VICTORY FOR "CLIFF" STURGES

Congratulations to neighbor "Cliff" Sturges upon his handsome victory at the polls Tuesday. Our town court judge will prove a worthy successor to the fine and capable men who have presided over the New Haven Probate District Court, one of the oldest courts in Connecticut. He has served for sixteen years as clerk of the court under the tutelage of the late Judge John L. Gilson whom he now succeeds. The action of the voters of this district, which includes the city of New Haven and the towns of Hamden, North Haven, Orange, Woodbridge and East Haven, in electing Judge Sturges proved their confidence in his record, abilities and policies. He had formidable opposition. New Haven's Corporation Counsel, Vincent P. Dooley, was a worthy opponent. Not only did Mr. Dooley have the backing of a strong organization which carried the city but possesses an enviable record as an attorney, municipal official, and outstanding citizen. Michael J. Quinn, who ran independently, relied strongly upon attacks against the probate fee system, a system which according to our best information can be altered only by legislative action. As we stated last week, we feel that judgeships should be removed from partisan politics. Merit and ability ought to be the only requisites for such positions of judicial responsibility. We wish for Judge Sturges a long and successful career in his merited promotion.

SO WE'RE FED UP? THEN READ THIS

Fed up with War Drives are we? Sick of having a few more dollars taken out of our pay envelopes each week to help shorten the war? Pained because we find a shortage of meat in the markets these days, Annoyed because the rationing board won't give us a few extra gas coupons so we can drive up to New Hampshire and visit Aunt Tilly? Well then let's read this letter that came this week from a local twenty-year-old who is sweating it out this summer some where over in Europe.

"Dear Mom: Sometimes a fellow just doesn't know what to say, or write about. I guess I feel a little extra homesick tonight. Next month will be two years since I've been home. I remember my first month as if it were yesterday. It's all so clear to me. Everything I did, even the little things. How I long to come home now to see you and Dad and the girls. How I long to hear your voices, to hear you say 'Hello' and 'Goodbye' and 'What do you need?' or 'how are you?' and 'I'm ready for you' and 'To open a drawer full of clean shirts and undershirts to wear the suit and tie you want. To take a nice American girl to dinner. Someone you can talk to with out using your hands or drawing pictures. I long to walk down the street and see all the familiar faces. People I know. I want to smell the cigar smoke in the parlor, to sit in the nice soft chairs and listen to the radio, to go to bed when I please. I want to sleep on a nice soft mattress with clean white sheets, and get up in the morning in a warm house, not a cold tent or pup tent. I want to go to work in the morning, and come home at night satisfied that my day's work is finished. I want to have my choice of places to go. I want to pick my own friends. There are so many things we think about. These things go through your mind all the time, when you are working, eating, when you lie in bed at night. All these things we dream about. Good night Mom, and I feel so much better now."

ABOUT RAISING POULTRY

We dropped in at a New Haven newsstand-shoeshine establishment one day this week and while one of the polisher-uppers was giving our shoes a going over we picked up a showy, yellow-covered booklet that purported to tell all there is to know about Raising Poultry in the Back Yard. To our surprise we saw that its author was no other than our friend Paul P. Ives of New Haven. The booklet sells for one dollar a copy and "inasmuch as it is in its fourth printing, it would appear that back yard poultry raising is a most popular subject these days. We would recommend Paul Ives' booklet to anyone who may be interested in raising chickens in a small way because the advice which he gives he has gained through years of experience with raising of poultry. Well do we recall our own rather hectic go at back yard poultry culture and a piece we wrote at that time which, as we recall it, we titled, "A One-Hen Poultry Farm". In the years since his poultry paper has become one of the best known in the east and Paul has gained wide recognition as an expert in poultry judging and problems concerning the raising of poultry. His book is clearly and lucidly written and describes back-yard chicken husbandry from the ground up. Personally we are not interested in taking another go at this fascinating hobby, but are sure that those who are interested will find joy and inspiration in this product of Editor Ives' typewriter.

GUILFORD GETS A TOWN BEACH

From our neighboring Shore Line Town of Guilford we learn with interest that the long-time campaign to interest Guilford citizens in the need for having a town-owned beach at the waterfront has at last borne fruit. The Guilford Board of Finance recently voted to recommend to the town that $1,500 be taken from the surplus funds of the town to be used in purchasing what is described as the Chittenden property. This is a tract of land lying between Guilford Point and West River. The property is to be used as a public bathing beach for Guilford townspeople and it will also be adapted for picnic purposes.

This is the property which was discussed at a special Guilford town meeting last year. Reports tell us that Guilford people are hoping for an immediate approval of the finance board's recommendation so that the beach can be put into use this season.

We are familiar with the beach in question because we have picniced there as it was one of the few places where "no trespassing" signs had not made their appearance. While most of the property is marsh land, it can be filled making parking space available. There is a beach at the Guilford Point end of the property where we once found some arrowheads, for the Indians, many years ago, used to spear fish there.

We are glad Guilford is to have a town beach. We wish East Haven citizens would follow the excellent example set by their East Shore neighbors.

Legion Auxiliary Elects Officers

The annual election of officers took place Friday night at the meeting of the American Legion

Auxiliary. Those elected are: Mrs. Mabel Michaels, president; Mrs. Lucy Sarason, vice president; Ellen O'Connor, secretary; Ethel Hahn, treasurer; and Mrs. Jewel Caruso, member of the executive board.

East Haveners Give Sturges Huge Vote

Cast 1,863 Ballots For Local Judge As Against 314 Polled For Dooley.

East Haven's sincere loyalty to her fellow townsman, "Cliff" Sturges, running in a three-cornered political contest for Judge of the New Haven Probate District was reflected in the tremendous majority polled for him here in the special election Tuesday called by Governor Raymond Baldwin. The total vote for the town as recorded by Armand Krikorian, the chief moderator was: For Sturges, 1853; for Vincent Dooley, New Haven Corporation counsel and Democratic candidate, 314; and for Michael J. Quinn, Independent nominee, 90.

The vote in the voting district was as follows: Center: Sturges, 1399; Dooley, 221; Quinn, 61; Momaugauin, Sturges 275; Dooley, 56; Quinn 17; Foxon, Sturges, 159; Dooley, 37; Quinn, 12.

The moderators in Momaugauin and Foxon were Otto Bath in the former district and Cullen Bassett in the latter.

Voting was light but friends of Judge Sturges worked indefatigably through the tenseness of a hot June day bringing in voters and the Sturges headquarters in the Olson block hummed with activity. All the old party war-horses were on hand and most of the young ones too had taken the day off to help "Cliff".

Boy Scout Camporee Set For Week End

Boy Scouts and their leaders from six East Haven troops will hold a Camporee this Saturday and Sunday under the direction of "Bob" Sperry. The boys with their luggage and equipment for an overnight stay will leave the center at 9 Saturday morning and most of the boys will hike. The program will include activities Saturday afternoon, supper and camp fire Saturday night, and a complete schedule of scouting Sunday. The Scouts will come home late Sunday afternoon. Troops participating will be Troops 1, 2, 3, 6, 7, and 8.

The Rev. Thomas M. Barnett who has been the assistant to Rev. Alfred Clark, rector of Christ Church Parish, in charge of services in the Momaugauin Branch at 101 Dewey avenue, conducted his final service there last Sunday. He left early this week for his home in Toronto, Canada, where on Tuesday he was married to Miss Mary Harrison, daughter of a Toronto physician. Rev. Barnett has been taking special work at the Divinity school in New Haven and is expected to return in the fall for further studies. He has made many friends during his ministrations here who wish him happiness and success.

Another Boy Added To Gold Star List

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Frederic C. Burdette of 30 Sidney street who received word last week that their 18-year old son, Pfc. Frederic Norbert Burdette, of the Marines, died of wounds received in action on Okinawa. A member of the class of 1944 of the High School, Frederic entered the Marine Corps April 14 last year, just before graduation, being one who received his diploma in absentia. He trained at Parris Island and later on Guadalcanal. He leaves beside his parents, a brother, Robert E. Burdette, captain of the 1945 baseball team at the High School, and his grandfather, Norbert Kneuer of Guilford. A memorial mass was held yesterday morning in St. Vincent de Paul's church.

Andrews House Is Purchased By Dr. Donadio

Ancient Landmark On Main Street Corner Will Be Used For Offices.

Negotiations were completed this week for the sale of the Andrews' homestead at the corner of Main street and Winchester place, to Dr. Charles F. Donadio, well known local dentist. The house which is one of the old landmarks of East Haven will be used for office purposes by Dr. Donadio. No material changes are to be made until after the war, he said. Louis Rocheleau, local real estate man aided in the transaction, one of the most important in Main street this year. The premises were sold by Sherwin T. Haskell and Alfred Andrews, the latter of New York.

The Andrews place, a colonial dwelling of eight rooms dates back to 1790 when it was erected at about the same time as was the Tyler place on the opposite side of the street. It was acquired by Ruel Andrews in 1828 after having been used as an inn and overnight stopping place for people passing on the Boston Post Road. Andrews was postmaster and town clerk and the big main room on the first floor was used by him for many years as town clerk's office and post office. Upon his death the property went to his son, Winchester Andrews. Many years ago the house was moved back from Main street to its present location and a large veranda built across the entire front. This was removed a few years ago when the house was restored to its former appearance. Mrs. Florence Andrews, widow of Winchester Andrews, occupied the homestead for many years and continued as post-mistress, a small building where Winchester place was later cut through, being utilized then as the post office, until the office was abolished and made a branch of the New Haven postal district.

Police Instructed In Canine Cases

It was stated at the Town Hall this week that complaints concerning the depredations by dogs in running through gardens and damaging growing flowers and crops and attacking persons would be turned over to the police for investigation. All owners of dogs found roaming at large will be summoned into court to pay damages done.

A program of festivities, which will include many features for the Rotarians, the Rotary Anns, and their guests, is being arranged by a committee consisting of Frank Sullivan, Desmond Coyle, William Reilly, Charles Miller and Fred Wolfe, Jr., Dinner will be served at 7 P.M.

NEWS FROM THE ARMED FORCES

Figlewski And Ogilvie Home From European Fronts—Lung-Gon In Five Major Campaigns
By William E. Fagerstrom
S. Sgt. Ray Figlewski took his basic training at Selfridge Field, Mich. He attended Air Mechanics School at Chanute Field and later was sent to Fort Wayne, Ind., where he was stationed for a period of six months. His next point of training was at New Orleans, La., from which place he went to Fort Dix for embarkation. Ray traveled to England from Fort Dix. In England he received a thorough training in the mechanics of English Spitfires and remained in this country for five months. Ray was in the invasion of Africa on November 9, 1942 being the first fighter group to land there. Later he went to Oran and was stationed there for three months. Figlewski flew over to Tunisia and was stationed at Thelepe where the battle started and helped to evacuate Thelepe. He then returned to Tehehass which was twenty miles away and had to help evacuate this place also. (Evacuate really means take equipment out of the way of the advancing enemy). Ray then dropped back to Ukes Le Vain (meaning city of the bath)—there being a warm spring there and the Yanks started pushing back the Germans at this point. Sgt. Figlewski spent two weeks resting at KalaJarda and from here was sent back to Thelepe. From here the squadron went to Gafsa (there is an air oasis here) and it was at this place where the British and American forces met in Africa. This was the British Eighth Army which fought all the way across the desert. Ray's outfit then went to Le-Ser and operating from here it moved up to Korba near Tunis. Right here the African campaign ended. Figlewski returned to Algiers to get ready for the Sicilian invasion and remained there for three weeks. His next assignment took him to Carthage and Sicily starting the invasion there. Ray landed at Gela where he met Billy McGuire and he tells us Bill looked great. From here he went to Agrigento, Sicily—moved up to Palermo as the troops came up. Ray then flew to Italy and was in the invasion there. After this was over he flew home where he was discharged from the service having 141 points. Ray plans to rest for about a month and possibly may go on to school.

Ogilvie's Fine Record
S. Sgt. Alan Ogilvie took his basic training at Miami, Fla., and was a member of the anti-sub patrol outfit off the coast of Florida, Georgia and Carolinas. He attended Armament School in the Oldsmobile Factory, Lansing, Mich., and later received training in the Harlingen Gunnery School in Texas. Alan flew to England in March 1944 and completed thirty missions there. Fifteen of these were over France—three over Belgium and twelve over Germany. On some of where he visited an aunt who had lived in East Haven for about thirty years and then returned to her native Scotland. Sgt. Ogilvie also visited Capt. Johnny Maher in England who was at a base nearby. They happened to meet in Norwich, England one evening and found they had been very near each other for over a year without knowing it. He also met Gene Nitchke from East Haven who also was a member of his class at the high school. Alan brought back several souvenirs—a sword—M.M. shell and other things including money from eleven different countries. He is planning to enter the University of Connecticut in the fall where he hopes to take a pre-medical course in preparation for a veterinarian course at Cornell University.

All of us at the school grieved to hear about the death of Pfc. Fred Burdette of the United States Marine Corps, who was killed in Okinawa. Fred was a member of the class of '44.
Carl Farquharson of the U.S.S. Arthur Middleton visited us at the school during the past week. Carl took his boot training at Manhattan Beach and then attended sound school at New London. From New London he went to Boston, Mass., later to Providence, R.I. Carl also received further training at the Quartermaster School in New York. He has been in Honolulu and the South Pacific area. Carl has two battle stars for landings. He is now home for fifteen days.

Indian Congress Set For 4th At Park McLay

Chief Red Cloud, his wife, Little Star, and son, Frederick Red Cloud, arrived by trailer the past week to lay the groundwork for the second annual All-American Indian Congress to be held July 4 at Park McLay.

Chief Red Cloud has already been through representatives of the Onondaga, Mohawk, Cayuga, Winnebago, Hopi, Penobscot, and Micmac tribes stating they will be represented and it is also possible that Sioux warriors from the far west may be here for the dance.

The tepee village will be set up on the west side of the lake, as it was a year ago. The Buffalo Dance, a feature of the colorful program will take place in the amphitheatre above the lake while Indian games, Indian pony stunts, and bow and arrow contests will be held in the large rodeo enclosure which Harry McLay has developed at the northern section of the big park.

Chief Red Cloud is well versed in the lore of the Indians and was at one time connected with the Board of Education of New Jersey where he gave lectures on Indian traditions and life in the schools of the state. He was also connected with Buffalo Bill's famous Wild West Show and later with the equally famous 101 Ranch which toured the country each season.

While in East Haven last year he made an extensive study of the historical background of the region in which Park McLay is situated and it is his purpose to make the annual Indian Congress on the former hunting grounds of the Quinpians an annual feature which he hopes will draw increasing numbers of people including those of his own race, each year to East Haven.

The affair is one which East Haven will want to brag in making plans for the Fourth. As in the past the Congress will be a part of the big bonfire entertainment sponsored by the local Pequot Tribe, a fraternal organization built upon the principles of Indian tribal well-being.

In Five Major Battles Cpl. Bernard Luongo took his company through the basic training at Fort Bragg, N.C. Rhine and was in five major battles. From here he went to P.O.E. New York campaign. He was in Paris the day it was liberated and received a warm welcome. Bernie was a visitor at the school on the day we received the Minute-Man flag and gave a fine talk explaining just how the government used the money raised by War Bonds.

We were happy to hear that Sgt. Carleton Harrison has returned home after being held in a prisoner of war camp in Germany. He was a member of a B-24 crew and had made several missions over Germany before being captured.

Several of our boys in the service visited us during the past week. Bernie Luongo, Bill Brown, Bob Ayer, Ed DeBruy and Alderman and Big Ed Carey.

From Evan Davies Evan Davies writes from Chantute Field, Ill. "It has been a long time since I did any writing so I figure it is time to start in again. I have been receiving the School Bulletin and enjoy hearing about what the fellows are doing. Although I am with a good bunch of boys, I have not seen anybody from East Haven yet. This field is the one of the earliest I ever hope to be on. Every day one of the fellows gets himself in hot water and finds himself shined for R.P. Tomorrow it's my turn. After spending the past month going over records of almost everybody in the army and not finding what we had to know, a day's K.P. will be a break. We had a stand-by inspection the other night and then we were arrested. Remembering a while back when we used to send civilians cigarettes, it seems strange to be pooling all that are sent to us now and then dividing them. We may be on a strict rationing system, but I never worry as one of my buddies got me out on a top. Well, it's time for lights out so I will close this little note and send it on its way."

Editor's Note: This will be the final contribution of Servicemen's News by Principal William E. Page of the High school until the beginning of the fall term of school in September. In the meantime Mr. Pagestrom will be at the Boy Scout Camp at Camp Sequassen in Winsted where he will be assistant camp director under Commander Charles B. Blanchard of Branford. During the absence of Supt. Pagestrom we invite relatives of servicemen to send us just a line and let us help you write a card you'll enjoy sending!

In Five Major Battles Cpl. Bernard Luongo took his company through the basic training at Fort Bragg, N.C. Rhine and was in five major battles. From here he went to P.O.E. New York campaign. He was in Paris the day it was liberated and received a warm welcome. Bernie was a visitor at the school on the day we received the Minute-Man flag and gave a fine talk explaining just how the government used the money raised by War Bonds.

We were happy to hear that Sgt. Carleton Harrison has returned home after being held in a prisoner of war camp in Germany. He was a member of a B-24 crew and had made several missions over Germany before being captured.

Several of our boys in the service visited us during the past week. Bernie Luongo, Bill Brown, Bob Ayer, Ed DeBruy and Alderman and Big Ed Carey.

From Evan Davies Evan Davies writes from Chantute Field, Ill. "It has been a long time since I did any writing so I figure it is time to start in again. I have been receiving the School Bulletin and enjoy hearing about what the fellows are doing. Although I am with a good bunch of boys, I have not seen anybody from East Haven yet. This field is the one of the earliest I ever hope to be on. Every day one of the fellows gets himself in hot water and finds himself shined for R.P. Tomorrow it's my turn. After spending the past month going over records of almost everybody in the army and not finding what we had to know, a day's K.P. will be a break. We had a stand-by inspection the other night and then we were arrested. Remembering a while back when we used to send civilians cigarettes, it seems strange to be pooling all that are sent to us now and then dividing them. We may be on a strict rationing system, but I never worry as one of my buddies got me out on a top. Well, it's time for lights out so I will close this little note and send it on its way."

Editor's Note: This will be the final contribution of Servicemen's News by Principal William E. Page of the High school until the beginning of the fall term of school in September. In the meantime Mr. Pagestrom will be at the Boy Scout Camp at Camp Sequassen in Winsted where he will be assistant camp director under Commander Charles B. Blanchard of Branford. During the absence of Supt. Pagestrom we invite relatives of servicemen to send us just a line and let us help you write a card you'll enjoy sending!

The Public is invited to join with Totoket Grange and neighboring Grangers are especially invited to attend. There will be no admission fee, but a free will offering may be placed in a box which will be placed at the exit. In previous years this offering has been given to the U.S.O. This year it is planned to make this the initial gift toward a fitting war memorial. This will be further explained at the close of the program.

Local schools closed on last Friday for the summer recess. This week there are several local students graduating from the Hillhouse and Commercial High Schools, and even a greater number of students will complete their studies at the Fair Haven Junior High School.

Last week and attend one of the senior high schools next September.

The Seventh War Loan is yet lagging and those in charge urge even greater effort on the part of residents to place this drive, like previous ones, well over the top. A number of house-to-house canvassers are giving of their time to assist with the drive. Selections Douglas Holabird and William R. Wharfin are serving as chairmen in the Center and Totoket sections.

Mrs. William D. Nichols, librarian at the Atwater Memorial Library, and Miss Betty Thompson who assists with the book table, attended the members' tea of the New York Zoological Society at the administration building in New York on last Thursday afternoon.

Little Episodes From Old East Haven

By The Old-Timer

We old-timers here in East Haven are well waging with considerable interest the movement to have band concerts on the Town Green this summer because we remember the good times we used to enjoy when the band played there years ago. I don't suppose there are many of our 10,000 people who make up our town today who know that East Haven once had a very fine bandstand on the Green and each summer it was the center for many entertainments which brought joy to the Hills Village which East Haven then was.

That bandstand was built in circular form around the flagpole and it was raised about four feet from the ground. There was plenty of room for a full-band and there was a stair way leading up to it and a railing all around. It was roofed over by circular roof and it had a lot of those little gingerbread decorations that were so necessary for ornamentation back in the years immediately before and after the turn of the century. When the interest in bands died out the old bandstand began to be a neglected affair and to the best of my recollection it sort of disappeared around 1914 or 1915. In its latter days it suffered much when the Halloween season came and one year on the morning after "Spook Night" a row boat from East Haven was drifting their way and it was to the bandstand that it was quite a lot of interest in bands and many towns had bands of which the townspeople were justly proud. East Haven had a band of this kind and it not only gave band concerts on the Green in summer but it turned out on many special occasions and also competed with bands from other towns.

One of the best known of the band leaders here years ago was Mr. A. B. Dodge who had his home on Dodge avenue and the band used to practice out in the big Dodge kitchen. He kept a clothing store on the corner of State and Chapel streets in New Haven and was one of our town's best known citizens back in those days. Jim Farren used to play the bass drum and Sam Smith played the cymbals. Bert and Steve Bradley were also members of the band. Other names that come back to me now, and few of them are still with us include Fred Hawkins, Henry Thompson, Wally Potter and Wally Coker. There were others, because most of the young men of the town when Jim Kenneron who will deliver when 11 Mr. Brinley will be at the piano singing hymns. H. W. B.

FAIRMOUNT

The New Haven Methodist Ministers' Association held their annual picnic Monday afternoon with members of their families on the estate of H. H. Townsend.

The Sunshine Assembly met in the chapel Wednesday evening with Mrs. Harry Longyear and Mrs. Gertrude Carr as hostesses.

The Mothers' Club will meet at Grannis Corner Friday evening at 8:15 to take cars to the Compass at Indian Neck for their annual dinner.

Mrs. Alice Kelly has been at the New Haven Hospital for treatment. Harold Davis of Huntington avenue has enlisted in the U. S. Navy. At the St. Andrew's church Sunday at 11 Dr. John L. Gregory will preach on the subject, "John Wesley", Church school will be in the chapel at 10 A.M. A vote will be taken Sunday on the matter of keeping the church open during the August vacation period. S. A. Tourtelotte will be in charge and the tellers will be C. S. Bremner and A. N. McIntyre.

Branford War Council Demobilizes Protective Civilian War Services

Effective June 16—Several Squads Put Into Inactive Service To Conform With State Program—Volunteer Office Broken Up—Phones Removed.

Demobilization of the protective services of the Branford War Council became effective Saturday, June 16.

Earlier in the month, chairman Robert Richardson called a meeting of the local council for the purpose of partial demobilization according to directions from the administrator of the Connecticut War Council, Henry B. Male in a letter written May 17.

Included in the units disbanding are auxiliary firemen, auxiliary police, air raid wardens, bomb demobilization squads, bomb reconnaissance groups, demolition squads, transportation group, all of which are now put on inactive basis.

Dr. Ralph Cavallaro was instructed to keep in his possession a gas testing kit for emergency use.

Telephones have been removed from headquarters in the police station and properties and papers are to be properly disposed of.

Of an appropriation of $4500 from the town there is about $1398 remaining in the fund.

The foregoing action does not disband the entire War Council because some sections remain in action, chiefly the Salvage, War Bond, and Gardening groups.

By order of Major General Sherman Miles, commander of the General Eastern Defense the First Service Command rescinded orders on demobilization as of May 17. All camouflage or protective obscurement was rescinded on that date.

Pastor's Hymn To Be Given Congregation

Rev. Matthew G. Madden, pastor of the First Congregational Church, will present to each person in the congregation at the Sunday worship service at 10:45 a copy of his hymn entitled: "Splinters from the Cross!"

The following are the words:
Little headaches, little heartaches,
Little griefs of every day;
Little trials and vexations,
How they throng around our way.
One great cross, immense and heavy,
So it seems to our weak will,
Might be borne with resignation,
But these many small ones kill.

Yet all life is formed of small things,
Little leaves make up great trees,
Many tiny drops of water
Blending make the mighty seas.
So these many little burdens
Pressing on our hearts so hard,
All uniting form a life's work,
Meriting a grand reward.

Let us not then by impatience
Mar the beauty of the whole;
But for love of Jesus bear all
In the silence of the soul.
Asking Him for grace sufficient
To sustain us through each loss,
And to treasure each small offering
As a SPLINTER FROM HIS CROSS

Commercial Air Flying Forecast

John H. Tweed of Pine Orchard, manager of the New Haven Municipal Airport forecast a tremendous increase in commercial aviation for postwar years but held little hope for private flying for some time when he addressed the Branford Rotary Club at its regular weekly meeting which was held in the Old Towne Restaurant Monday.

Termining expense as the chief drawback to private aircraft Tweed nevertheless waxed enthusiastic as he appraised the field of the flying industry. Aside from the expense of owning the plane there are many additional costs, including meteorologist service, the manager of the New Haven airport said. He also expressed a conviction that the present municipal airport of New Haven would be supplemented by an additional field in the post war days to come.
