An Urgent Message from your Telephone Company

24.50 DELIVERED

Today and every day, troop transports and planes, loaded with thousands of servicemen returning from the war zones, are landing in this area.

The first thing these boys want to do is telephone home

Their calls are added to thousands of other urgent messages -calls necessary to plan the re-deployment of 3,500,000 fighting men . . . calls necessary to provide our forces in the Pacific with needed equipment. No wonder long distance telephone circuits are over-loaded.

All available equipment is in full use. Every available operator is on the job. Even so, long delays are frequent and many men who can't wait are disappointed. That's why we need

Won't you think of this before using your own telephone. Please make necessary calls only and keep them brief.

The silent gratitude of some returning serviceman will be your reward for leaving him an open circuit to his home on Main Street. U.S. A.

Well, no hard feelings.

I'll go wherever You say, and do whatever You want me to. For You know what's best for me.

But say, if You can only get the people back home to remember me, maybe they'll still bear down. Maybe they'll still send us their blood, still stay on the job, still keep making the stuff we need.

You see, God, I'd like to get home, too.
