefer our ten year old boys in dirty white sailor caps, crazy sweater get-ups and lagged by a soiled mutt of a dog to the immaculate young men of 10 or 12 years we met at every turn. Took time out to phone Ronald Hammond, but found the Stony Creek Theatre director was on the road directing U.S.O. shows. Mrs. Hammond was out for the day but their daughter, Cookie, said she was home from boarding school and wouldn't I phone again later when Mother returned. One of our party must have given Bob Lee at the Willy information that the Swedish supper there was in celebration of two anniversaries, so he, the Song Poet, sang it for all New York to hear. No wonder Walter Winchell sees fit to say nice things about Bob Lee for he has a memory only Merril Kenneth Wolf can equal. Saw the "Connecticut Yankee" and so closed the day. If Japan wants to know where our Army and Navy is you may tell him, "Times Square." Blegie Bigs coming tonight to inspect State Guard at the Armory. Manager Beebe, A. & P. coming home from hospital. There's a dog named Chica who is three and feels that she rates recognition in the Birthday column—No go. But happy birthday and bones galore to Chica. OPA checking price lists in stores this week.

WINGS OF THE WORLD

CIVILIAN PILOTS—Civilian flying schools are being offered a new lease on life. Army and Navy cancellation of contracts threatened them with extinction. In addition, the act authorizing the Civilian Pilot Training Program expires this June. So Congressmen plan a move in the House to obtain renewed funds for the crossroads homes of heroes. Here's the record on just a few service pilots trained in civilian schools: Maj. Joe Foss, the nation's leading ace; Capt. Richard Bong, with 21 Japs; five fliers wearing the Congressional Medal of Honor, 672 others decorated. Civilian schools were represented in the famed "Flying Tigers", 19 graduates were among the Tokyo raiders. PEOPLE'S CHOICE—Another indication that the U. S. public will have the final say in determining our post-war air policy is the decl-sion by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to "consider" international aviation. Already the Senate Commerce Committee is studying the subject. It's an encouraging development. For many months the future of our foreign air transport was permitted to be the concern of only the Executive branch of the Government. Then Congress, recognizing that the air future of the U. S. is also the future of its people, got busy. The issue is simple: on the one side are 17 of the 19 U. S. airlines. They want competition preserved on our routes overseas. On the other side are only two airlines which believe all our ocean flying should be handled by one company—a monopoly.

U. S. WARPLANES—How do our warplanes compare with each other? Here are facts gleaned from a just-released compilation of the Army Air Forces: The Liberator and Flying Fortress each carry about 6,000 pounds of bombs, but the Fort has 33,500 caliber guns to the Lib's 22,000. The B-25 and B-26, medium bombers, mount 12 guns... the P-38, when used as a bomber, lugs as much as the B-25—2,000 pounds... the Thunderbolt, Mustang and Lightning all speed above 400 miles per hour... the Thunderbolt carries more guns than any other fighter, eight .50 caliber.
