Two Dollars Per Year

STRICTLY LOCAL

A LITTLE ABOUT THIS AND THAT

BY PAUL H. STEVENS

YEAR-ROUND BATTLE

The 1947 March of Dimes began Wednesday and runs through January 30—16 days. But throughout the year infantile paralysis attacks daily—and our doctors and scientists are still on the offensive against the malady. For 16 days we are afforded the opportunity to furnish year-round ammunition—to pit our dimes and dollars against a ruthless enemy of the nation and its children.

The polio virus is one of the most dreaded foes of American families. It strikes swiftly, silently, with scarcely perceptible warning, eating away nerve centers, wasting muscles, maiming limbs, taking lives.

Without unstinting contributions each year to the March of Dimes, the average American family would stand helpless against the onslaughts of polio.

Infantile paralysis presents a formidable picture in any family budget. The cost of caring for a patient averages about $1,000 a year—some cases up to $12,000—and stretching over extended periods of five, 10 and more years—involving hospitalization, often times surgery, in most cases physical therapy treatments, muscle substitution training and vocational rehabilitation.

Contributions to the March of Dimes have made possible a bulwark against financial anguish when polio strikes. Through gifts to the March of Dimes in the next 16 days, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will be enabled to fulfill its pledge of care and treatment for every polio victim, regardless of age, race, creed, color or lack of finances.

These dimes wage a great defensive war. More, they lead a frontal attack in research, allowing men of medicine to be over on the quest for better treatments and an eventual cure.

Last year our dimes marched against one of the most disastrous polio epidemics to sweep the nation since 1919, the worst in our country's history. When the final tally for 1946 is complete indications are that it will exceed 20,000 victims.

It is gratifying to know our gifts helped alleviate the mental and physical suffering of these victims and their families. It must be with added determination to win the fight against the dread malady that we pledge ourselves to support more fully than ever before the current March of Dimes.

A NOVEL OUT OF CONNECTICUT

We have just spent a week or two of delightful sparetime hours with that new historical novel, "Holdfast Gainses", the joint work of Odell Shepard, former Lieutenant Governor of Connecticut, and his talented son, Willard Shepard. There is no question that this novel, out of Connecticut, will take a permanent place in American fiction.

Covering the period, beginning with the burning by the British of New London in 1780, until the end of the War of 1812, with the defeat of the English by General Andrew Jackson in 1814, the action moves swiftly across the infant Union and the "Western Waters" beyond. The first part of the novel is laid wholly in Connecticut and the descriptions of the scenic countryside around Norwich and New London, and the Connecticut and Thames Rivers, of Mt. Machinoodus, the Devils Hopyard, Gungywamp, and familiar terrain, are delightful.

It is the story of Holdfast Gainses, gigantic Mohican, a nephew of Samson Ocum, the Indian preacher who founded Dartmouth. It is also the story of Capt. Samuel Chester, designer of the American flag, of Russell Bean, rifle maker and backwoodsman, of Gen. Andy Jackson, of Tecumseh and his evil brother the prophet, and a host of others. The book is chock full of lusty American life, east, west and south, and it is solidly based upon fact.

Usually the Indian has played a shady part in our fiction of the period. The Shepards give us a new, a lofty view of the Red Man, who in this novel rises to heroic and mythical proportions. It is a lusty tale of bloodshed and adventure. The cowardly slaughter of the defenders of Fort Griswold at Groton is especially blood chilling.

THE NEW STATE REGISTER AND MANUAL

There has come to our desk this week through the courtesy of Mrs. Charlotte Miller, one of our representatives in the General Assembly, a copy of the new Register and Manual for the State of Connecticut, a neat volume of 915 pages that contains a wealth of information and many pictures concerning our tight little state and its 169 towns. There are photographs and brief biographical sketches of national and state officers including all of our senators and representatives, pictures of the state seal, the state flower, the state bird (the Robin), the Charter Oak and of many of the state buildings.

We learn much about East Haven in this volume of facts, statistics and information. East Haven is, for instance, the 84th town to be organized. It was named in May 1707 but it was not until May, 1785 that it was incorporated from New Haven. East Haven was known originally as Iron Works Village. The area of the town is 8,069 acres and the population at the time of 1940 census was 9,094. There are 3 voting districts, 1,992 children, the grand list (for 1946) was $16,353,413, and the indebtedness, $432,000. Names of all the town officers are listed.

Statistics and information of all the towns, cities and boroughs are given, and there is a wealth of miscellaneous knowledge which requires an index of 35 pages to set forth. The Manual includes the texts of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States and of Connecticut, the Fundamental Orders of 1638 and the King Charles II Charter. Election statistics are also given, as is a map showing counties, congressional and senatorial districts and towns. Area, population, capitols and state officers of all the states of the Union are also included. All in all the Manual is a most valuable reference book.

Anastasio Directs March Of Dimes

The 1947 March of Dimes, annual fund raising drive of the national Foundation for Infantile Paralysis which sparkplugs the never-ceasing battle against polio, started Wednesday and will continue until Jan. 30. Matthew Anastasio has been appointed chairman for East Haven by Country Chairman Carl Taylor and the assistant chairman is Mrs. Milton Anderson.

The need for funds chairman Anastasio says, has never been greater, since the nation has just emerged from the worst epidemic of polio in the history of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, founded in 1938 to spearhead and coordinate the battle against this disease. "United States Public Health Service figures show," said Mr. Anastasio "that the 1946 polio epidemic is second only in severity to the great epidemic of 1916, the worst in recorded history. This means that not only were the Foundation and its chapters called upon as never before to supply expensive equipment, personnel and every other aid known to modern science to the stricken, but they still must assist those who have not yet achieved maximum recovery. And there are more of these than there have ever been before.

"The National Foundation also spent millions of dollars during 1946 in medical scientific research to trace the cause of infantile paralysis," Mr. Anastasio explained. "It will continue to do so until that cause is discovered and conquered. "The National Foundation also intends to pursue vigorously its far-reaching educational program to inform the public on precautions against the disease; what to do if and when polio strikes, and what your March of Dimes is prepared to do for every American, regardless of age, creed, color or race, stricken by the dread crippler—and that is to provide the best available care, regardless of cost, until maximum recovery is assured. "The people of East Haven in common with Americans everywhere," Mr. Anastasio went on, "have been most generous in the past in supporting the fight against infantile paralysis through the March of Dimes. Indications are that they will be even more generous this year because they know that this fight is their fight. They realize that the March of Dimes is their best insurance against polio—and that the battle will go on in the laboratory until final victory is won and infantile paralysis joins the other great scourges of mankind unmasked and disarmed by knowledge. "The annual March of Dimes," Mr. Anastasio concluded, "is the only means the National Foundation has for financing its battle against infantile paralysis."

Leaching Block Production Is Started Here

Anthony Ferraiola and son of Prospect place extension, designers and builders of cast stone memorials, burnes, benches etc., has started the production of a new type of cast stone block to be utilized in the building of residential and industrial sewage plants in unsewered areas. The Ferraiola cast stone leaching block is a development upon which Mr. Ferraiola has been at work for some time. It has received approval of engineers and sanitarians as an important contribution to good sanitation.

Similar to a cinder block such as is used in construction work, the leaching block has several round openings which allows the effluent from the cesspools or dry well to leach away rapidly. The blocks will take the place of stone in leaching wells and will eliminate the frequent disorder of cesspools, plugging up of leaching space. The cast stone has been tested out at the Yale Department of Engineering. The blocks are being made in two types, one for square cesspools and the other for round cesspools. Preparations are being made for quantity production.

More About Teacher's Salaries

No Place In School System For The Methods Of 1915—Progress In Educational Field.

by Wm. E. Gillis Superintendent of Schools We hear and read much about how important education is in a democracy. It should follow that those who carry out the educational program should be important and should be people of proper training and calibre. To secure and retain such people is no small problem to the community which has many children to educate and what seems to be an inadequate amount of money to maintain a school system.

There are some who feel that the teacher is well paid in view of the length of the school day and of the school year. The question as to how many hours a day a teacher works is controversial. A good teacher has to plan the work of every day thoroughly. She also must correct the work done by the pupils. When this work is done conscientiously the day's work is as long, if not longer, than that of the ordinary worker. She does not finish her work at three o'clock any more than does the employee of a bank. The teacher is not paid during the summer but many spend six weeks during that period in taking courses in order to keep up with modern methods. True some of the modern methods may not be as good as those we have been using, but we must try them to find out, if they are recommended by specialists in the field of education. We cannot afford to stick to the methods of 1915 any more than the garage mechanic can limit his ability to the repair and servicing of nothing more modern than a model T Ford.

Work is not always measured in terms of hours. There is the element of skill, of responsibility, and of nerve strain. Most workers are lone wolves who have only themselves to depend on if they take a little time out now and then. Because of our system of public education each teacher has thirty or forty pupils dependent on her at all times during the day. If the teacher wishes to take five minutes or more out for relaxation she must keep in mind that to let up for a minute may be disastrous. Constant vigilance is necessary. At the end of the day most teachers are mentally fatigued by the constant application to instructing pupils in things which to her are perfectly clear but which are unknown elements to the youngsters.

From observation over a number of years I would say that teaching is tiring and that the teachers, or at least 99 44/100% of them, apply themselves conscientiously to the task at hand so that they are deserving of as much remuneration as workers of other professions.

Health Group Hears Talk By Dr. Battelli

At the regular monthly meeting of the Public Health Nursing Association on January 7, Dr. Clement Battelli of New Haven spoke on the Tuberculosis program which has been developed and is progressing so rapidly in New Haven. Dr. Battelli was introduced by Miss Florence L. Parker, school nurse, gave statistics to prove the still imperative need of discovery, through X-ray of the early stages of the disease.

East Haven's recent X-ray program was very successful considering that it was the first of its kind held here, but it is felt that much more can and should be done in this respect. The public health with the value and need of early diagnosis. Dr. Battelli invited East Haven to consider joining the New Haven Tuberculosis Association, and receiving the benefit of New Haven's several years of experience in this line of work.

Selections from the Bible include the following: "Life is life, and the length of thy days." (Deuteronomy 30:20) Correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 482): "Life is neither in nor of matter. Life is divine Mind."

HEALTH OFFICER WARNS AGAINST MONOXIDE GAS

Dr. Rocco Boce, East Haven Health Officer, this week warned of the danger of carbon monoxide in closed garages and quoted a bulletin from the State Department of Health as follows:

"Despite repeated warnings about the dangers of carbon monoxide, all too often we still hear of narrow escape—and even deaths—due to air contaminated with this insidious gas. Cold weather increases the danger. You have to take special care then not to inhale confined air fouled by exhaust gases from automobile engines and faulty heating apparatus. This can be done by being vigilant in ventilation."

"Automotive engineers say that it's a good idea to 'warm-up' the engine in your car for a few minutes before driving in cold weather. But before stepping on the starter in the family garage, there's an even more important step for you to take. Open wide your garage doors to the outside air. By warming up the car you help protect its mechanical parts, but your protection should first be opening the garage for ventilation, you protect your body mechanism by preventing poisonous accumulation of carbon monoxide gas when the motor starts."

"Don't think for a minute that your senses of smell, taste, or sight will warn you beforehand of this danger. Deadly carbon monoxide can't be detected so easily. When pure, it is colorless, odorless, and tasteless. It is highly poisonous because it combines with the coloring matter of blood faster than can oxygen. Further, blood that is filled with carbon monoxide can't take up oxygen. Just how deadly the gas is can be judged from the fact that exposure to an atmosphere containing two-tenths of one per cent will cause a man at rest—the car to warm up in the winter within an hour. Exposure to as little as five-hundredths of one per cent can cause a headache within a few hours. Different people are affected differently; a person at work will be overcome much quicker than one at rest.

"Symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning come without warning, and collapse of the person exposed to the gas may prove fatal unless outside aid arrives soon. A running car engine would continue to generate carbon monoxide and continue to make the air more poisonous. If you should ever find a person overcome in a garage, throw the windows and doors wide open and at once remove the patient to fresh air. Call a doctor and while awaiting his arrival give artificial respiration continuously until the doctor arrives or until natural breathing is restored."

NEW TROLLEY BUS STATION APPRECIATED
And have you noticed the new waiting station at the Short Beach Road Bus Stop? And a complete built-in heat, benches and everything!

Much of the credit for having it erected is due to the efforts of the genial starter on duty there mornings and at early evening.

His name is Joe Botts, but most everyone calls him "Kilroy". I have it on good authority he informed Connecticut Co. officials, who insisted it would soon be destroyed by vandals, that he knew the people in this section and that we could be counted on to do our part to prevent and report any acts of vandalism.

My good friends, both trolley-men, Vaughn Brennan and "Red" Fitzgerald (How did those two get in the car for a ride?) told me that "Kilroy" also tried to get the company to install a coffee-warmer and free smokes, but the Co. felt they had to draw a line somewhere.

Garden Notes

All winter long the trees stand bare. The cold twigs rattle in the storm. I see them black and silent there. And wonder if their sleep is warm.

Edgar A. Guest

The V. T. Hammer Bird Room at the Library will be open to the public, Tuesday, January 21 from 3 to 5 P. M. Hostesses: Mrs. Arthur W. Bowman and Mrs. George D. Bletcher. Visitors are asked to use the Cedar Street entrance.

Bird House Competition for grade pupils in Branford schools is being sponsored by the club. Entries are to be left at the Bird Room, when completed. Two prizes, first and second will be awarded. It is hoped there will be a large number of bird houses entered.

Rev. Brocher's noted bird pictures will be on exhibition in the Bird Room on opening days. These pictures are very beautiful and will be changed from time to time from the collection. Audubon Bird Guide, Eastern Land Birds, by Richard H. Pough.

The growing number of fine bird books on the bookshelves leaves the amateur scarcely any avenue for falling to make the acquaintance of bird life common in his vicinity. A special merit of this latest guide is that everyone of the 275 species described has been illustrated in color by a brilliant young bird artist, Don Eckelberry. The text gives details of identification marks, habits, notes, nest and range. Pough is a research associate of the Audubon Society, and the merit of the book is attested by the society's official sponsorship.

Where credit is due—

At a Flower Show, a new variety of rose was awarded one of the coveted prizes. The modest rose cultivator, who had grown it stood on the platform to receive the award while at his side the chairman extolled the loveliness of the blooms. "See what exquisite beauty God has created!" The little old man nudged him gently, and whispered, "Remember, I helped!"

Max Schilling is offering Martagon lilies for the first time since before the war. One of the handsomest lilies in cultivation. Fine spikes of glossy purple refleted flowers, 25 to 40 per stem, to a height of 5 to 6 feet, blossoming in late July. Also two new petunias, "Fringed Snowstorm" a beautiful sport of the popular "Fringed Snowstorm" with blossoms all delicately fringed. Pure glistening white flowers 2 1/2 to 3 inches across. Footse Seated On Committee Of Currency

Already gaining prominence as a "baby" Congressman, United States Representative Ellsworth B. Foote (R) of the Third District of Connecticut, was the only New England member to gain a seat on the all-important Committee on Banking and Currency of the 80th Congress. Under the new Reorganization Act adopted by the 79th Congress, Representative serves on only one Committee, thus enabling him to devote his time and energies to one goal. The Act cut the Committee from 48 to 19 thus providing a more efficient and workable system. The plan will help to make Congress more efficient and workable. The plan will help to make Congress more efficient and workable. The plan will help to make Congress more efficient and workable.

The honor which has been bestowed upon me," said Foote, in accepting his seat on the Committee on Banking and Currency, "is a great honor which I feel is a reflection of the confidence of my fellow citizens. I feel it is my duty to serve them to the best of my ability. I feel it is my duty to serve them to the best of my ability. I feel it is my duty to serve them to the best of my ability."

At a Flower Show, a new variety of rose was awarded one of the coveted prizes. The modest rose cultivator, who had grown it stood on the platform to receive the award while at his side the chairman extolled the loveliness of the blooms. "See what exquisite beauty God has created!" The little old man nudged him gently, and whispered, "Remember, I helped!"

40,000 GOOD JOBS A MONTH IN THE REGULAR ARMY

Your Regular Army has the big task of guarding the Nation and the peace. And it must do it with a minimum of manpower—a keen, well-trained, streamlined force.

There's no place for second-rate men on this team. It takes good physical condition and mental alertness. But for young men who can measure up to these standards there are 40,000 first-class jobs opening up each month.

WHAT NOTS

Branford's population was 1800 in 1756. Miss Catherine Donato appointed attendance officer from March 1 to a school of school year. Breezy Whortleberry says maybe a dollar won't go as far these days, but it gets there a lot faster.

It's hard the man who runs the show writes in the November-Commuter Circle on Connecticut at the Motor Boat Show Among the other nice things he says about our state is: "One of the most active outboard groups in the entire country is the Connecticut Outboard Association, headed by the energetic Walter Haller of Short Beach." Paul J. Bibrante, of Branford, is a nationally known outboard expert. Much of this is devoted to the Show which reminds us that we have neglected for a long time to comment on the Connecticut Circle and regret we did not file every issue toward a complete history of our state. The pictures alone are worth the price. Our good friend Harry Morse is publisher.

Our veterans go to school, too

Many veterans returning to the telephone company head straight for the classroom. The purpose, of course, is to bring them up to date on the many developments and improvements since they went away. For example, there's a special class for telephone installers, one for cable splicers, another on line construction. Having personnel that know their jobs thoroughly helps us to give you the best possible telephone service — at the lowest possible cost.

The Branford Review and East Haven News believes that no one knows more about the problems of young people and what should be done about them than young people themselves. The whole object of this campaign is to make our town a better place for you—the boys and girls and young men and young women who are soon to take over our jobs, to run our town, our factories, our stores.

So this contest is to give you an opportunity to tell us the answer to this question: "How Can We Make Branford and East Haven a Better Place for Youth?" You can write a letter on any subject or suggestion which you believe will help accomplish this purpose.

Don't hesitate to criticize as well as recommend. We want you to tell us what's wrong with our town from your viewpoint, as well as what you think should be done about it. Don't worry about fancy writing or spelling. What we want is your ideas. You can write them in a letter of any length from 10 to 300 words.

Letters entered in the contest can be on any subject or subjects, provided they come under the general heading of "How to Make Branford and East Haven a Better Place for Youth." Here are a few suggestions of subjects you might write on:

1. What we need in the way of parks, playgrounds, swimming, skating, indoor sports, dancing and other recreational facilities for young people.
2. How can we make our streets, schools, homes and other places safer and better for young people?
3. What kind of organizations should we have for young people which we don't already have. How can the organizations we do have do a better job?
4. What's right and what's wrong with our town government from the standpoint of young people. Our police department? Our schools?

The best letters written, in addition to winning prizes for their writers, will be published in the Branford Review and East Haven News, and all the material gathered through this contest will be studied and made available to all persons and organizations interested in the welfare of the young people of Branford and East Haven.

As Mr. Brinley Sees It

THE LORD'S PRAYER
"Our Father, which art in heaven" Beautiful words, soul inspiring, mind uplifting, some thing which we possess, that belongs to us. A majestic, glorious presence, enthroned on high, with an affirmation, what a declaration to make, and to know that it is so, for one of great authority said it was so, and gave his permission for us to approach this Deity, with these beautiful words, if our earthly fathers, were always as they should be, we should instantly see the resemblance between them and the greater and more powerful Father, seated in the heavens and guiding all that He has created safely. Our earthly fathers are our light, they are our power for protection during our feeble childhood and growing years, their love enfolds us, and as much as their limited care can do, their protective presence watches over us, and what our earthly Father, does in more and greater completeness. "Hallowed be thy name, with reverence and holiness and just adoration, we honor thy name, so thou hast commanded us in the great Ten Commandments, to give honor to our earthly Father. We are commanded to pray, "Thy kingdom come," why should this phrase be in this prayer, if the Kingdom were already here? We only pray for things which are not and when they are, we cease to pray for them. We want the ideal kingdom of God to come on this earth, so that we who were created for this earth, shall enjoy the glorious peace, contentment and security, which the kingdom promises, we desire, that "Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. The only begotten Son of God, never failed to do the will of his Father, men to the shameful death on cross. The will of finite beings have failed, it has produced envy, hatred, jealousy, murder and death, we pray that the will of our heavenly Father should be done on earth. We request of our earthly Fathers, bread, food, sustenance, and they work and toil hard to give it to us, and so of God, we pray, "Give us this day our daily bread," give us the portion of spiritual food to feed our souls. We sin against the rules

Gen. Knox Says

I see where the company that started a factory for furnishing and buffing out on West Main street has moved out of town, because they couldn't find a place in which to expand their business. Now I don't think that East Haven can afford to lose any industries that want to settle here. As I see it we ought to have a few tiny little industries here. They would add to our tax income and at the same time give employment to folks. But I can't say that for many others that I know would like to see residential areas broken up by hit or miss placing of noisy and smelly factories. There's a place or should be for everything. Our zoning laws have set aside locations where industries can locate. Perhaps these factory sites are in the wrong locations because I haven't seen any great rush by industries to build or locate here. Now it seems to me that the people who started the factory out on West Main street had ought to be told by the proper official or officials that they were in a restricted zone. If they were and that would have prevented any misunderstandings and trouble. Nobody can blame me.

Deadline Nears For Recruiting

The United States Army Recruiting Station, 216 Crown Street, New Haven, announced today that the deadline for direct appointment as commissioned officers in the Army of the United States of qualified individuals to serve as investigators or interrogators in Europe has been extended to March 31, 1947.

Applications for appointment with recommendation of the examining board or officers must be forwarded through channels to the Personnel and Training Branch, Civil Affairs Division, War Department Special Staff and must reach that division not later March 17, 1947 in order to receive consideration.

Announcement of appointments in the regular army under provisions of WD Circular 289, cs, the first increment under the second regular army officer integration program will be announced the last week in January. Individuals to be included in this list are being selected from the high score applicants whose completed records were first available to the War Department. The inclusion of an individual in the January increment will not preclude future acceptance of any applicant with equal or higher qualifications. It is anticipated the second increment will be announced in about three or four months.

"GOOD FOR THE GOOSE — as well as for the gander!"

MEN—don't get the idea that the Electric Blanket was invented just to solve the problem of keeping Milady's little tootsies warm! Nothing could be farther from the facts. No siree, the Electric Blanket is for everybody and it is finding just as enthusiastic an acceptance by men as by women—everywhere!

Look at the man in the picture above. See that smile of sleep satisfaction. He retired to a warm bed that was preheated by his Electric Blanket. No cold sheets to cause him to fold up in an uncomfortable position. No pile of heavy blankets to burden him. All through the night, with an open window for fresh air, he will sleep in soothing warmth at just the right temperature—no matter what the weather does!

Here is one of the greatest contributions ever made toward winter comfort in the American home. If you know someone who has an Electric Blanket ask him all about it. There are numerous dealers handling electric appliances who now sell Electric Blankets. They can give you a complete story of this marvelous new way to better sleep.
