WHERE THERE'S A WILL THERE'S A WAY

We have been observing with no small degree of interest the steps being taken in our neighboring Shore Line town of Guilford toward the eventual acquisition and establishment of a town-owned recreation and bathing park. At the last annual town meeting the voters, steamed up, we presume, by the able editor of Guilford's community newspaper, the Shore Line Times, authorized a committee of townspeople and vested it with the authority to investigate the recreational needs of the town and to explore the possibilities of obtaining for Guilford a waterfront bathing and park area. We noted in the daily press the past week that this committee has been doing considerable exploring and will prepare soon to make a report to the people of the town.

Guilford has a sizeable frontage on Long Island Sound but large portions of it were not laid out by their creator for bathing purposes. Beaches, as those familiar with Guilford's shore front will recall, are few and far between. There are many tidal flats where clamming is excellent, and there are rocky headlands where summer homes perch high among the rocks. But we believe eventually Guilford will turn into a recreation area for her townspeople. We believe this because we believe the old saying—Where there's a will there's a way.

Here in East Haven we have sandy beaches the like of which few towns can boast. Mofnaquin, Casey Beach, Silver Sands, Shell Beach, merge one with the other along our wave-swept coastal doorstep. It is almost solid bathing beach from Morris Creek at the New Haven line to Mansfield's Grove, where the East Haven river marks our easterly limit. But in all that reach we have no public bathing area, no recreation place to call our own. And unfortunately, unlike our neighboring town of Guilford we have no exploring committee.

OFF THE MAIN-TRAVELLED ROAD

Circumstances rebuked recently that we make two or three trips to a city in the northern part of the state. Most of the time we followed the well known College Highway through familiar Mount Carmel, Cheshire, Southington, Plainville, and the other towns and villages along the way. One evening, before an early November dusk, and homeward bound, we decided to follow the Quinipiac river through the sandstone hills near Meriden. As we rounded a curve a side-road came into view leading straight up a steep hill toward the darkening sky beyond. On an impulse, wondering where the old road led, we turned off the main-travelled highway, and shifting into second climbed toward the crest. That unknown dirt road might have led us into a cow-pasture, or to a dead-end in some farmer's doorway. We had no way of knowing. But it didn't. Over the summit of the hill a breathtaking view unfolded before us. West Peak, mysterious and shadowy, to the north, Mt. Besek and the Middletown tripeaks, clear-cut against the eastern twilight sky, and the trailing hills of North Guilford and Totoket, dusky dim, far to southward. In between the myriad twinkling lights of Meriden and Wallingford, and straight ahead, to join once more the main-travelled highway in the valley below, led the country lane that had lured us to this height.

And we thought then how like life this little experience. How often for days and months on end we travel the familiar way. Then some little adventure, some small change beckons. We hesitate. It's hard to make up our minds in a hurry. The way may not be to our satisfaction. It may lead to some difficult place or to a dead-end. It may become necessary to retrace our steps painfully. But on the other hand, like our little unknown road that led toward the darkening sky, it may take us to where we may see a whole new vista unfold before us, where we may gain a new perspective, and new opportunities. Never fear the unknown road.

As I spread this week's correspondence on my desk it almost makes me think of the National Geographic as it contains information about so many parts of the world. The East Haven boys and girls are giving their principal a good course in geography.

From Nigeria ALLAN JOHNSON '40 writes of his work with the Air Transport Command. Shall we say Nigeria is ALLAN's stopping place at present for he has been to Africa, Egypt, Arabia and India. ALLAN has bought a beautiful black horse and every Tuesday and Saturday is playing polo with the British. He is taking a course in Public Speaking and says he has been told he will broadcast the news before the movies every other night. AL KARMAZYN '39 is the only East Haven boy he has met in his twenty-one months away from home.

MISS KATHLEEN ROBERTS, former Physical Education Director for Girls at the High school, is with the Red Cross in India. Her work is strenuous but interesting. She tells of having been on eleven days leave and having visited Kashmir. This cool climate she explains helped to cure the prickly heat she had contracted in the fantastically hot climate in which she was stationed.

KEITH RANDALL '43 writes from England that he has received our latest bulletin. This past summer he met GENE NITCKHE '41 and had a grand time talking over old times. He tells me that WALTER

GIBBS '43 is in Ireland. ROGER FREY '44 writes of his work in Navy Cook School but says he hopes for a transfer. He is stationed in Mississippi at the same school with SAL CARBONE '44.

In a letter received from FURMAN CAMPBELL '44 we hear that SAL, ROGER and FURMAN all met recently. FURMAN is stationed at Keesler Field and seems to be doing well. However, I feel sure he is more interested in East Haven than he will be in any other part of the world.

CHARLES HAYDEN '45 writes from Sampson, New York that although the life is quite a bit different from what he was accustomed to, he is slowly grasping the fundamentals. Since being at Sampson he says he has met DICK UNDERWOOD '45, FRANCIS PECHAR '46, EDWARD VOSTANZO '44, BOB LANDRY '44 and JAY FIONDELLA '44.

ROBERT HENLEY '44 is located at Miami, Fla. He says he has just finished a course in Storekeeper's School and hopes to be assigned to a boat before long.

FRANK BARKER '44 is in the Carribean Sea and though quite hot he says it is going to be hotter where he is going. He expects to be gone from four to six months. He is well and busy listening to the World Series at the time he wrote this letter.

RALPH CASTELON '40 is still at the Prisoner of War Camp in Virginia. He says he has never

Gen. Knox Gets Reply On Fence At Green Lawn

Reader Blames Poor Behavior Of Children For State Of Disrepair Of Cemetery Enclosure.

General Knox received the following letter this week which we are glad to publish:

Dear General: I just finished reading your article in the Nov. 9 issue of the East Haven News, concerning the fence or what is left of it around the Green Lawn Cemetery. Now, General, as you said, we do not have to agree with you, but I'll agree with you in part. The fence does look a mess, but did it ever occur to you just why that fence is in the condition it is?

Just let me as a life-time resident of East Haven, express my views on this matter.

Let me turn back the years and reflect as to the training I received through my parents as to what my conduct should be in and about any cemetery. I was taught that cemeteries were hallowed ground, and that I must not in winter pull my sled through the Old Cemetery in order to slide down the Bowl, that I must not in summer play hide and seek in the Green Lawn. My parents also impressed upon me that I must not tip over vases that held flowers which someone had carefully placed on the grave of their loved one, also I must not pull up the flags which mark the graves of our soldier dead. Now surely I would never have been allowed to pull off the pickets from the fence so that we kids would have a quick exit after a game, and I feel sure had I been allowed such freedom, I would be a kid, have thought of other uses for the picket, such as a nut or a lean-to and without a doubt would have gone so far as to deliberately force myself into the tool shed and muss things up in there.

Now General, I am well acquainted with a past member of the Board of Trustees of the Green Lawn Cemetery Association, and he agrees with me that it isn't altogether the fences fault for looking as it does or altogether the youngsters fault who frequent this hallowed spot, but rather he believes with me that it lies with the training of those children.

I happen to know that this association has a fence fund on its books. At this time the amount in this fund happens to be very small, so should anyone be moved to contribute to this fund, I am very sure the trustees would greatly appreciate their donation, and should the fund grow to the full cost of building "a little white fence" be assured, Dear General, that those who serve on this board without remuneration would see to it that, "the little white fence" would be running around the Green Lawn Cemetery to the admiration of all who pass by and to those who look out of their kitchen windows.

Think this over, won't you General, and I shall be looking for a bit of recognition in your column in the near future. I remain, seen such surprises in his life and that the scenery is very beautiful. I guess he is not particularly pleased with inactivity of life in a P.W. Camp, however. RALPH tells of having a reunion with LT. BOB CLARK '40 recently. They went horseback riding together before having a fine dinner cooked by MRS. CASTELON. VIN CASTELON '40 tells us in the Dutch East Indies and JACK TYLER '40 and FRANK RALUMBO '43 are in his vicinity although they have not as yet been able to meet.

GEORGE HOWARD '37 joined the Navy on December 15, 1941. After taking his boot training at Newport, Rhode Island, he was sent to Boston to board ship. GEORGE has traveled to England, Ireland, Scotland, Russia, Alaska and the Pacific Area. He has received twelve stars for engagements in which he has taken part. That is some service record.

ALBERT HOWARD '43 took boot training at Sampson, N. Y. and further training with the Navy Air Corp at Colgate University. Recent-

Personalties

Newcomer In Town Spent 52 Years In Teaching Profession Before Retiring

Most of our personalties subjects thus far have been men or women, well known and active for long periods of time in this community. This week we depart from this custom and introduce a man, a newcomer, comparatively unknown to East Haveners, yet one who has built an enviable record in the city from whence he came. Although living in East Haven not much more than a year, James C. Moody who with his wife, resides at 55 Martin road, in one of the charming new homes of the Riverside Development, has become endeared to a growing circle of friends.

On April 1, 1942, Mr. Moody retired after 52 years in the teaching profession. At that time he was head of the Moody Secretarial School in New Britain, an institution he had founded 15 years earlier.

One of the best known educators in the famed Hardware City, Mr. Moody had gone to New Britain in 1902 to become head of the commercial department in that city's Senior High School. He was a factor in the development of that school with which he spent a quarter of a century. In that period he rose to the post of vice principal. Upon leaving the public school post he founded the Secretarial Institution which bears his name. In his years as teacher and adviser, he has furnished the inspiration for many young men and women seeking their place in the big world of business and many of those whom he counseled and taught now occupy responsible positions in the commercial life of that city and other parts of Connecticut.

Before going to New Britain, Mr. Moody had taught in Ware, Chicopee and Springfield, Mass.

Mr. Moody recalls that his appointment to the faculty of the New Britain Senior High School, as an instructor of penmanship, climaxed a controversy which raged for several months between exponents of slant and straight writing. In the end the typewriter put an end to the controversy. For the first two years he was employed on a part-time basis, but his zeal and interest in young people won for him the direction of the commercial department on a full time schedule. At that time he had the assistance of one teacher only but on retirement from public school life 25 years later the department was staffed by ten teachers so great had the expansion been.

In 1923 Mr. Moody gained statewide recognition when he was elected president of the Connecticut Business Educators' Association. Many of his students became highly proficient and some of them won state championships in stenography and typing.

Since coming to East Haven the Moody's have taken an interest in many civic activities. They have become taxpayers and voting residents of the town and are otherwise participating in community life, being attendants at the Old Stone church. This was only natural because in New Britain Mr. Moody had wide civic, fraternal and social interests. He was a charter member there of the Chamber of Commerce. He served as president of the New England High School Teachers club and of the New Britain Teachers Club as well as president of the New Britain Teachers' Council. Fraternally he was a member of Centennial Lodge A.F. & A.M. and of the Gildings Chapter, Royal Arch Masons. He was member of the Board of Directors of the Kiwanis club which he served as treasurer and was also a member of the well-known Commonwealth club. His religious affiliations were with the South Congregational church which he served as clerk, deacon and a member of the standing committee. They have a son and two daughters, one of them, Mrs. Percy W. Webb of East Haven.

East Haven is proud to be the town the Moody's have adopted in retirement.

Lasting Peace Is Goal Toward Which We Strive

Rev. West Preaches Armistice Sunday Sermon to Legionnaires And Auxillary.

Members of the Harry R. Bartlett Post, No. 89 of the American Legion and the auxillary attended Armistice and Peace Day services in the Old Stone church, Sunday morning. Special music was sung by the Junior Choir directed by Mrs. Carl Rosenquist and the Intermediate choir, directed by Miss Dorothy Evans, and Mr. Nathan Downs, organist.

"What are the Conditions of a Permanent Armistice?" was the sermon topic of the Rev. William G. West, the minister of the church. He asserted that Armistice 1918 is meaningless apart from a future armistice in 1945 or 1946. "When the end of conflict does come, we shall have an armistice. Shall it be temporary lasting only until defeated powers can form another coalition to send armies out again in a fanatical attempt to conquer the world? Or shall it be permanent in the sense of being more than an interlude? The present situation reminds me of what my uncle used to do on his farm in Maryland. He worked the horses in the heat of the day, but occasionally would call a halt for what he termed a "breathing spell." The horses didn't stop working; they simply rested so they could later continue working. That's what nations do. They fight until exhausted, or nearly so, then they take a "breather", so that they can fight again and again."

"Will this be the continuing history of man? Bitter fighting to be followed by an armistice and more fighting? No one knows! Hegel says that the lesson of history is that man does not learn from history. But this seems to me to be too skeptical, at times man does seem to make progress. Whether or not, man will be able to change temporary peace treaties into permanent pacts of non-violence remains to be seen."

Mr. West went on to say that if armistices are to be permanent, definite conditions must be met by men; the political world must keep pace with the scientific; men must sense their underlying unity regardless of racial, religious, economic, and political creeds; and men must be willing to pay the terrific cost of peace as our men are paying the cost of war.

Mr. West stressed the necessity of standing together to meet the great problems of the future. "Here is the matter of divorce, for example. In Dayton, Ohio, out of 3 marriages in a recent year, 1.0 ended in divorce and in Chicago, Ill., out of 16,000 marriages in one year, 11,000 ended in divorce. Here is this matter of vicious corruption in political life which destroys faith in our democratic way of life. Here is a mounting crime rate. Here is a staggering national indebtedness of 250 to 300 billions. The interest rate on 250 billions is 6 billions and 200 millions. Here is the old balance of power game in Europe. And yet people have to think we can let religion or economics or politics keep us apart! Truly, the world is one neighborhood; it must become one brotherhood."

"The time," concluded Mr. West, "is too short for hatred, prejudices and discriminations; it is only long enough to practice the spirit of brotherhood that lifts the load we must all bear in the future."

al Teachers' Council. Fraternally he was a member of Centennial Lodge A.F. & A.M. and of the Gildings Chapter, Royal Arch Masons. He was member of the Board of Directors of the Kiwanis club which he served as treasurer and was also a member of the well-known Commonwealth club. His religious affiliations were with the South Congregational church which he served as clerk, deacon and a member of the standing committee. A vile odor and taste, that will be apparent in the next hour. These oils can not be removed with a "lick and a promise" cleaning.
The Brewing Committee of the National Coffee Association recommends washing the coffee maker with clean water after each use. Use a brush to scrub the difficult-to-get-at places where sediment of oil may collect. Rinse the coffee maker and all parts with clean water. Then let it air out.
And here's an important point: If you use a filter cloth in your coffee maker, the filter should be washed out with cold water and left submerged in water until you use it the next time. That washes the filter from the air between the times you use it. Never permit the certain oils which attach themselves to the coffee making device when the coffee is made. These oils, when they come into contact with the air, enter into soap particles will be absorbed by the cloth and will give a foreign taste to the next brew.

WAVES Solve Jig-Saw Puzzle to Aid Navy's Fighting Men

These WAVES are working on a jig-saw puzzle—the most important jig-saw puzzles imaginable. On duty at the Navy Hydrographic Office, they are helping construct a chart by use of aerial photographs. In its form the chart will guide the Navy's fighting men in operations in the Pacific zone. In existence two years, there's still need in the WAVES for thousands of patriotic young women—20 to 35, without children under 18—whose starting pay, counting food and quarters, will be $14.50 a month, plus many "extras" and post-war advantages.

Looking Ahead

Authority turns men's heads. Human nature changes very little at all. Bigots and despots govern for their own advantage, to gratify and hold power. I saw it at its worst during eleven years under the war lords of South China. The rule applied to the mortals of every race and nation. It applied to King Siam, the ruler of the Annamites, no less to the modern heathen Hirohito. We are protected from it in America, not by mere luck.

Members of the American Constitution laid a foundation solid enough to support a government by the people, a representative government in which the representatives are accountable directly to the people who elect them. They were wise pioneers. They knew human nature as well as the theory of government. They knew how soon power runs to tyranny when not held in check.

Pillars of WHILE the United States retains constitutional freedom is keeping all the pillars of human freedom on which our liberty rests. Under our Constitution, you can't make me worship a god I do not want; you have to convert me. You can't make me buy anything I don't want; you have to sell me. You can't make me buy anything until you prove that it is lying.

No system without flaws was ever devised by mortal mind. Many a falsehood has been proclaimed under the cloak of free speech. Many a crime has been committed in the name of religion. Many a pirate has sailed the

Chaplain Says It Must Not Happen Again

Armistice Day was celebrated Sunday with a parade led by Marshall Maurice N. Smith.

Following the parade, exercises were held at the Cenotaph on the Green, opening with the massing of the colors under the direction of Sergeant-at-Arms Joseph A. Donadio, in command of the color guard. After the playing of the National Anthem by the Branford High School Band and the invocation by the Rev. A. W. Jones, Commander Eugene B. Rodney and Adjutant Clarence I. Bradley read the American Legion Service.

Lieut. Charles R. Cooley, chaplain, U.S.N.R., from the Brooklyn Navy Yard, where he had preached the sermon broadcast weekly over a national network during the program called "The Navy Goes to Church," was the principal speaker. Chaplain Cooley told of visiting the hospitals in Hawaii to which the wounded of the various Pacific campaigns are being brought.

Lieut. Cooley said, "Surely it is time that we realize we must dedicate ourselves to the proposition that this must not happen again. Wars are not inevitable. They can be abolished if we all write to our representatives in Congress to vote for whatever measures will insure peace and to vote against those that will once again lead the world to war. We must stand back of another federation of nations. The future is in our hands."

When the roll call of 61 departed comrades was read, with the bells of Trinity Church tolling each name, Miss Eileen Mooney of the Red Cross Motor Corps, dropped on the Cenotaph a carnation for each comrade. Following the roll call the Rev. Edward Demenswo pronounced the benediction.

Former Florist Dies In Home In Wallingford

Sherman Curtis Goddard, husband of Della E. Hugins Goddard, died Sunday at the Masonic Home in Wallingford. Mr. Goddard, who was in his 79th year, conducted a florist's business here for many years and was a member of Widow's Son Lodge, of the New England Order of Redmen, and of the First Baptist Church.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. C. H. Smith of Stratford, Miss Mabel Goddard of Cherry Hill Road, a sister, Miss Jennie Booth of West Hartford, one granddaughter, Miss Shirley Smith, one grandson, Arthur Smith, and several nieces and nephews.

Services were held yesterday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at the Norman Lamb Funeral Home with the Rev. A. W. Jones officiating. Masonic rites were held at the burial at Center Cemetery.

Union Services Of Thanksgiving

This Sunday evening, November 19, at 7 o'clock Union Thanksgiving services will be conducted in the First Congregational Church.

Lt. Charles R. Cooley, navy chaplain will be guest preacher assisted by Rev. Joseph White. Lt. Cooley will use as his sermon topic, "Being Thankful in a Time of War."

Special music will include the prelude "Offertoire", DuBols and two anthems, "Praise the Lord O Jerusalem", Maunder, and "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land", Stainer. The music will be by members of the Baptist, Congregational and Episcopal Churches.

At 7:45 all Young Peoples Fellowship groups will hold a meeting and song service after which they will adjourn to the union service.

Local Chairman Notified Drive Must Continue

The Connecticut War Fund campaign to raise $2,000,000 for the support of the USO, War Prisoners Aid, United Seamen's Service, American Field Service and 18 other war-related Relief Agencies will be continued in this state until the full quota is reached, Ogden Bigelow, Greenwich, State Campaign Chairman today notified the Branford chairman.

Reports from 130 Connecticut towns conducting campaigns for the agencies of the War Fund alone indicate that 81% of their quota has been reached. In the 18 communities where the War Fund drive is combined with the campaign for the local Community Chest agencies, 83% of the War Fund quota has been reached.

Because the needs of the men on the fighting fronts, and those in our military hospitals and enemy prison camps are great, the Drive to raise funds for those War Fund agencies serving the armed forces will be extended until the $2,000,000 representing Connecticut's share of the National War Fund goal is reached, stated Mr. Bigelow.

Chauncey Upton Buried Tuesday

Funeral services for Chauncey Upton, husband of Lillian E. Ferrel Upton, who died Sunday in the New Haven Hospital was held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 at the Old Stone Church in East Haven. Rev. Matthew G. Madden, rector of the First Congregational Church officiated and the burial was in East Lawn cemetery in the family plot.

Mr. Upton, who was in his 72nd year, is survived besides his widow, by two sons, C. Murray Upton of East Main Street and J. Warren Upton of Waterbury, also three grandchildren.

Until his removal to Branford, Mr. Upton was deacon of the Old Stone Church, East Haven.

Smaller Plants Asked To Hear Explanation

Kenneth L. Childs, Manager of the New Haven District Office of the Smaller War Plants Corporation, announces that, through the cooperation of the Army Service Forces, Army Air Forces, U. S. Navy and the Smaller War Plants Corporation, and through the co-sponsorship of the New Haven Chamber of Commerce, a meeting for the purpose of explaining contract termination will be held in the New Haven Chamber of Commerce Auditorium at 7:30 P.M. on November 24.

The following speakers will present the subject in lay-man language and will tell of the procedure to be followed when contracts terminate:

Temporary Chairman: E. J. McEwan, Executive Vice-President of the New Haven Chamber of Commerce; Chairman for the Evening: Lt. Col. Ralph A. Young, Springfield Ordnance District; Speakers: First Lt. Robert L. Flanagan, Quartermaster Corps; Philip Hurley, Springfield Ordnance District; Capt. Samuel E. Webb, Army Air Forces; Lt. Cpm. E. J. Corcoran, USNR; Lt. Col. Edward H. Heller, F.D., Office of Fiscal Director; Giles Smith, Smaller War Plants Corporation.

Mr. Childs states that all manufacturers within the counties of New Haven, New London and Middlesex should avail themselves of this opportunity to learn, firsthand, the steps to be taken before and after terminations. Every manufacturer is invited to attend this all-important meeting, and it is urged that members of their staffs be included.

Invitations have also been sent to banks, accountants and auditors in these counties.

Manufacturers are urged to take advantage of this opportunity.

Purchase Books In The Memory Of Mrs. Palmer

At the meeting of the Half-Hour Reading Club held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frederick Jourdan of West Main Street, Mrs. Frederick Houde was chosen as delegate to the meeting of the Connecticut Federated Women's Club in Hartford on November 14.

It was voted to purchase the six books and book plate described in a report by Mrs. Jourdan which are to be presented to the James Blackstone Memorial Library in memory of Mrs. Harriet Palmer. Miss Harriet Cox and Mrs. Cornelius McDermott were appointed to assist Mrs. Jourdan in making arrangements for the presentation ceremony which is to be held at the library on November 25 at 1 o'clock.

It was also voted to send $5 to Peter Blake, English child adopted by the club, as a Christmas gift, and to send a box. Members are asked to give articles for the packages to Mrs. Charles Neely before November 23. Wilfred T. Nott was appointed chairman of the committee for the auction to be held the first week in December.

Mrs. Fred Catlin spoke on "Jane Austen", telling of her life and giving a critical analysis of her books. Mrs. S. A. Griswold, president, reported on the recent Herald-Tribune Forum at which she represented the club. Mrs. Warren Mumford gave the report of the flower committee, after which there was a current events roll call of members.

Veterans Meet For Armistice Reunion Dinner

The annual reunion of Battery E, 103rd Field Artillery Veterans Associates World War I was held in the Community House Saturday afternoon.

Many remembrances were enjoyed by returning veterans from out of town from Toul, Nancy, Chateau Thierry, Verdun, St. Mihiel and many other sectors, occupied or about to be occupied by the sons of the veterans now in service. Extemporaneous speeches were in the order of the day.

The war bond was given to Miss Jeanie Oberle of Farren Avenue, New Haven, who held the lucky number.

About 30 veterans sat down to a dinner served by James A. Farnham and the committee in charge consisted of Sgt. Major Frank Brada, Cpl. F. H. Lay and Chief Mechanic Andrew Lawrence.

Singing of army song concluded the day's entertainment.

Guests from the YD Veterans Association of New Haven were present to assist their comrades of Battery E in bringing back memories. Comd. Otis Culver and Past Comdr. Dube addressed the assembled veterans.

The following veterans attended: Edwin Poulton, Leslie J. Reynolds, Joseph Driscoll, Fritz Zelleger, James Leach, Duncan MacArthur, Wilber Fisher, Joseph Schurk, Robert Dudley, George Baisley, Steve Bombolski, Frank Brada, Andrew Lawrence, Julius Olszewski, Francis V. Reynolds, Walter Sattler, John Anderson, John McCarthy, Patrick Carr, John Coolac, Capt. F. H. Lay, Thomas Corcoran, Chas. Lay, John J. Sullivan, Ray Buell, Nicholas Kolbin, James Farnham, Roland Van Sands, Minott Prout, Jeremiah Knowlton.

Branford opens the Sixth War Fund Drive Monday, November 20 in an attempt to sell $513,000 worth of bonds before the sale closes December 16. Of that amount $12,000 shall be in Series "E" bonds, those sold to individuals and the remaining $401,000 that of securities.

Reginald S. Baldwin, War Finance Chairman, will undertake the sales of Series "E" which means the usual house-to-house campaign Wallace H. Foote has been appointed chairman of the security sales to meet the $401,000 quota.

Together with Roger Benton they attended a meeting in New Haven yesterday to receive instructions and materials.

All stressed the seriousness of the need of putting forth every effort to reach or exceed the New Haven district quota of $50,003,000 set for it, and the chairman start immediately to get their committees into action and ready for the official opening Monday.

An organization group will meet tomorrow afternoon.

McCarran Plan Has Opposition Of Lumbermen

Connecticut's senators and representatives in Congress are being asked today by William F. Beach, secretary of the Lumber Dealers Association of Connecticut to oppose "in every possible way" the McCarran plan for postproduction conversion of war production industries in 11 north-eastern states. The Association at its 53rd annual convention held in New Haven unanimously adopted a resolution condemning the McCarran plan which, the resolution said, "bodes disaster to the industrial areas of 11 states and is a poor reward for an astounding record in war production."

Guest Preacher Coming Sunday

The Rev. C. Oscar Lee, assistant secretary of the State Council of Churches at Hartford will be the guest preacher on Sunday morning in the First Baptist Church. Mr. Lee, who was a classmate at the Yale Divinity School of the Rev. Frederic R. Murray, and attended at the same time as Rev. A. W. Jones, has been engaged in work among the 3,500 tobacco growers along the Connecticut River in the northern part of the state directing their recreational activities, housing and religious programs. Three full time ministers are on his staff as well as nearly 100 volunteer workers.

BABY BOND SALE TO OPEN MONDAY

In connection with the Sixth War Loan Drive, parents and grandparents of pre-school children are urged to purchase Baby Bonds between November 20 and December 7. Walt Disney certificates will be presented with each bond if the number is reported to Mrs. John Donnelly, 91-2.

All babies receiving Baby Bonds are eligible to have their names inscribed on the roll of honor which will hang in the entrance of the Branford Theatre.
