THE PROBATE ELECTION

On Tuesday the voters of East Haven will join the voters of the other towns of the New Haven Probate District in electing a Judge of Probate to succeed the late Judge John L. Gilson. We have long held to the idea that judges of our courts, state, county and local, should be chosen on a basis of their judicial qualifications. For many years the New Haven District Probate Judgeship has been removed from politics only because the two major parties have seen fit to nominate and endorse the same candidate. The law providing for election of the probate judge at the polls dates back to the founding days and can be changed, as can the probate fee system, only by legislative enactment by the General Assembly. This year we are filling a vacancy which has been brought about because of the death of the incumbent. Three candidates have entered the field and are bidding for the votes of the electors of this district.

We have long known the three men nominated, Clifford B. Sturges, Republican; Vincent P. Dooley, Democrat; and Michael Quinn, Independent. Each is competent, all have good records at the bar, and each has a boot of fainted.

Independent, Each is competent, an nave good records at the our, and each has a host of friends.

One of these candidates, Judge Sturges, is a fellow townsman. The fact that he is a neighbor, whose career all of us are familiar with, gives our community an even greater interest in this election than we might otherwise have. We know Judge Sturges as a humance index of the form Charles position he had with heavy and shill. judge of our Town Court, a position he has held with honor and abil ity since the court was established. We also know him as an experi enced lawyer, as a civic-minded citizen, and as a gentleman of wide interests and understanding. Naturally these qualities would place him high in any political contest.

But were the judgeship to be determined solely upon merit and experience, we venture to say that the fact that Judge Sturges has served as clerk of the Probate Court under the late Judge Gilson and more recently under Judge Ellsworth Foote, for nearly two decades, would undoubtedly weigh heavilly in his behalf. During his long service for the people of the towns making up the New Haven Pro bate District he has gained a most thorough understanding of the Probate Court's peculiarly specialized requirements. This district can ill-afford to lose qualified service.

NATIONAL RECOGNITION FOR LOCAL IDEA

The May issue of "The School Executive", a monthly magazine published by the American School Publishing Corp, member of the Educational Press Association, carries a two page illustrated article which has given national recognition to the "Dime a Month Club" which has given national recognition to the "Dime a Month Club" which has been functioning for some time in our East Haven school system. The article carrying the heading "Can You Spare A Dime", is written by our East Haven superintendent, William E. Gillis, and decombe in detail the plan in operation with much success here for describes in detail the plan in operation with much success here for the past four years.

East Haveners, particularly those who have had children in the schools since the inauguration of the "Dime a Month" club, are faschools since the inauguration of the "Dime a Month" club, are fall the High school and a member of the miliar with the set-up which is patterned upon the Community Chest of the Hostess club is in Chicago of the interesting and distributing funds. Supt. Gillis wrote about this club in one of the interesting reports to the citizens which we have been carrying in the columns of THE NEWS. Now the plan has been placed before school executives throughout the nation by "The School Executive". It will undoubtedly find many communities responsive to the idea.

THIS IS OUR 40th WEEK

EAST HAVEN NEWS subscribers will note that this issue is the 40th since publication began last September as a part of the much older Branford Review. That means that the Home Newspaper of a Busy Town is now 40 weeks old, and in another quarter we will have reached our first year. We have had an encouraging start and, we hope, have made many friends among our readers. We have not yet reached the 1,000 subscription mark in East Haven, but all indications point to that figure, and beyond, at the end of the first year. That THE NEWS is welcomed weekly we know because of the calls that come when, through some error or another in the mailing, a copy to cope with in the brief career of THE NEWS. We are not so optimistic as not to expect more as the time goes on. We believe we have made a start toward the promotion of a better Community Spirit in East Haven. We have furnished a media for expression on topics for the betterment of this town. We have found the business men and women, and the townspeople generally cooperative in eyery way, in fact eager, to be helpful, Words of encouragement have been many. #### BEST WISHES TO CLASS OF 1945

To the 96 members of the Class of 1945 of East Haven High, ter of whom have already entered the armedforces, we extend our best wishes for the future. The class held its Class Day Program last night, and tonight the Commencement exercises will be held. Of special importance this year is the acquisition of the new Hammond Electric Organ which was bought as a memorial to the High school's heroes in World War II and which is bein g heard for the first time. A half hour recital by Mrs. Sargent of the Hammond Company will be a feature of tonight's program between 7:30 and 8 o'clock.

The 1945 class has chosen for its motto "Onward is Our Aim and this is particularly appropriate for this class whose members will share the making of the post-war world.

We read with pride and sadness the names of the Gold Star boys of East Haven High who gave their lives and whose names appear in the Class Day Program and to whom the exercises were dedicated. It is a long list for our school. As we repeat again their names—Tony Aldieri, Dom Melillo, James Cox, Frank Squalia, Jimmie Minahan, Matthew Limoncelli, Tom Fenney, Ed Tipping, Win Powell, Emilio Papale, Jack Shepard, Jim Wandelear, Burdette Page, Dom Yadaresto, Joe Hickey, and Art Pechar-may we pray God that their lives have not been given in vain, that the 1945 class of East Haven High and of the thousands of other schools throughout this land may morrow's jobs.

We've been doing a lot of thinking about peacetime jobs here at your light and power company. Not only jobs for our employees in service, but for all the men and women living in Connecticut's cities and towns. Our future and yours will be much the same — all of us are dependent on community

What do we propose to do about postwar jobs? First of all, of course, we plan an enthusiastic welcome for our men and women in the armed forces, but that's only a beginning. Our business - electricity — has a bright future. There'll be many new uses for electricity in tomorrow's world - in homes and stores and in industry too.

Let's take a look at the industrial future. We've prepared a training program for our industrial engineers to acquaint them with the latest developments in the industrial field. They've already completed a course in electronics and they're now studying other subjects, so that they can help Connecticut manufacturers find new ways to produce - speedier and cheaper ways with the aid of lowcost, dependable electric power.

In this way your light and power company will be doing its part to bring about bigger markets and, indirectly, more postwar jobs for the Connecticut men and women who will make and sell countless peacetime products.

I am glad that you are a lawyer for you will understand and appreclate the equitable justice of our claim against your club, as presented by the enclosed bill. The ruthless destruction of our club property by one of your members at a recent meeting should be paid for-and all of the other expense we have been subjected to, also.

Chairs are hard to get and they cost money. Chief Nygard smashed one of ours all to pieces. It was an unprovoked act, slyly, skillfully and suddenly accomplished in the middle of a very serious talk by a guest speaker. You shouldn't let such a fellow roam around the country breaking up Rotary programs-and property.

Now, don't pull any smooth legal defense stuff about your club not being liable for the ing attendance pins were awarded acts of its members. We let the

New Regulation On Navy Mails

Postmaster Joseph A. Driscoll has announced that at the request of the U.S. Navy the mailing of magazines, newspapers and periodicals to members of the Navy, Marines and Coast Guard will be discontinued after July 1, except where the addressee is a subscriber to such a service and the sender can show in writing a request for such mailing. This action is taken in order to conserve shipping space.

It was suggested by Postmaster Driscoll that parents and friends magazines in the regular letters to servicemen and thus partially make up for the inability to send the bulkier articles.
