Two Dollars Per Year

STRICTLY LOCAL

A LITTLE ABOUT THIS AND THAT

BY PAUL H. STEVENS

OUR HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARY

(A guest editorial by Bernice Hall)

"To consult with the wisest and greatest of men
To use books rightly"

—John Ruskin

Our Library at East Haven High School is today using the above motto in the development of the reading program. We are opening the door to the world's best literature and find many of the boys and girls are gladly becoming acquainted with the works of the great writers. For the whole school year of 1942-43 our records show that 2,691 books were borrowed from the library. During the months of January and March this year, 1947, 2,422 books and magazines were taken from the room.

The Library is strategically located in the center of the building on the second floor and seats approximately sixty pupils. A monthly schedule of classes is arranged with definite periods assigned to Social Studies, English and Problems of Democracy classes. This gives all pupils an equal chance to use books and magazines to supplement the text book. Several periods are left free each month for teachers who may wish to plan a class visit from any other field of study.

Instruction is given regularly by the librarian covering 1) Conduct in any library, 2) Practice in use of encyclopedias, biographical reference books, poetry indexes, and other special books which are found in libraries, 3) Use of magazines and guides to them and 4) How to use a card catalog. Other library aids are explained and taught as individual, or class need arises. It is customary to give the instruction in the English classes and direct application of knowledge is made in connection with work in Social Sciences.

Tables in the library are reserved for groups of students who may be studying there each period.

A file of college catalogs is kept in a small room off the main part of the library. Pupils planning to go to college may come here and consult the catalogs when time allows. Many pupils make use of this collection and also many returning from armed services have found it handy. A file of occupational material is continually being added to and is consulted by boys and girls choosing their life work.

We are keeping a file of material on Connecticut and also have a file of the Pioneer from 1940. If there is anyone in East Haven who would be willing to contribute issues before that year to the permanent file in the High School Library, they would be very welcome.

Our School Library is growing. We have nearly 3,000 books for use by students, and we are glad to add that the collection is used by parents also. Recently a boy asked for an easy bookkeeping book for his parents who wanted to set up a system for their business. Our requests vary from information to help with school work, to questions on the treatment for a poultry disease, and as librarians are planned and organized for service we always do our best to find the answer.

50 CAMPAIGNS IN YEAR

We were interested in a section of the annual report of the New Haven Chamber of Commerce, just published, dealing with "Solicitations" in which it was reported that the Committee on Solicitations received 51 requests for approval for fund-raising campaigns during the 12 months period. That is a lot of "drives", we would say, and too many. Obviously the Solicitations Committees thought so too, because they declined to approve eight of the campaigns, and seven others were voluntarily withdrawn when it was demonstrated to the sponsors that their campaigns were not really in the best interests of the public, or else, campaign expenses were too high.

We were also interested in learning that the seven members of the Chamber committee, which acts on fund-raising plans, is anonymous. They receive the information, go over it carefully, and approve or reject without fear of "reprisals" from the disgruntled.

Since September the committee increased its scope so as to include all campaigns in the Greater New Haven area. Under this expanded program, the committee has made some progress in getting inflated campaign goals reduced and elimination of some conflicts on campaign periods, but with over 50 campaigns in less than a year, some conflicts are inevitable. The committee, we are glad to learn, is "concerned" with the multiplicity of campaigns.

WE EAT A "BETTER BREAKFAST"

It was our privilege and pleasure to attend the "Better Breakfast" served in the New Haven Y.W.C.A. one morning last week as the opening event in the Greater New Haven Better Breakfast Campaign, sponsored by various health agencies of the New Haven Council of Social Agencies. Forty-two sat down to enjoy the "Better Breakfast" which consisted of orange juice, cereal and milk, corn muffins, coffee, scrambled eggs and sausage. Needless to say after partaking of the "Better Breakfast" we were in no mood for our mid-morning doughnuts and coffee, and in poor appetite for Rotary Luncheon at noon.

We fear that like the great majority our breakfast habits are not what they should be, and it is encouraging to see movements underway which will point the way for better and more nourishing breakfasts.

Here in East Haven the campaign is being carried on by the Public Nursing Association. Some six or seven other communities of the Greater New Haven Area are also cooperating, and the health agencies are being assisted by the Red Cross, the milk industry and several of the large food organizations in helping to make the campaign the success that it merits.

Reassessment Started Here By Horan Co.

It was announced at the Town Hall this week that work has been started on the reassessment of all property in the town of East Haven.

The reassessment is being done by the George Horan Company of New Haven with a staff of office and field experts on hand to go over the properties and bring assessments into line.

This work is in accordance with the law insisting on reassessment every ten years. It was delayed for one year because of the post-war conditions, an extension having been granted by the State Tax Commissioner. The new grand list upon which the taxes for next year will be levied at the annual town meeting in October will be predicated upon the assessments to be set up in the present survey.

PLAN CONTEST

The merchants in the Olson Block, opposite the Library who are now celebrating their first anniversary there, are planning a contest in which a prize of fifty dollars will be awarded to the person submitting the name to be chosen for the new block. Details of the contest will be given in next week's issue together with some of the anniversary offerings of these stores which include The Dean Shop, Graves Sport Shop, Anderson Auto Accessories, East Haven Radio Co., and John P. Morgan.

Blue and Gold Show Tonight and Friday

All roads lead this Thursday and Friday to the High School Auditorium scene of this season's annual Blue and Gold Varsity Show of the High School.

The advance sale of tickets has been large and a record attendance is looked for at this colorful, tenuous event which is so eagerly looked forward to by so many.

It is a show of hits from curtain rising to finale and no one should miss it.

Vaccination Is Urged Here By Health Officer

Dr. Rocco Bove, health officer, is in receipt of a letter from Dr. Eugene C. Lamoureux, of the State Health Department pointing out the need for vaccination against smallpox following a recent outbreak in New York. The letter follows:

"Smallpox is present in New York City following the death of a 50 year old Mexican importer on March 10, 1947. From this initial case, 12 others cases have appeared. Four of these cases are located in Millbrook, New York, which is not far from the Connecticut border. At present, the New York City health authorities as well as the New York State health authorities assure me that the outbreak is localized to contacts of the original cases at the Willard Parker Hospital, New York, no cases having been reported in the city proper.

"This is the first time smallpox has appeared in New York since 1939. At that time, smallpox spread

Lavish Changes Completed At Old Momauguin

Those who have visited the new Carnivale's Colonade at Momauguin this spring have been surprised and delighted at the complete modernization which has been brought to completion there by the new owner, A. J. Carnevale, who acquired the Momauguin Hotel properties formerly owned by the Connecticut Company, a year ago.

The entire structure, which had suffered heavy damage from the hurricane of a few years ago, has been completely renovated and restored at a cost of approximately $50,000. The huge dining room has been made into one of the bright spots of the Connecticut shore and a wide and spacious veranda has been built above the beach facing Long Island Sound. The bar room has been completely done over, with the handsome handcrafted Germanic Bar which holds many memories of other days, completely restored. The kitchen has been thoroughly modernized and equipped.

An evidence of the facilities of the new establishment was the serving of 500 members and guests of the Teamster's Union at a banquet Saturday night. Mr. Carnevale reports heavy bookings throughout May and June with the months of July and August reserved largely for the transient trade. Operated for many years by the late Theodore Swift the new hostelry promises to be one of Connecticut's showplaces this season.

to Connecticut from New York State.

Many towns and certain cities have not required vaccination of children entering the public schools, so there must be numerous members of such communities unprotected. I should also like to advocate at this point that all people who have not been vaccinated within the past 5 years should be revaccinated to obtain immunity in order to protect them against smallpox if they go to places where the disease exists.

"The state department of health is making every effort to obtain a supply of vaccine to serve your needs. Be on the watch for smallpox and also hemorrhagic disease with a rash which may be smallpox."

Down Memory Lane 25 YEARS AGO

Frank, Edith and Bobbie Johnson were ill at their home with the Measles.

70 Years Of Public Health Nursing

Movement Begun In 1877 Has Spread To All Parts Of The Country

The week of April 20-26 is being observed as Public Health Nursing Week, celebrating the 70th Anniversary of Public Health Nursing in the United States, and the 35th Anniversary of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing.

Although "public health nurse" is the correct professional name, public health nurses are also known as visiting nurses, health department nurses, community nurses, school nurses, industrial nurses, frontier nurses.

Principal organizations giving public health nursing services—Health Departments, Boards of Education, Visiting Nurse Associations, Industrial plants.

Public health nurses assist in showing individuals and families how to protect their own health, and so help prevent needless sickness and suffering.

Public health nurses help private physicians and health officers break the chain of infection, and so help to save many communities from the scourge of epidemic and contagious disease.

Public health nurses teach families to secure early medical diagnosis and treatment for the sick and so help save lives.

Visiting nurses give or demonstrate bedside nursing care to people who are sick at home, and teach other members of the family to give necessary care.

Public health nurses save many thousands of dollars in tax funds by helping families to ward off sickness before it starts and to check the spread of a disease in the family and in the community.

65,000 public health nurses will be needed during the next ten years if the nation is to have adequate health protection.

8,000 more public health nurses are needed immediately. 23 cities and towns of 10,000 or more in population and 1,133 counties still have no public health nursing.

Public health nurses are now serving one out of every six families in the United States.

Public health nurses made 16,200,000 home visits last year. Of these 12,125,000 were to persons living in cities of 50,000 or more population.

Although it's still a long way off don't forget the Rummage Sale of the Ever Ready Group at the Stone church to be held Thursday, the first class, and we look for some fine parts for all of them in future offerings by this talented local organization. We thought, too, that the characterization of Mrs. Webb, the "daily woman" in the rector's home, was exceptionally well done. Frances Harvey, accent and all, appeared only briefly, and that at the beginning of the play, but long enough to show her disgust at the servant woman both collectively and individually of the Jarrows and their manners and behavior.

Considerable praise for the production goes to Del Dover, the stage manager and to Vincent Scallise and Bill Cummings, his assistants, also to Betty French who had charge of costumes. Quite responsible make-up, and Richard Reissig, Vera Gessner, Dorothy Cummings, Harold Keeler who had charge of properties. Others in the production personnel were Lillian Hinder, in charge of publicity and programs; Harold Hall and Eleanor Siemens, in charge of tickets; and Beatrice Hawtin, who served throughout the rehearsals and the presentations as prompter.

The ushers were Eleanor Grandshaw, Kathryn Robbins Carol Keeler and Mary Pringle.

Credit goes to Nils Ahlberg of the Old Mill Antique Shop who supplied the furnishings of the Jarrow household, and the East Haven Radio Company which loaned its public address system.

These who saw the Granite Minister in North Haven will recall that one man won a live duck as a prize. The story reaches Branford that the man lived in an apartment house and had a feeling the owner would object to his keeping a duck in the kitchen and he had the bright idea of giving the prize to the landlord. The duck made such a racket that he was in Dutch to buy a mule for a live poultry market to buy a mule for the bird. Now all's well. Mrs. Carl Gullitt who came home with a crate of live baby chicks please note. You are being watched.

In the 1888 the infant prodigy Josef Hefner withdrew from concert stages because of impaired health. "I am not a machine. I have played at fifty two concerts, and am too tired to do any out." North side spring blossoms took it on the stem when cold hit Monday night. His Nibs playing had been in the garden and he had the tree tops and fell into the chimney another has gone into a drain and when he doesn't "catch" get pretty mad and yell out, "Can't you through it straight! And there are bi-hourly demands for a catcher's mit."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"As Homelike As a Barn"

Cy Hartman finally got his new barn painted, but plenty of folks had a hand in it. Whenever someone got a free day, or a little extra time, they'd come over and help out with paint and brush.

And Cy, to show his appreciation, held a big "barn warming" Saturday—for all the folks who'd helped him (but not hating those who couldn't). His Hartman supplied sandwiches, and Cy rolled out a mellow keg of beer.

You never think of a barn as "homelike." But with those lanterns hanging from the rafters; makeshift tables spread heavy with food; and Ed Carey's fiddle playing while the folks enjoyed their beer—Cy's barn was sure a mighty hospitable-looking place!

From where I sit, it's just about as appropriate to have a barn warming as a housewarming.

If only because it's another chance to get neighbors together in a spirit of good fellowship.

Yes, take a good look, folks. Miss Cost-of-Living certainly is inflated, isn't she? Now look at little Mr. Price-of-Electricity. Some difference!

But let's leave the side-show for a moment and look at the facts. Over the same period of time that the cost of living has been going UP and UP, the price of electricity has been coming DOWN and DOWN.

Voter Sees A Need To Plan Now For Sewers

Editor Stevens: Could you shed any light on this subject?

As you know a few years ago the town of East Haven was sited in a damage suit by a property owner in the West End of the town. This suit was for damages for pollution of a stream caused by over flow of cesspools and bad sanitary conditions. The town, I believe, paid a damage claim. Now in reading your annual report, I note, that in the past few years we have spent several thousand dollars for a study or survey of our sewer problems. I thought that we might do as many other towns have done, that is, establish a sewer district so that we might study and install a proper system.

I believe, we should have some statement, either in our annual report or from the first selectmen, on just what we used this money for.

As you know in cases of an epidemic the state authorities could compel the installation of a proper sewerage system on very short notice.

An Independent Voter P. S.: Could this be a deliberate stall? The legislature meets every two years and this would require a special act for the town to proceed.

Gartland Says Democrats Will Keep Probing

Editor Stevens: It is very gratifying to me to receive scores of letters of appreciation and encouragement from residents of the town commending the efforts of the Democratic Town Committee to pierce the "Iron Curtain" behind the present Republican administration in the Town Hall conducts the taxpayers business.

Some of those who have written are staunch Republicans, Democrats, and a goodly number of independent voters who expressed a strong feeling of disgust with the extravagance and foolish antics of those in office.

To these and the other taxpayers of the town and particularly the "Independent Voter" who has used the columns of your paper in the past we wish to say that our program to bring the facts home to the taxpayers has been established for some time. We will continue to unfold the information we have through paid advertisements and special articles in the East Haven News.

The recent suggestion of "Independent Voter" to have the house-views of East Haven got a copy of the Town Report for the year ending September 30, 1946, is an excellent one. Copies may be had, free in Town Clerk's office at the Town Hall.

In this connection we have just completed negotiations for an expert on municipal accounting. This is a graduate of one of our leading professional schools of accounting. After graduation he served on the faculty of the college, for a number of years.

Lanphier's Cove GRANITE BAY

John Oros of Double Beach Road has returned home from the hospital.

Andrew Hume of Maine called on friends here Monday, Mr. Hume who made his home in Sherwood Street moved to Maine 24 years ago.

Historic House Sold Mr. and Mrs. Clifford V. Peterson have purchased from Wyle Grant of New York the three acre property known as the Charlie Lanphier place.

Mr. Peterson plans extensive repairs which have already been commenced.

There is historical interest in the ten room house as there are marks on the front door said to have been caused by Indian arrows.

Benedict Arnold's men came ashore at the cove for water at the spring and went through this house in search for valuables and food.

The Lanphiers had been prepared for his arrival so had taken every precaution to safeguard their property and family.

In later years summer vacationists found the house a pleasant spot to visit and the rooms overlooking the harbor were always in demand.

The Lanphiers had been vacating last month and the new owners moved in on Saturday.

Flowers on the Altar at Trinity Church Sunday were given in memory of George W. Taylor and Beatrice C. Taylor by Lillian Callahan.

As Mr. Brinley Sees It

The ships that off pass in the night, not a trace, that is left, at the dawn Give no help to the soul in the storm No rope, to the weary, forlorn.

'Tis not in the sermon, so long, Even yet in the prayer, sweet and deep, The singer in solid stirring song, May bring us the comfort, we need.

'Tis not in the hand shaking clasp, Nor the smile, that is beauty, complete.

It is just to have near a dear friend, That speaks deeper than words we repeat.

'Tis not with the gifts, that they bring, To the Church, that they love, While they sing, 'Tis the thoughts, and the actions and speech, Which draws kindred souls, where they meet.

The ways of the world, how they wind, And the pleasures of sin, and the wine, How it goes to the head, stilling mind And the things that are great often pine.

The hills in our life, that we climb, The bridges we cross when we must, Are most times the fears of the night, Come down, we are brave, there is trust.

Surrounding, is God and His light, Enfolded, the love, deep and strong, The power of God, which is might, His presence, no soul could go wrong.

Harry W. Brinley

Grannis Corner

Friends of Mrs. E. C. Carpenter formerly of East Haven now living in New Port N. H. will be glad to hear Mrs. Carpenter has returned to her home, after spending several weeks in the Hospital. We all wish Mrs. Carpenter a speedy recovery.

Mr. W. A. Sheahan of Philadelphia Pa. spent the week end visiting his sister and family Mrs. Charles Powell of 222 Parken Ave.

The members of the St. Andrews Church were most happy to welcome the new members, Mrs. I. Miller and two daughters, Lorraine and Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ford.

Steel protects its workers

Steel mills have been leaders in the safety movement for 40 years

THE FAMOUS slogan "Safety First" was born in a steel company nearly 40 years ago. That's when Steel started the first organized safety campaign in the world.

But safety is more than a slogan in the steel industry—nine out of ten accidents that used to happen in steel mills don't happen any more.

Working as a team, management and employees together have made steel jobs so safe that after reviewing the recent figures, The National Safety Council says: "Workers in steel plants run less risk of accidents per hour on the job than they do per hour in their automobiles."

Christian Science begins its fundamental mission by resolving the things of material sense, that is, the things we see, hear, feel, smell, and taste, into the spiritual ideas or thoughts which they symbolize.

Spiritual Ideas Are Comprehended Symbolically. "Spiritual teaching," Mrs. Eddy informs us (Science and Health, p. 676), "must always be by symbols; and a symbol is something which stands for something else. When the account of God's creation given in the first chapter of Genesis is read, we find names which mortal mind interprets materially given to the different ideas of creation, such as stars, whales, animals, birds, grass, trees, fruit, herbs, and finally man. God's creation must be and is spiritual. But mortals have identified these names with their own mortal conceptions. Science teaches that we must translate these material symbols into spiritual ideas in order to gain the pure, spiritual meaning of creation.

Let me give you a few of Jesus' symbolic phrases spoken to his disciples, which further illustrate my meaning. "I am the vine, ye are the branches. He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit; for without me ye can do nothing" (John 15:5). In other words, without the Christ-idea or spiritual understanding of God, the disciples were dead wood. Referring to spiritual nourishment, Jesus said, "My meat is to do the will of him that sent me" (John 4:34).

He likened his ministry to a shepherd tending his flock. Jesus' material life-work is symbolized by a cross, and his ultimate spiritual victory by a crown.

Next, let me give you a few examples of Mrs. Eddy's use of symbolism, which teach the spiritual meaning for which the word stands. "Light is a symbol of Mind, of life, truth, and joy, and a vitalizing property of matter" (Science and Health, p. 510). "Spirit is symbolized by strength, presence, and power, and also by holy thoughts, winged with Love" (ibid., p. 612). "The grass beneath our feet silently exclaims, 'The meek shall inherit the earth'" (ibid., p. 510). "There is but one real attraction, that of Spirit. The pointing of the finger to the material is a symbol of the all-embracing power of the attraction of God, divine Mind" (ibid., p. 102). "Spiritually interpreted, rocks and mountains stand for solid and grand ideas" (ibid., p. 611).

How the Key Unlocks the Scriptures. Because of Mrs. Eddy's divine insight, she has appropriately titled the closing chapters of her book "Key to the Scriptures." This key includes the spiritual idea of two books of the Bible and the Apocalypse, called Revelation. Also in this is a chapter entitled "Glossary." It is a chapter entitled "Glossary." It is a chapter entitled "Glossary."

Then, admitting for the sake of argument that the so-called material world about us is but our limited view of the spiritual expression of God's creation, how shall we study to bring about its transformation or spiritual idealistic meaning? Well, we can start by taking two verses from the Bible and then follow with their scientific meaning given in Science and Health. I shall read first the twenty-ninth and thirtieth verses of the first chapter of Genesis.

"And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed; to you it shall be for meat, and to every beast of the earth, and to every thing that creepeth upon the earth, wherein there is life, I have given every green herb for meat."

Next, let us hear Mrs. Eddy's interpretation of these statements: "God gives the lesser idea of Himself for a link to the greater, and in return, the higher always protects the lower" (Science and Health, p. 518).

Then the material objects which comprise the animal kingdom—men, beasts, and birds—may symbolize the greater ideas of God, and the lesser qualities of hope, faith, meekness, compassion, honesty, affection, temperance and humanity.

It is evident to most of us that while we seem to lack the most important qualities of God we do understand something of His lesser qualities, and when these lesser qualities are recognized as the qualities of grace and truth which comprise the teachings of Christ Jesus we shall understand his command to love God supremely and our neighbor as ourself.

Christ Jesus' Teachings Link Thought to God

These explanations reveal the holy purpose of Christ Jesus' teachings to link or unite our thoughts with the greater ideas of God. Remember Jesus words, "Take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? . . . For your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things. But seek ye first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you" (Matt. 6:31-33). And what is God's "righteousness" but the ideas of His righteousness: His Science, His intelligence, His power, His exactness, His dependability, His activity. Then we should gladly seek His Kingdom, strive for it, fight for it; then we shall find the righteousness of God through the use of His lesser ideas and find that all things necessary for human comfort and well-being. Dwelling in thought on the spiritual ideas of God we shall experience here and now how we shall be able to do things which we cannot do otherwise.

The forever contemplation of matter is the underlying cause of envy, fear, hatred, lust, selfishness, and greed. These thoughts are symbolized in disease, war, poisonous vegetation, droughts, tornadoes, earthquakes, floods, and fires. But when we have a full and general acceptance of the teachings of Christ Jesus, explained in the writings of Mrs. Eddy, all these so-called upheavals and calamities of nature, including wars, will end, and "peace on earth" will be the universal consciousness of being. Man's supply of good ideas, meeting human needs, will not be interfered with or destroyed. For "Christ, the true Light, states, 'gives mortals temporary food and clothing until the material, transformed with the ideal, disappears, and man is clothed and fed spiritually' (Science and Health, p. 442).

How Spiritual Ideas Heal the Sick. To the spiritual demand to love our neighbor as ourselves was the pre-eminent charge to love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind" (Luke 10:27). It is the love of and worship of matter, the bowing down to mortal bodies, which prevents the natural flow of spiritual ideas embodying health and wholeness from reaching human consciousness.

If you let the ideas of God's goodness flow freely from yourself to others, there will be no stopping or obstruction in the way of health, indigestion, consumption, arthritis, constipation, or the results of wrong thinking; so too are all other diseases.

Observing physicians, warning more and more of the harmful effects of wrong thoughts upon the body, are simply voicing a statement made by Mrs. Eddy over seventy years ago. She said: "A sick body is the result of wrong thinking. Sickness, disease, and death proceed from fear. Sensualism evolves bad physical and moral conditions" (Science and Health, p. 280).

A physician once said to an audience, "We have heard of the organ of our body." Is it any wonder that resentment, envy, unjust criticism, fear, sensuality, jealousy, revenge upset a man's stomach, disturb his liver, overtax his brain, paralyze his nerves, exhaust his strength, paralyze his limbs, and contract his muscles? All this suffering and misery and incapacity appears to exist because mankind, being in the reality of matter, either fear it or loving it. If hatred, evil passions, selfishness, lust, fear, and greed make the body sick and useless, then forgiveness, faith, generosity, chastity, confidence, patience, and meekness will, through God's law explained in Christian Science, restore it to health and usefulness. This gospel of Christianity healed the sick in Jesus' time, and by the reality of matter, the reality of God, and the reality of His teachings, which reveal man's oneness with the Father, the lost art of healing is being restored. Christian Science explains that the real man is above sin and disease and is immune to disease and death. He is never a failure. He is the highest idea of God, exercising dominion and protecting power over every lesser idea.

The divine power seems hidden to the human mind, and mortals feel helpless in the presence of sickness and disease. And why? "Because," as Mrs. Eddy states, "our systems of religion are governed more or less by our systems of medicine" (Science and Health, p. 146). We have been educated to rely upon matter, medicine, instead of God's ideas, for relief from the diseased effects of material thinking.

Said Jesus, "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth" (John 4:24). Worshipping matter is paganism, just as much today as in ancient history. These Jews had their sun-worshippers, moon-worshippers, and body-worshippers; but are we moderns any less paganistic in bowing down consciously and unconsciously to drugs, vitamins, dieting, hygiene, and body-massage? Yes, a man may even pay another to pinch and pound his poor body, but should he be accidentally poked in the ribs in a crowded bus or street car, he will want to make an issue of it. I am a wonder that with such little faith in God healing is sometimes long delayed?

Mortals resent this change to spiritual thinking, because they do not catch the significance of Jesus' words that a man "must be born again" (John 3:7) to grasp the things of Spirit. So they hang on to their material, pleasurable beliefs until suffering drives them to seek something outside of themselves for healing. We should welcome this transition, because through giving up the counterfeit or material sense of things, we gain the genuine or spiritual sense, and what that means we. We shall not lose man nor any of the realities of being, but only our wrong beliefs about them.

God's Spiritual Ideas Free to All. Isaiah knew by experience the incessant supply of God's ideas. He called out in the highways and byways, "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, ye shall not be ashamed. Milk without money and without price" (Isa. 55:1).

Christian Science, too, invites all who hunger and thirst for the truth of God to come and find their spiritual food and drink. The Publishing Society of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, has a significant phrase, written by our beloved Leader, Mary Baker Eddy, chiseled in stone upon the western end of the building: "To proclaim the universal activity and availability of Truth" (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellaneous, p. 353). With the printing and circulation of its many periodicals, "the universal activity and availability of Truth" is being made widely known. Through The Mother Church and local branch churches, being liberal in its many benevolent committees, Christian Science is liberally available "without money and without price."

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" and Mrs. Eddy's many shorter writings, together with The Christian Science Journal, Quarterly Bible Lessons, Herald, Sentinel, and The Christian Science Monitor, are invaluable helps in gaining the spiritual ideas of God. The book, "The Science of Mind," a book written by Mrs. Eddy used as a textbook of Christian Science, her other writings are amplifications and elaborations of her spiritual teachings. The periodicals, too, supplement Mrs. Eddy's works with splendid editorials, poems, and articles about Christian Science by competent writers, as well as authentic testimonies from many who have been healed.

Some periodicals and pamphlets are published in foreign languages with the alternate pages in English. Everything published by The Christian Science Publishing Society may be purchased at the various Reading Rooms which all churches provide. The King James Version of the Holy Bible, which Christian Scientists use, may also be purchased or borrowed from the Reading Rooms. So, dear friends, we are without excuse if we find ourselves starving for spiritual nourishment.

Mary Baker Eddy's explanation of Christian Science often arouses opposition with those whose theories are based on the reality of matter. Justifying her discovery, Mrs. Eddy has written: "If any system honors God, it ought to receive aid, not opposition, from all thinking persons. Christ, the true Light, does honor God as no other theory honors Him, and it does this in the way of His appointing, by doing many wonderful works through the divine name and nature of Jesus Christ, Health" (483). Today, professors, surgeons, engineers, bishops, ministers, lawyers, members of congress and parliament, judges, authors, and editors join in paying homage to this divinely gifted woman.

Mrs. Eddy's Revelation Came from God

In humility did Mrs. Eddy take these honors. She recognized herself to be but a humble instrument in God's hands. Let me quote her own words: "When I wrote 'Science and Health' I did not know that I had a little understood all that I indited; but when I practised its precepts, healing the sick and reforming the sinner, then I learned the truth of what I had written" (Miscellany, p. 271). Her revelation unquestionably came from God. In her own words she has become "the revealer to this age of the immortal truths testified to by Scripture and prophecy in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellaneous, p. vii).

Touched compassionately by the human picture of a world suffering in ignorance of the hidden spiritual ideas of God, and inspired by the power of Spirit from helpless human minds and nerve-racked physical bodies the chains of false beliefs which had so long enslaved them. Hundreds of thousands today recognize Christian Science as the real healing power, and their lives have been regenerated and their bodies healed. No greater redeeming, saving force since the days of Jesus of Nazareth has swept the world, and the world is waiting for the day when the world will be healed by the Christian Science and its Christly scientific.

It is not just coincidence that, since the revelation of Christian Science in 1866 to Mrs. Eddy, the world has witnessed so many wonderful changes in the methods of industry, communication, agriculture, chemistry, and transportation. Mrs. Eddy's discovery that "all is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation" (Science and Health, p. 468), and the possibility of ability of matter, leaves the field of invention open to quickened human consciousness, which sees through and overcomes the limits imposed by ignorance, superstition, and fear, because it has glimpsed something of the wonderful possibilities of the real universe of divine Mind and idea.

The world must slow up in its mad rush after material things and ask itself: How can these things brought men nearer to the realization of God as their true source?

How Man Is Clothed and Fed Spiritually through Prayer

As things are resolved into thoughts, and as we pray in its true perspective and recognize God or Mind as the source of all right ideas, Jesus said definitely, "Therefore I say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them" (Mark 11:24). "Believing," Christian Science explains, is "firmness and constancy; the perception of spiritual Truth" (Science and Health, p. 582). Pray, then, for the spiritual ideas for which the material symbols stand.

Then, believe that you have them. Pray to be clothed with meekness. Pray to be anointed with the oil of compassion. Pray to be nourished with the bread of understanding, and know that prayer is already answered, and the things needed humanly will appear. How distressing to hear someone say: "Why doesn't God answer my prayer? Is it because I am not good enough? Or maybe I don't know how to pray." Well, there is nothing that God can do for you that He has not already done. And He must be approached from this standpoint. Man's needs are not for material things, but for spiritual ideas. God is forever sending forth His ideas—beauty, intelligence, strength, holiness, etc.; but humility and faith will prepare consciousness to receive them, for remember the lesser idea links us "to the greater" (Science and Health, p. 518). If your thoughts are filled with undue regret over the past, you cannot hear God's answer to your prayers. If you are fearful about the future, you cannot hear either. These angel messages, or God's thoughts, are so still in their ministrations that human consciousness has to be quieted of its fears, its prejudices, its anxieties, its self-will, in order that one may be aware of their healing message.

As fearful, willful thoughts become quieted, we become aware of the divine goodness. Don't allow this holy moment to pass without making the blessing it has for you. Hold on to it as God holds on to you. Let its healing influence flood every part and fiber of your being. You are being ministered to by the angels of God.

In her short article entitled "Angels" in "Miscellaneous Writings," Mrs. Eddy reassures us with these words (p. 387): "God gives you His spiritual ideas, and in turn, they give you earthly supplies. Never ask for tomorrow; it is enough that divine Love is an over-present help; and if you wait, never doubting, you will have all you need every moment."

"Evil seeks to fasten all error upon God"

Knowing more of the unseen presence of God, we shall see how every sinful act would add our human sensitiveness to His ideas, bringing sorrow and suffering. But as we are victorious over the passions and false appetites "we shall loathe sin and rebuke it under every mask" (Science and Health, p. 30).

Alexander Pope wrote in his "Essay on Man," Epistle II:

Vice is a monster of so frightful mien, As to be hated needs but to be seen; Yet seen too oft, familiar with her face, We first endure, then pity, then embrace.

If we are not awakened to the devious, clever methods by which the seeds of evil propaganda are sown and cultivated in human thought, we may gradually lose our natural loathing of sin and find ourselves plunged in the depths of despair.

One sometimes wonders why people should know better than to be deceived by the cunningly devised advertising propaganda of the manufacturers and distributors of liquor and tobacco that their natural repugnance and loathing of these habit-forming drugs has vanished. And why is it that millions of us, who do not drink intoxicants or use tobacco, make little or no effort to open the eyes of our fellow beings to the results of using them—evil results which lead many into vice, suffering, insanity, and remorse? Possibly, we too have become so mesmerized by the propaganda that we feel no personal responsibility.

In an article entitled "Ways Higher than Our Ways" beginning on page 17 of "Unity of God," Mrs. Eddy in a few words brings to light this evil method of propaganda. "A lie," she states, "is only one channel of successful deception—to be accounted true. Evil seeks to fasten all error upon God, and so makes the lie seem part of eternal Truth. Emerson says, 'Hitch your wagon to star.' I say, 'Be allied to the divine power . . . but evil ties its wagon-load of evil [faith] to the divine chariot, or seeks so to do,—that its vilest may be christened purity, and its darkest get consolation from borrowed sanctifications.'"

Can't you see how cleverly the propagandist works? By word and picture he connects something harmless and beautiful, something which his readers or listeners admire or like, with the whiskey, gin, wine, beer, cigarette, cigar, or pipe tobacco and aims his propaganda to include the women and youngsters. The scheme is to associate pictorially the alcoholic beverage or tobacco with the beautiful things of life: sunny brooks and fragrant roses; the companionship of friends and the joys of the home; the exuberance of sports; the dignity of the statesman; the charm of girlhood and womanhood; yes, even the innocence of children is pictured, that the vilest of the drug, the liquor, and tobacco, may be christened "purity" (ibid.). How evil loses its repulsiveness when associated with something beautiful and harmless! By calling attention to the sweet and good we momentarily forget its curse.

May we take a few moments to look at some good uses to which alcohol and tobacco may be put. In the arts and sciences alcohol acts as a dissolver, remover, separator, a solvent. Thus to perceive the use of the statesman, it does not in the least take away its usefulness. But no one can truthfully say that as a beverage alcohol does not dull the intellect, lower the moral standard, and as the best physicians assert, "slow down one's reactions," thereby stultify good impulses and protective intuitions. Truly it thus separates man from his finer sensibilities. As for a good use for tobacco, I've heard that in solution it makes a good spray to kill bugs.

Mrs. Eddy was well aware of the insidious effects of sedatives and stimulants and tells us in the text-book that "the use of tobacco or intoxicating drinks is not in harmony with Christian Science" (Science and Health, p. 454).

Christian Science, revealing God's glorious, all-satisfying nature, will surely take away any unsatisfied longings or false desires, filling you with the consciousness of Christ, or Truth, and the natural, wholesome desire to overcome any perversion of good. Indulging evil in any form is never attractive, never constructive. And when the lying propaganda is possessing power to help or to hinder the man of God's creating is exposed, we can laugh at its pretensions and realize, "I am God's man, and you can't hurt me, and you can't do me any good, for I have found you out."

Heritage of God's Man Is Freedom of Mind

Propaganda of any kind which enslaves the mind of men and women takes away their right of free moral agency, because it dulls their sensibilities so that they cannot hear the voice of God telling them, "This is the way, walk ye in it" (Isa. 30:21). The individual must be free morally to work out his God-given salvation from sin, disease, and death. The Bible states, "We have the mind of Christ" (I Cor. 2:16). Then that mind must not be languid. No less a person than Thomas Jefferson, the framer of the Declaration of Independence, took upon himself this pledge: "I have sworn upon the altar of God eternal hostility against every form of Tyranny over the mind of man" (Jefferson Memorial, Washington, D. C.). "God has endowed man with inalienable rights, among which are self-government, reason, and conscience. Man is properly self-governed only when he is guided rightly and governed by his Maker, divine Truth and Love" (Science and Health, p. 106).

Then human government must pattern the above for man to be "properly self-governed." Where does this divine government make itself felt in the political life of a country or community? Naturally in its laws. And only as human government rests upon the Ten Commandments of Moses and the teachings of Christ Jesus will government be just and lasting.

The average person regarding the three branches of government of the United States—Executive, Judiciary, and Legislature, the executive, little dreams that these are the outcome of another God-inspired prophecy uttered by Isaiah thousands of years ago. He wrote: "For a few years ago the Lord is our lawgiver, the Lord is our king; he will save us" (Isa. 33:22). These three branches, the judiciary, the legislative, and the executive, all are necessary, and they complement each other and are checks one upon the other, for the salvation of the world. Only God can arrogate to Himself the blending of the three, and man can find lasting solution to world problems only by looking to God, who is outside the human problem. Let's not be afraid; "God is working His purpose out" (Hymnal, No. 82).

God will remove, and nothing shall be impossible unto you" (Matt. 17:20). So, if we have the least grain of faith in Christ, the spiritual idea of God, we can say to the unreal, material, impulsive, and indifferently, "Remove hence, and I will remove; for the power of God, to which our right thinking is linked, is able to bring His government to pass in our human affairs as in the divine.

Take heart, dear friends, for the unseen angel-ideas of God's presence and power are round about us. Let us joyfully thank Him for the unfolding guidance in the past, and though there may seem to be many difficulties ahead, though the world seems in great pain and in urgent need of much that has been destroyed by the wantonness of war, let us remember that we are living in earth's preparatory school, where our mentalities are gradually being molded through Christian Science to the blessed truths of God's spiritual, harmonious universe of ideas. Let us go forward with renewed confidence and purpose to look beyond the material symbols and to know only the presence of the unseen things of God. Don't be afraid. God has given us the Kingdom. It is ours to claim and enjoy.

And as we rise, the symbols disappear. The feast, though not the love, is past and gone; The bread and wine remove, but Thou art here, Nearer than ever, still my shield and sun.

Feast after feast thus comes and passes by; Yet passing, points to the glad feast above us, the feast of life. Giving sweet foretaste of the festival joy. The Lamb's great bridal feast of bliss and love. (Christian Science Hymnal, No. 106)
