Two Dollars Per Year

"BLANKET OF HEALTH"

Forming a veritable "blanket of health, welfare and recreational service" for the entire community, Red Feather agencies are an integral part of a city's progress and good-citizenship. In Greater New Haven, annual contributions to the Community Chest campaign help 30 individual agencies carry on.

STRICTLY LOCAL

A LITTLE ABOUT THIS AND THAT

BY PAUL H. STEVENS

GIVE GENEROUSLY

The citizen's movement is on again! As in past years the free, voluntary surge of good-will is always a highlight of the annual Community Chest campaign and becomes again an amazing demonstration of the strength that is America. A free people, mobilizing to provide for our own community in our own way, giving of our time and our money—that is our strength.

Starting Monday, some 2000 volunteers moved out into the community to ask their neighbors to share in this community responsibility. The goal is $831,000, and the Campaign area includes New Haven, East Haven, West Haven and Hamden. These volunteers are going out for $90,000 more than was raised last year—the rapidly-increasing cost of living has made this additional sum absolutely necessary.

Our strength is in our voluntary citizenship—and in the services we provide for our dependent children, our old folks, our families in trouble, our young people who need recreational facilities. We urge that each East Haven resident open their doors and their hearts to the Chest volunteer, and to remember, in giving to this campaign, that "all are needed by each one, nothing is fair or good alone."

NEW ENGLAND TOWN MEETING

The Windsor Locks Journal commenting upon the Windsor Locks Town Meeting which, like our own Town Meeting, will be held next Monday night, has this to say:

"Time was when the New England Town Meeting was something that all citizens of a community attended if able. The old-time meeting seems to be passing—a pity, to say the least. There should be no cut and dried business meetings; there should be a good airing of views now every two years under the biennial election plan in effect in most places. Yet there is a sad lack of interest in Windsor Locks. Maybe a town manager type of government would pep up the old town. Other progressive towns have taken up this type. Maybe some of the present day citizens will live to see this modern type of government operative locally. Maybe!"

And we noticed in the New York Herald-Tribune Sunday, a special report from Fairfield, one of Bridgeport's suburban neighbors, that fifty town representatives were to be elected Monday to transact community business in place of the 300 year old town meeting which quietly passed out of existence by special legislative act and a referendum the past summer. The town representatives chosen from 120 candidates will alone have the vote in future town meetings but all residents may attend and express opinions. Under the new charter Fairfield will have a Board of Health, Department of Welfare and a Public Works Department. The representatives will serve as a town "council" to make local ordinances and pass on appropriations recommended by the Board of Finance.

It would seem that the days of the old New England Town Meeting, in the larger towns at least, are numbered.

ON CHURCH SOCIETIES

The Catholic Transcript in a recent issue carried an editorial that applies with equal strength to all church organizations. "At this time of year," says the editor, "the various parish societies resume their activities after the summer respite. From the pulpit an appeal is made for the resumption of membership by those previously active in these organizations and the access of new members. In many instances, while the first part of the appeal may be fairly well heeded, the second effects very little. The societies go on in much the same way and with much the same numbers as before. This is regrettable, for the organizations provide an excellent means of drawing the people of a parish together, making them acquainted with one another, fusing their abilities and resources in essential good works and thus benefiting the parish as a whole and all those participating in the societies."

The editor then goes on to give reasons why people refrain from joining. Some are too busy, others are shy, still others feel that the societies have little or nothing to offer, while yet others are deterred by no more than inertia.

As for those critical of the societies, "an attitude of superiority or peevishness is indefensible. However, when there are real faults in an organization, those responsible should see that they are corrected. Sometimes for example, such a society becomes the private province of an individual or a clique, or a battleground for several cliques. Or the society is diverted from its original purpose into some narrow byway. Or spirituality and sociality are eclipsed by a secondary concern. Or all initiative and activity is monopolized from above, without any opportunity for these on the part of the general membership. Or the affairs of the group are so lackadaisically conducted, without plan or order, that it becomes slack and tedious.

In concluding the writer points out that many societies should be more extensive, active and effective, and that now, at the beginning of another season they should be overhauled and joined by many new members.

Red Feather Drive Gets Good Start

John Male—Confident East Haven Will Do Its Part To Raise Funds For Community Chest

Volunteer workers in East Haven's Community Chest effort are organized to do "one of the most active solicitation jobs in chest history," for the big Red Feather campaign which began Monday, stated John Male, who heads East Haven's part in the endeavor.

Male said that both team leaders and team workers have put in "serious and diligent preparation" in rounding out organizational plans, during the past few weeks and are now "set to cooperate in a plan of approach in which every potential giver is made aware of the need to succeed in this year's drive."

The goals of this year's Red Feather campaign has been set at $831,000 for Community Chest agencies, whose service benefit the populations of East Haven, West Haven and Hamden, in addition to the residents of the "New Haven area."

Male pointed out that this figure is approximately $90,000 higher than was contributed in last year's drive.

"Two factors must be assured, if we are to reach our objective, here in East Haven," Male said. "Workers must contact more givers and givers must this year add an increase to the amount pledged last year."

The East Haven campaign leader stressed the fact that the budget committee, in naming the 1947 goal figure, were compelled to reduce individual agency requests to the barest minimum.

"This means," he said, "that the thirty Community Chest services grouped in the Red Feather family will be able to furnish only the minimum degree of required counsel, assistance and recreational work. It means that we must not fall short of gaining our total objective."

Volunteers who are taken a part in the East Haven endeavor are joining other hundreds of campaigners throughout the Greater New Haven district. The drive extends to October 22.

Giving the campaign impetus will be several special events, including celebration of Red Feather Day at the Yale-Cornell game. In addition, the Community Chest symbol and message will be flashed from flagpoles, car and buses, store windows and homes.

Captains for East Haven are Mrs. Ernest L. Pemberton, Mrs. Albert Davison and Mrs. Frances Coulter.

AN UNFAIR, UNTRUE ACCUSATION
The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen has accused the Management of the New Haven Railroad of refusing to abide by the decisions of the National Railroad Adjustment Board.
In an effort to enforce their demands - regardless of the facts and contrary to the best interests of all concerned - the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen has threatened strike action involving about 5,000 of our road train and yard service employees.
Because a strike of this nature will affect adversely all classes of employees on our railroad and the employees of industries we serve, as well as the shipping and traveling public, we feel the full facts should be known. There is no need for strike action; IT CAN BE AND SHOULD BE AVOIDED! There are established and orderly processes for settling Railroad labor-management disputes; all the New Haven Management asks is that the accepted normal course be continued - before it is too late.

FACT No. 1
Under Section 2 of the Railway Labor Act of 1926 as Amended, General Duties are defined as follows:
"First. It shall be the duty of all carriers, their officers, agents, and employees to exert every reasonable effort to make and maintain agreements concerning rates of pay, rules, and working conditions, and to settle all disputes, whether arising out of the application of such agreements or otherwise, in order to avoid any interruption to commerce or to the operation of any carrier growing out of any dispute between the carrier and the employees thereof..."

FACT No. 2
The New Haven Railroad signed an agreement with the Trainmen, effective November 1, 1944, The Railway Labor Act clearly sets forth how grievances arising out of this agreement's application shall be handled. Of the cases in dispute, mutually satisfactory settlements have been reached in all but eleven. The present controversy revolves around these.

FACT No. 3
The Railway Labor Act provides for the proper "machinery to interpret and settle disputable labor-management issues. Usually, issues that cannot be negotiated satisfactorily are referred to the National Railroad Adjustment Board. Of the eleven cases still open for negotiation in the present instance, seven are properly referable to this Board. The New Haven Management had previously offered to submit these issues to the Board; the Brotherhood has not agreed to join in such action, notwithstanding that they have done so on previous similar occasions. The New Haven Management will abide by the Board's decision - AS IT HAS AT ALL TIMES AND IN ALL CASES; the Brotherhood refuses to submit to this orderly procedure.

FACT No. 4
Of the 4 remaining cases, one involves Yardmasters who are covered BY THEIR OWN agreement with the Railroad and therefore should be handled under the Yardmasters Agreement. This the Trainmen refuse to do. Two other cases involve issues on which new claims have been made.
The final case at point is one that was definitely settled and so acknowledged, in writing, by the Brotherhood; they now insist on reopening this case, which quite properly the Railroad refuses. Certainly the Railroad could not reverse ITS position once it had decided a case in favor of the employees. The same obligation should hold true for the Brotherhood.

The New Haven Management is proud of its employee relations; it has been outstanding in that respect and is so recognized throughout the field of railroading, its labor relations record will show there have been fewer cases before the Adjustment Board from the New Haven than from any other major railroad with a comparable number of employees. The attitude of the New Haven Management toward labor always has been - and will continue to be - one of friendliness and cooperation.

It is in the sincere hope that such relations will in no way be disturbed that the Railroad presents the facts underlying the present situation. Again we repeat: THERE IS NO NEED FOR A STRIKE that can easily be avoided if orderly methods established by law for handling such matters are followed.

Puzzled? Perplexed? Ask Julia Lyncath

Within the last few weeks many people have written and asked me just why it is that so many children are unwilling to go to bed, and there are many reasons. For one thing, the bedtime hour may vary so much from time to time that it is more or less a hit and miss affair. Sometimes at seven, sometimes at eight, and if Mother is particularly busy, it might be at six-thirty. This type of irregular routine will often lead to trouble. If, however, seven o'clock is invariably the hour for bed, there is no need for trying to talk or cry his way into staying up later. He just takes it as a matter of course. And, not only should there be a regular time, but the procedure should not be hurried or in any way disturbing or exciting.

Big Rush For Tickets To Hear Shields

President David Richards and Members of the Board of Trustees of the Branford Review are pleased to announce that the Monday election day party also reveals that the Democratic party in East Haven cut deeply into the heavy Republican majority of 1946. Taking the position of Registrar of Voters as an average of the voting, there being no contest for these two places on the ticket, the vote this year was 2073 for the Republican nominee and 1645 for the Democratic nominee, the former winning by 428 votes out of a total of 3718 cast. Two years ago the Republican candidate for registrar received 2262 votes and the Democratic nominee 945 out of a total of 3147, the former winning by 1457 votes.

An analysis of the Monday election figures in contrast with those of the election two years ago reveals that the Democratic party in East Haven cut deeply into the heavy Republican majority of 1946. As Mr. Brinley Sees It

"He being dead, yet speaketh". How lively we list the passing of some great man, and how over-emphasized is the passing of another, and some that is very small, are made great in death, but only for a time, for that which is not truly great, fades into oblivion and is remembered no more, while the truly great live on in the spirits of men, and their invisible shrine moves down the ages, undimmed and unimpaired, for time is not time to these that are great. Long after the carnal has perished, long after the conqueror has rotted and his sword has rusted away, and his hatred and his sins are not remembered, the poet, singer and on, in the spirits of generations of the past and ages to come, should the world last that long. The good lives on in thought and mind or soul, Evilly and unrighteousness, are transitory, things of time, they are known or remembered in Eternity. The good that men do, only live after them. The poet that writes in love, writes for Eternity, for love is of God, and has nothing in common with evil. There are many unrighteousnesses, some are great, some are small, some are carried out in the minds and hearts of the hearers, and ever bear about, an hundred fold. So is it with the Singer and some songs, some are not heard, but the Singer ever so well trained, and sometimes a Singer asong, which the hearer carries in his heart, all his natural life, and some times I even dare to think, they are ever bear about, an hundred fold. So is it with the Singer and some songs, some are not heard, but the Singer ever so well trained, and sometimes a Singer asong, which the hearer carries in his heart, all his natural life, and some times I even dare to think, they are ever bear about, an hundred fold. Gunther Praises Miss Hunter's Bibliography

"Unfinished Business" is the title of a bibliography compiled by Mrs. Frances Hunter, Dean of girls and English instructor at East Haven High School. In her booklet, Mrs. Hunter has collected and edited data on the literature of each one of the forty-eight states and territories with a supplement of the Pikes Peak Region. As an English teacher in high school, she has been through the Colorado State Library in 1942. Mrs. Hunter sent a copy of her bibliography to John Gunther, author of "Inside U. S. A." In her letter to him, she states: "Some where in your pages, you spoke of liking local data, pamphlets and the like. I promised myself the fun of sending a copy of this bibliography with which I beguiled what might have been lonely hours of driving many times, from Colorado Springs to New York, or from New England to Santa Fe." In Mr. Gunther's reply, he thanked her, saying, "Thanks for the bibliography that you have been so kind as to send me. It really is a thoroughly useful work."

Slipshod Absentee Voting

We are approaching the yellow caution light in absentee voting. Soon the red light will flash on but we will have passed the yellow. Originally in 1944, the law which permits electors to cast votes by absentee ballot, was intended to aid the serviceman, the bride and aged and filled a long felt want. Like so many good laws this law permits careless handling of the right to vote and lends up to a full time pre-election job for election officials. Absentee ballots are very convenient for the voter. On town election days an elector who wakes with a big head and a stiff neck may call for an application which is delivered to his sick bed, get the ballot from the town hall. A notary hustles around and duly authorizes the vote, then dashes to the post office to mail it by noon of that day. The voter rolls over and takes a nap. We shudder to think how many sore throats could develop should election day morning be one of nasty cold rain and mud. When the voter applies for an application for this convenient type of ballot, he states that he "expects to be unable to appear at my polling place during the hours of voting of the next election... because of (1) membership in the armed forces; (2) absence from the State of Connecticut, as a civilian, on military or physical disability."

E. H. Townies Hold Basketball Tryouts

Monday night in the high school gym, over 25 candidates reported for try-outs conducted by the E. H. Townies. Coach Fritz Miralaski, former Arnold College star athlete, was extremely enthusiastic over the wealth of material he had in which to pick from, and believes he will have a club capable of taking on the very best in basketball circuit, state-wide or other wise. With plenty of time until the opening date, Sunday, November 30, to cut the squad to the necessary ten men, Coach Migalski will give every aspirant a fair chance to show his mettle. East Haven is sure to have a first-rate basketball club this season, if they ever had one. From last season's squad, four players are quite positive to be placed in active service. Will present keenness in competition such as it is, it is vitally necessary to be amply fortified with the required tools of the trade to be on equal footing with contending clubs. And to have just such a quintet, is the aim of Migalski, who has the start he needs.

YOU HAVE MORE TELEPHONE NEIGHBORS NOW

Our of more than 627,000 telephones now in service in Connecticut, over 130,000 have been added since V-J Day alone. Telephones have been going in faster than ever before in our history. This means a bigger value for you! For new telephones mean new people you can call, and more people who can reach you.

Doctors for telephone poles

Telephone poles need "doctors," too. For the lives of the poles are shortened by many things - wind and weather, ants, termites, various types of fungus, and sometimes even woodpeckers! So Bell System scientists are constantly studying these "diseases" to learn new methods of treating the poles to lengthen their lives. This is just one example of the many ways the Bell Telephone Laboratories have worked to offset costs which have risen sharply in the last few years.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

How to Tell You're Getting Old Doc Walters gave me this formula: It's a sure-fire sign you're getting old when you resent other people having a good time. They're often well-intentioned folks, too. But from where I sit, the minute we criticize our neighbors for enjoying wholesome pleasures like a game of horseshoes, a glass of beer, or an afternoon's fishing - it's a sure sign we're growing old (in spirit anyway) no matter what our ages are. And there are some others who resent the young folks being happy who feel that community fairs and dances are just a waste of time; or who criticize temperate people for enjoying a mellow glass of beer with friends. They're often well-intentioned folks, too. Garden Notes

AUTUMN MOORING
In the autumn a man needs a home. He may sail the summer away, but when leaves fall and cold winds blow, the man who has a home to go to, will find it a blessing. And the steel-white day when the northeast wind is at large in the ruffled sky, when the shock of the sea shakes the foaming mark-Of murderous rock.
Then he turns his back to the storm and crosses the lawn to his door and step inside, and is warm To the very core.
Robert Hillier

SLEEP

UNDER AN ELECTRIC BLANKET

YOU'LL never know such refreshing sleep until you have an electric blanket. No matter what the weather does—even with your window wide open—your electric blanket keeps you warm and "comfy". You will SLEEP as you've never slept before and awake next morning ready to start the new day right!

JUST THINK of getting into a bed that is already warm all over! No waste of your body energy trying to get warm! No burden of heavy blankets! You just relax while your electric blanket maintains just the degree of warmth you want the whole night through.

ORDINARY BLANKETS—even the finest—merely retard the escape of warmth which the body produces. That's why you get chilly and have to pull up more covers in the middle of a cold night. That's why you feel cold sometimes no matter how many covers you pile on. The ordinary blanket cannot produce any warmth at all.

The Electric Blanket does produce heat—just the right amount, automatically at the right time to keep you comfortable all through the night. The Electric Blanket—not your body—compensates for outside temperature changes. Thus, you save energy—sleep relaxed and awaken completely refreshed.

Electric blankets are sold by various local dealers handling electrical appliances for the home. These merchants will be glad to tell you more about this wonderful new and better way to sleep. See about the "REST" of your life—today!

Pigskin Series Resumes Friday In East Haven

Thrilling offensive football promises to be the order of the day when Branford High's pigskin stylists travel over the hill tomorrow night to meet East Haven High's aerial circus on the High School field.

Both coaches, Warren Sampson of Branford and Frank Crisafi of the Blue and Gold are exponents of wide open football and will open the throttle wide in an effort to pin a defeat on each other's forces.

The home team has many able operators including Augie Perottili, Don Blakely, Lou Paolillo, Bud French, Dede Gambardella, Andy DePino and Carlton Redman.

Branford's hopes lie in the effectiveness of its "T" formation, with its spread variations. Its top executives are Vishno, Galdenzi, Alkerson, Bahnon, Lasko, Mongillo, Markeski, Petela, Chandler, Boutiller and Captain Corky Reynolds.

Aside from the football rivalry the game will produce another contest of a different sort will prevail when Branford's comely cheerleaders invade the Eastie domain to establish their hopes of outcheering and outdrilling East Haven's boys of yellow.

The game is the first of a two contest series with the second fracs scheduled for Hammer field on Thanksgiving Day.

Boys Club Opens Laurel's Season At Hammer Field

Down at Hammer Field this week under the glare of a single flood light coach Nick Weted is driving his Laurel football charges hard every night in preparation for the opening tilt against the East Haven Boys Club on the same gridiron Sunday promptly at 2:30.

Assisting the local mentor in his nightly task is Wally Tamulevich, Branford great, who is aiding the backfield to reach its efficiency peak.

Weted has installed a widely diversified offensive game with his combination which includes several potential semi-pro stars. He will use the T formation and will back its effectiveness with a short put and single wing set-up. His formations will use the spread as well as tight alignments.

New this year at the field will be a sound system which will aid greatly in identifying players, yards to gain, and giving all sorts of necessary information.

The East Haven opponents are made up mostly of former members of the East Haven Rams and already have two wins in two starts in this short season.

Officials for the contest will include Fred Ghirardini, Mike Waselik and John Cammerano, three of New Haven's better known officials.

All former members of the Laurels who can possibly do so are asked to be present at the field not later than 1:30 to assist in pre-game activities.

Branford Lad With B. C. Frosh

Ed Petela, freshman fullback on the Boston College frosh this week wrote friends hereabouts that he likes the school very much although his heavy schedule of studies and football takes up most of his day.

The Boston school plays only three freshmen games all season but during the week's scrimmages must oppose the varsity constantly, each week emulating the attack of the team which is to oppose the big team on the following week-end.

Columbia-Yale To Be Telecast

Local followers of the Yale football team in general and Levi Jackson in particular are advised that this coming Saturday's football contest against Columbia will be televised. Tickets for the contest which will be held at Baker's Field in New York are at a premium. Both teams are undefeated in regular season play.

Branford Rotary Club will omit its meeting Monday because of Columbus Day.

Weather permitting, Briarwood Golf Practice Fairway is open every day and pleasant evenings.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buell of Harding Ave., announce the birth of a son, Gregory Raymond on September 27.

Easties Rout Gilbert 12-0

A sound passing game, in which 11 out of 17, passes were completed, gave East Haven High a 12 to 0 win over Gilbert High of Winsted in the latter town last Saturday.

A Gilbert fumble on its own 10 yard stripe in the second period, after the home team had stopped an Eastie 50 yard march on its own 8, paved the way to the first score on a pass from Dede Gambardella to Don Blakely. French failed to convert the extra point try.

In the final period the Blue and Gold worked the pigskin to the 30 yard mark where Augie Perottili swept end for a 20 yard advance. A pass from Perottili to Blakely netted five big yards before Perottili went to the one foot mark on a tremendous plunge. Carlton Redman hit the line for the second score. Again French lost out on his placement try for the extra count.

HORNETS STING DERBY 19 to 6

The greatest upset in Branford High football annals occurred last Saturday at Hammer Field where a good, bordering on great Derby High eleven was trounced by the Hornets 19 to 6.

The visitors were never able to cope with the Sampson attack as presented by quarterback Corky Reynolds, and a stalwart local line, which neither asked nor gave any quarter, repeter, stalled Leo Ryan's fine team or burst wide holes in its makeup with savage blocking.

Nifty running on Joe Petela's part plus accurate passing on captain Reynolds' side combined to give the Branford gridlers untold opportunities which seldom were overlooked.

Immediately after opening the game the locals uncorked a 60 yard march to a touchdown and quarterback Reynolds climaxed the effort with a short plunge for the score from his T position. Markleski's conversion attempt was wide.

Previous to halftime intermission Branford again tallied on the game's most spectacular play when Petela traveled 35 yards for score on the payoff end of a thrilling reverse play. Markleski again missed his extra point try.

Midway in the third stanza Reynolds butted through the Derby line on a quarterback sneak to rack up a comfortable 18 point lead and Markleski added Branford's final point with a successful placement.

Derby was not to be denied however and suddenly switching to an aerial offensive in the final quarter eventually counted when Cesaro heaved a money pitch to Ginapaulo for the low Raider score.

CLOSE FOR HOLIDAY
Offices of the town hall will be closed all day Monday in observance of Columbus Day.

Social Workers will meet in the Congregational Church Monday evening, October 13. Hostesses will be Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. J. B. Smith, Mrs. Maurice Smith, Mrs. Abner Sandquist and Mrs. Clarence Townsend.

BRANFORD BEATS DERBY (Contributed)

From the opening kick off Branford marched down the field for two quick downs. Then quick kicked to Derby's 20 yd. line. Derby tried two play and made no gains. A Derby fumble set Branford up for the first touchdown, which was scored by Reynolds from the yard line.

At the end of the first quarter Branford, after a sustained march, passed midfield and had the ball on Derby's 35 yd. line. With good blocking, Reynolds took the ball for a first down at the 25 yd. line. Atkinson followed with a 5 yd. gain around end. The next play, saw Petela carrying a naked reverse over the pay off mark after two beautiful blocks by Markleski and Veshno. It eventually proved to be the most spectacular play of the afternoon.

The Hornets in a sustained march after capitalizing on a Derby fumble pushed over another touchdown in the third period. A 15 yd. gain by Chandler and another 15yd. run around left end by Boutiller brought the ball to Derby's 2ft goal line. From here Reynold behind a fast charging line took the ball over and Markleski converted, making the score 19-0.

With seven minutes remaining Derby made a sole touchdown by a pass from Casaro that sailed over Reynold's head into the waiting arms of Genopoulo who was stand-meet will under the light station in the end zone.

The Hornets meet will meet under the lights at East Haven at 8 P. M. Friday night.

What a billion dollar steel expansion program means to you

THE steel companies of America are spending one billion dollars to add 2,500,000 tons of new steelmaking capacity for your benefit. Parts of this program were started two years ago.

Further expenditures of many more hundreds of millions are planned for additional plants and equipment.

This means that more and more steel will be available to make the things you need—houses, farm implements, automobiles, freight cars and thousands of other products of everyday use.

Steelmakers Have Faith in our Nation's Future.

This year's production of steel is the greatest in peacetime history, far greater than all the rest of the world combined.

But demand is great, too—greater than supply for some kinds of steel. If 18,000,000 tons of steel had not been lost in the last two years because of strikes in steel, coal and other industries there would be few complaints about the steel shortages today.

The huge expansion programs were planned to enable the industry to catch up with demand in all kinds of steel as quickly as possible.

In 1929 the steel industry could make 1,173 pounds of steel for each man, woman and child. Today it can make 1,499 pounds. With the expansion in prospect it will make 1,540 pounds.

As always throughout its history, steel is expanding its capacity to meet the growing needs of the country.

American Iron and Steel Institute
350 Fifth Avenue - New York 1, N. Y.

There are 101 member companies of the Institute with plants in 173 American communities. They produce 96.3 per cent of the country's steel.
