TOWN TOPICS

by John E. Loeb

We've been in close contact with the warriors in both camps of late and watched the political flames as they grow hotter and brighter. On Oct. 3, one of the fires will continue to blaze in victory while the other burns into a funeral pyre. On this second day of Fall, as the vote-hunting season gains momentum across the nation, we are reminded of a talk we heard by a Boston newspaperman on the eve of the 1940 elections.

This journalist, during his 30 years on the beat had covered the political activities of both the Republicans and the Democrats. He had seen both sides come through victorious, and on the other hand, he had witnessed both factions come out on the short end of the count. His point... The sun always rises the day after election day. Nevertheless, rain or shine, comes election day get to the polls and vote for your candidate.

Pollsters find the local population taking sides, but one event which had the townspeople in harmony was the Legion Band's concert on the Green Sunday. Al Miller talks about more of the same. Here's hoping. Perhaps we'll have our own little pop concerts one of these days.

Another musician in the news is Harry Brinley. He will accompany an old-fashioned hymn sing on his accordion in the Church School Board of St. Andrew's Methodist Church covered dish supper Sept. 25. For those of you who like your songbirds we suggest you try The Castle these Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings. Branford's Elise Kligerman, whose Broadway rhapsody would fill these columns, is giving out with the vocals.

If you are our reader who lost a silver ear-ring at the American Legion Auxiliary installation, you have to call 1144 to get it back. While on the subject of the ladies, those of you who want to take in the fashion show which the Ladies of the Lions Club are putting on should call Mrs. Asa E. Hunt at 4-0016.

Keep Monday eve Oct. 10 from 8 P. M. on open so you can take in the annual town meeting. That's when you get the town budget.

Newest newcomer in town is the J. P. Frank family who came here Saturday from Wilmington, Ind. They have set up at 382 Main Street, and he is an instructor at Yale. Also a Yale instructor and new to us is Mr. Harry Kroll who, with Mrs. Kroll and their two-year-old daughter are living at 41 Pardee Place. They're from Providence, R. I.

In the newborn department we have John Pomplino, born Aug. 15 to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Pomplino of 37 Charter Oak Street. On Aug. 12, Mr. and Mrs. David Reed of 536 Thompson Street had their first-born, Nancy. Mr. and Mrs. John Pappino of 553 Main Street had their first daughter, Doris, on Sept. 5. She has four brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kirby, former East Haveners, had their second child recently, a son. Up in Holyoke, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. John Sullivan became the parents of Corneilia, their seventh offspring. Mrs. Sullivan was Eleanor Kennedy of Stevens Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Woods of 128 Saltonstall Parkway, have returned home after visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carlson formerly of East Haven, in Hartland, Maine, and also with friends in Boston, Mass.

School Bonds Sold To Mass. Firm At 1.70 Per Cent Rate

The R. L. Day & Company and Coffin & Burr, Inc., of Boston have bought the school bonds for the Town of East Haven for the amount of $378,803.03. The interest rate will be 1.70 per cent. Announcement of the award was made by First Selectman James J. Sullivan.

Bond payments will be made by the town in the amount of $20,000 annually from October 1, 1950 to October 1, 1967 inclusive, with the final payment of $18,000 to be made on October 1, 1968.

Other bids received were from Day, Stoddard & Williams of New Haven for $378,378 with interest at 1.70 per cent, and from Estabrook & Company of Hartford for $378,313.70 at a rate of 1.70 per cent.

The Board of Selectmen has passed resolutions covering the necessary requirements and hope to have the bonds printed and signed by October 1.

At a special town meeting held August 26, it was voted by the townspeople to authorize the selectmen to issue bonds to the amount of not to exceed $378,000 for the school building program and also to determine the dates of maturities, the rate of interest not in excess of two per cent per annum of such bonds and to sell such bonds.

Momauglin and Union Schools are now under construction, alterations started Sept. 8. Contracts call for completion by 150 working days.

Hiscock To Tell Of Findings In Health Survey

Dr. Ira V. Hiscock, who directed the recent health survey of East Haven conducted by the Department of Health at Yale University, will reveal his findings when he presents a preliminary report in the Town Hall tonight (Thursday).

Under the supervision of Dr. Hiscock and Dr. Roscoe Bove, a committee headed by Mrs. Arthur Connor, and sub-committees including Board of Education members, teachers and one member of outside organizations were appointed. Studies were made of the health services in the town and reviewed so that recommendations for improvement of services could be made.

NAMES DRAWN FOR JURY DUTY

Six Branford and East Haven residents' names were drawn Tuesday for jury service in the Court of Common Pleas. The group will serve only four weeks.

The new law passed by the Legislature which takes effect Oct. 1 prevents jurors from serving more than twice in a five-year period and permits them to be on a panel for only four weeks within any one year.

The Branford jurors are Anna George, Sled Wetzel and Alton Jencks. Selected for duty from East Haven were Josephine Colbert, Helen Antz and Ruth T. Barker.

After the tour the secretary was authorized. 1. To secure the aid of Architect Harold Davis in drawing specifications for hard surfacing and grading of Laurel School; 2. The hard surfacing of sidewalks and ramps and the repair of the chain link fence at Highland School; 3. For this latter project a landscape architect will be employed by the committee, upon recommendation of Architect Davis. 4. The previous Saturday saw two hundred and nine East Haveners made voters. The response resulted in more than half of the approximately 1000 who were eligible becoming qualified to cast their ballot on Oct. 3 in the biennial elections.

There will be one more session in the Town Hall on Saturday, Oct. 1 from 9 A. M. to 1 P. M. for the purpose of swearing in only those electors whose qualifications mature after Sept. 17 and on or before Monday, Oct. 3.

The purpose of this according to the Board, which is made up of George M. Chidsey, Frederick Borrmann and Robert Brooks, is so that veterans receiving disability may gain the benefit of the additional exemption on their property for the new tax list which is being made up as of October 1.

Republicans Point To Record As Indication That Public Has Been Served

In its appeal to the electorate for support at the polls on October 3, the Republican Town Committee has issued a statement which says, "The Republican administration of East Haven has kept faith with the public and, as the records show, given municipal service to meet the growth and needs of the town.

Increased Costs "During the past ten years the population of East Haven has made substantial gains and the operating costs of the town have advanced about 55 per cent. The costs of rendering police and fire services have doubled in this period, while the educational costs have more than doubled.

Additional costs of carrying on the town business have been rendered such as police, fire, schools, public works and other town agencies. In providing these services the Republican administration has been able to attract new home owners and many new businesses.

"Town funds have been wisely appropriated for capital improvements including permanent roads, bridges, recreation field and buildings, as well as $378,000 now being held in the town funds for the school building program.

"A Republican administration will continue to handle your town affairs on a sound business basis."

Speaking at a gathering of 200 Republican workers at their headquarters Tuesday night, Frank Barker, candidate for first selectman of the Republican ticket, stated his position:

"I realize the responsibility of this high office, and every effort on my part will be made to carry out these responsibilities. The past 12 years of a successful Republican administration have laid a foundation for me, and I promise you that everything in my power will be done to carry on a program not for individuals or groups but for the town of East Haven as a whole.

The several departments which will be my responsibility will be carried on in a business-like manner. Each one of these departments will be given careful study so that they will function smoothly and economically. Efficiency will be the watchword.

The Highway Department will be reorganized and responsible people will be selected for highway maintenance and construction. Today our highways are in good condition and they must be maintained not only in the center of the town, but also in the outlying districts.

Snow Removal Snow removal I find has been one of the greatest obstacles in this department. At present there is not enough equipment to plow out the town at short notice for snow, but I assure you that one of the first things I will do when I take office is to arrange for snow removal for

Democrat's Unanimous Support Of Clancy For 1st Selectman Is Sign Of Party Unity

The Democratic Party's publicity machine rolled into high in East Haven this week when, in a letter to the East Haven News, its candidates reaffirmed their stand in the task of presenting the town with sound governmental policies.

Each ballot post received careful scrutiny and the results are herewith presented for public digest.

Frank S. Clancy was a unanimous choice of the entire Democratic Town Committee to head up the Democratic ticket as their candidate for 1st Selectman. He is without a single doubt, the most qualified and certainly the most experienced candidate on either Party ticket. There are many good reasons why Frank Clancy was selected for this important position. Remember that he, as the minority member of the Board of Selectmen for the past four years, has not been in an advantageous position to see all of his proposals for town improvements to a successful conclusion. Yet many, yes a good many of the recommendations that Frank Clancy fought for as far back as 1937 have finally been forced down the throats of a "Do Nothing" Republican Administration.

Schools Back in 1937, Frank Clancy advocated the adoption of a plan for a continuous survey of school building needs and an appropriate educational program to meet the future needs of our children.

He advocated a more realistic study of the salaries paid to the teaching force and sufficient salary increase to attract the better teachers to our schools. He suggested a four room addition to the Momauglin School. He urged the purchase of six acres of land for a much needed new school in the South District. He recommended a complete remodeling of the Union School and to maintain it as an 8th grade school.

Remember, Frank Clancy made these suggestions two years ago in public print. His entire suggested plan for school improvements has virtually been adopted, finally, as he recommended. It is of course unfortunate that the unnecessary delay in our school building program has resulted this term in double sessions in our schools. It is likewise unfortunate for the taxpayers of East Haven that Frank Clancy could not enforce his recommendations when he was in office. If your child is only going to school for half-day sessions and has to walk an unheard of distance to school, you know it could have been avoided, and Frank Clancy

Do You Want Your A&P Put Out Of Business?

Last Thursday in New York, the anti-trust lawyers from Washington filed a suit to put A&P out of business.

They asked the court to order us to get rid of most of our stores and also the manufacturing facilities which supply you with A&P coffee, Ann Page products, Jane Parker baked goods, and other quality items we produce.

This would mean higher food prices for you. It would mean less food on every dinner table and fewer dollars in every pay envelope.

It would mean the end of A&P as you know it.

This poses a basic question for the American people: Do they want to continue to enjoy lower prices and better living? Or do they want to break up A&P and pay higher prices, and have lower living standards?

What do you want?

Why Destroy A&P?

This suit was brought under the anti-trust laws. These are good laws. They were passed about fifty years ago to prevent any company, or any group of companies, from getting a monopoly in a field and then raising prices to the public. A&P has never done any of these things.

Nobody has ever shown that we have anything even approaching a monopoly of the food business anywhere. As every housewife knows, the retail grocery business is the most competitive in the country and we do only a small part of it.

Nobody has ever said we charged too high prices — just the opposite. This whole attack rises out of the fact that we sell good food too cheap. We would not have had any of this trouble if, instead of lowering prices, we had raised them and pocketed the difference.

Nobody has ever said that our profit rate was too high. During the past five years our net profit, after taxes, has averaged about 1 1/2% on every dollar of sales, which is less than almost any other business you can think of.

The American people have shown that they like our low-price policy by coming to our stores to do their shopping. If A&P is big, it is because the American people, by their patronage, have made it big.

Obviously, it is the theory of the anti-trust lawyers that the people have no right to patronize a company, if their patronage will make that company grow; and that any big business must be destroyed simply because it is big, and even if the public gets hurt in the process.

Do You Want Higher Prices?

There is much more involved in this case than the future of A&P. The entire American system of efficient, low-cost, low-profit distribution which we pioneered, will face destruction and the public will suffer.

A&P was the first chain store in this country. For more than ninety years we have tried to build a sound business on the simple formula the founder gave us: "Give the people the most good food you can for their money." Year after year we have tried to do a better job, make our business more efficient, and pass the savings on to the consumer in the form of lower prices.

Our efforts along these lines have led other grocers to keep their costs and profits down.

In the old days before A&P, food that cost the grocer 50¢, often sold as high as $1.00 at retail.

Today, food that costs the grocer 50¢ generally sells to the public at less than 60¢. The methods we pioneered have been adopted not only by other grocers, but by merchants in other lines. There are today literally hundreds of chain stores, voluntary groups and individual merchants operating with the same methods and in the same pattern here under attack.

If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in destroying A&P, the way will be clear for the destruction of every other efficient large-scale distributor.

Who Will Be Hurt?

There has never been any question in our mind that it is good business and good citizenship to sell good food as cheaply as possible. As Fortune Magazine said about A&P some time ago, "It is firmly attached to the one great principle — the selling of more for less — that has made the desert bloom and the nation wax great."

We sincerely believe that we have helped the American people eat better and live better.

We believe that the hundreds of thousands of farmers and manufacturers who have voluntarily sought our business have profited by our fast, low-cost distribution of their products.

We know that our 110,000 loyal employees enjoy today, as they always have, the highest wages, shortest hours and best working conditions generally prevailing in the retail food industry; and that these men and women have found in A&P good opportunities for security and progress.

We know that thousands of businessmen — the landlords who rent us our stores, the haulers who operate our trucks, the people who supply us with goods and services — have a big stake in our operations.

Obviously, all these people will suffer if this company is put out of business.

What Shall We Do?

We admit that the interests of the owners of A&P are of little importance.

Frankly, they could make an enormous amount of money by breaking up A&P, as the anti-trust lawyers wish, and selling off the parts.

But is this what the American people want? Do they agree with the anti-trust lawyers that our food prices are too low, and that we should be put out of the picture so other grocers can charge more?

Frankly, if this were the case, we would not want to continue in business.

But we seriously doubt that this is the case. Twelve years ago, an effort was made to tax this company and other chain stores out of business. The public rallied to our support. They said they liked our quality foods and our low prices. As a result of their opposition, the tax was defeated.

Now we are faced with this new attack through the courts. We are faced with the heavy costs and all the trouble that lawsuits involve.

But we believe this attack is a threat to millions of consumers who rely on us for quality foods at low prices; to farmers who rely on us for fast, low-cost distribution of their products; and to our loyal employees.

Do You Want Your A&P Put Out Of Business?

Last Thursday in New York, the anti-trust lawyers from Washington filed a suit to put A&P out of business. They asked the court to order us to get rid of most of our stores and also the manufacturing facilities which supply you with A&P coffee, Ann Page products, Jane Parker baked goods, and other quality items we produce.

This would mean higher food prices for you. It would mean less food on every dinner table and fewer dollars in every pay envelope.

It would mean the end of A&P as you know it.

This poses a basic question for the American people: Do they want to continue to enjoy lower prices and better living? Or do they want to break up A&P and pay higher prices, and have lower living standards?

What do you want?

Why Destroy A&P?

This suit was brought under the anti-trust laws. These are good laws. They were passed about fifty years ago to prevent any company, or any group of companies, from getting a monopoly in a field and then raising prices to the public. A&P has never done any of these things.

Nobody has ever shown that we have anything even approaching a monopoly of the food business anywhere. As every housewife knows, the retail grocery business is the most competitive in the country and we do only a small part of it. Nobody has ever said we charged too high prices—just the opposite. This whole attack rises out of the fact that we sell good food too cheap. We would not have had any of this trouble if, instead of lowering prices, we had raised them and pocketed the difference.

Nobody has ever said that our profit rate was too high. During the past five years our net profit, after taxes, has averaged about 1 1/2% on every dollar of sales, which is less than almost any other business you can think of.

The American people have shown that they like our low-price policy by coming to our stores to do their shopping. If A&P is big, it is because the American people, by their patronage, have made it big.

Obviously, it is the theory of the anti-trust lawyers that the people have no right to patronize a company, if their patronage will make that company grow; and that any big business must be destroyed simply because it is big, and even if the public gets hurt in the process.

Do You Want Higher Prices?

There is much more involved in this case than the future of A&P. The entire American system of efficient, low-cost, low-profit distribution which we pioneered, will face destruction and the public will suffer.

A&P was the first chain store in this country. For more than ninety years we have tried to build a sound business on the simple formula the founder gave us: "Give the people the most good food you can for their money." Year after year we have tried to do a better job, make our business more efficient, and pass the savings on to the consumer in the form of lower prices.

Our efforts along these lines have led other grocers to keep their costs and profits down.

In the old days before A&P, food that cost the grocer 50¢, often sold as high as $1.00 at retail.

Today, food that costs the grocer 50¢ generally sells to the public at less than 60¢. The methods we pioneered have been adopted not only by other grocers, but by merchants in other lines. There are today literally hundreds of chain stores, voluntary groups and individual merchants operating with the same methods and in the same pattern here under attack.

If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in destroying A&P, the way will be clear for the destruction of every other efficient large-scale distributor.

Who Will Be Hurt?

There has never been any question in our mind that it is good business and good citizenship to sell good food as cheaply as possible. As Fortune Magazine said about A&P some time ago, "It is firmly attached to the one great principle—the selling of more for less—that has made the desert bloom and the nation wax great."

We sincerely believe that we have helped the American people eat better and live better. We believe that the hundreds of thousands of farmers and manufacturers who have voluntarily sought our business have profited by our fast, low-cost distribution of their products.

We know that our 110,000 loyal employees enjoy today, as they always have, the highest wages, shortest hours and best working conditions generally prevailing in the retail food industry; and that these men and women have found in A&P good opportunities for security and progress.

We know that thousands of businessmen—the landlords who rent us our stores, the haulers who operate our trucks, the people who supply us with goods and services—have a big stake in our operations.

Obviously, all these people will suffer if this company is put out of business.

What Shall We Do?

We admit that the interests of the owners of A&P are of little importance. Frankly, they could make an enormous amount of money by breaking up A&P, as the anti-trust lawyers wish, and selling off the parts.

But is this what the American people want? Do they agree with the anti-trust lawyers that our food prices are too low, and that we should be put out of the picture so other grocers can charge more?

Frankly, if this were the case, we would not want to continue in business. But we seriously doubt that this is the case. Twelve years ago, an effort was made to tax this company and other chain stores out of business. The public rallied to our support. They said they liked our quality foods and our low prices. As a result of their opposition, the tax was defeated.

Now we are faced with this new attack through the courts. We are faced with the heavy costs and all the trouble that lawsuits involve.

But we believe this attack is a threat to millions of consumers who rely on us for quality foods at low prices; to farmers who rely on us for fast, low-cost distribution of their products; and to our loyal employees.

We feel that it is our responsibility to all these people to defend, by every legitimate means, this company and the low-price policy on which it was built.

Mr. Earl Berger observed his birthday on Sept. 19. On Sunday evening a birthday supper party was held in his home at the Orest. Every glad to hear that Evelyn Paige is feeling much better and also that she is expected home from the hospital soon.

It happened to be listening to church service over the radio the other Sunday coming from the First Congregational Church in Bridgeport, with Rev. Dr. H. Stone Anderson delivering a most interesting sermon. Toward the end of his sermon, he told of a new experience which happened recently. A church had been given to the town of Blue Rock, just west of Bridgeport, by another church in Vermont. They could have it if they could arrange to have it moved down here. When the church was finally loaded onto a large truck, the driver was sickening to see a little too far over the side of the truck, so the driver figured he'd better phone the state police at Great Barrington, and ask for a police escort. After making his request the state police officer on truck driver "what he had on board". A church, and the lord a moment's hesitation the police man calmly said, "The Good Lord will be back at poli-time. Plans for dance are completed.

Down To The Sea

BY BILL AHERN

There is a tradition which belongs to a coast town. Its people generally slip into a boat for peace and relaxation. Certainly they look to the sea with its sunburn qualities when man-made disturbances threaten orderly lives. It is there that God-directed winds of nature blow the cobwebs of deceit and treachery from man's mind and strip his reasoning to bare essentials.

Thus it is particularly refreshing, this week to skip over characters of the political scene and walk down to the sea.

In the vast fleet, America's first line of defense, many Branford lads have found a new life. Some like Commander Alfred Yusakovich, worked about town before making the break for the sea and new destinies. Others like Billy Dennison and John Anderson stepped from Branford High directly into the dingies which were rowed to various ships—and new adventures. Ocean breezes snapped the hawsers which anchored them to the old town and new excitement was as oil on troubled waves. Branford became a pleasant place to visit over the span of years, called a hitch, by the boys.

The later youth made the step in the early thirties. His twenty one year stay is about completed but the Navy does things to a man. For example, Red Anderson is now a Warrant Officer. It is an excellent rating and carries good pay. The life is exciting and, daily, new faces appear on the scene.

Originally the Branford lad planned to complete his hitch and step into the business world content in the knowledge that he would receive a handsome pension check each month. Now however, he is undecided. The pay is still beyond anything a starter in the outside world can hope to match. The life is healthy and the burdensome ties of civilian life are only faintly remembered. Furthermore when one's wife is Navy it is possible to enjoy all the family bonds associated with a home town.

The big readhead was born and bred in our town. It is privately believed that more grays hairs grow on the instructor's head while he was attending school than ever anyone caused before or since. But they were not slyer dyed by a viciousness in the boy's character but rather through his fun loving tendencies. He could probably think up more good natured devilment in a minute than the average kid could arouse in four years. His naturally infectious grin was associated with clean fun by all who knew him, particularly his teachers.

The lad, in his teens, enjoyed all types of kid pastimes. He was a member of the Boy Scouts which were directed and handled by Ernest Albertine and loved camping trips.

Summers he used to tent at Pawson Park, Riverside. They were the days before its emergence into a crowded summer colony. Less than twenty cottages were spread over the landscape. His camping ground was on the land once occupied by "Snake Hole". The latter cottage was owned by a group of men who used it as a center of much activity before it burned to the ground.

From that base, Red and his companions used to canoe about the harbor and the Branford river. Unwillingly it trained him for high school football because the easy going lad won his starting spurs when he reported to Johnny Knecht for practice.

He never attained Housatonic League recognition until his final year when both he and Gaff Rice were named to the mythical All-League array.

It happened strangely. Once he became a senior he decided to join the Navy when he had attained a purpose in life, his mode of living changed. No longer was he the butt of all jokes but rather he became serious in his endeavors. Thus he became a leader.

He left the Branford Schools and enlisted in the Navy, where his brothers have been before and since. With each hitch he was advanced along the navy's system of ratings. Today he is as far as a non-com can go.

He is married to the former Edith Haglin Flemming and the pair now make their home in Norfolk, Va. He manages to get to Branford on occasion but is positive that land life is not for him.

The navy and war left its mark upon him. His brother Elmer died in Naval service. Nevertheless he is happy. Because the world is his oyster. And when men are burdened with politics and the double cross is the rule rather than the exception, a tall red haired viking, stands on the deck of a ship and bares his head to wafting sea breezes. Soon the webs of indecision are swept from his brain.

It is then he realizes that despite man's best efforts it still is a wonderful world.

Laurels Open Next Sunday At Ball Park

Sports lovers will have a chance of watching a rebirth next Sunday afternoon when a new crop of budding pluggers wears the familiar green in its opening 1949 contest. Their opponents will be one of New Haven's most able combines, the Forbes, whose gridiron feats have been a bright spot in the Park-Rec Football League of New Haven since the end of the war.

More than watching new players in the same old colors, the local fans will have a chance to watch the T formation once used by Johnny King in the haleyon days of Dave Hylenski, Battler Lelch, Walt Parcinski and King.

The witness will see a new forward wall, well stacked with weight and coached by the fightingest lineman of them all, Nick Dykun. With Bob Vishno and Dick Jackson at the ends, the posts appear to have sufficient speed and pass catching ability to give the team at least two chances of possessing an aerial circus. Ed Galavaski handles the flanks.

The line has blossomed tremendously following the months of practice. Dykun has switched men and backs into all sorts of combinations and has brought about many surprising shifts.

Big Jack Neldziewicz will hand the ball back and he will be flanked by Bill Hinchey and Mike Falala. Hinchey is a former back but Dykun likes his speed and aggressiveness at the guard spot. At tackles will be Gentile and Blondella, both hefty characters who know how to use their weight.

But Walt Tamulevich, coach of the backfield, has wrought many changes in its make-up over a period of time. The most startling innovation is the changeover of Fran Ralola from an end to a T formation quarterback. Practice followers say that the baseball star has a real knack of timing. Tookey Tamulevich will be at full and starting at the half-back slots will be Zip Massey and Johnny Murray.

Sixteen substitutes will be carried on the roster. They include: Blake, Torino, Ows, Kennedy, Loban, Zacher, Crowley, Gentile, Borzillo, Sachs, Jackson, Goebel, Kopjanski, Gagliardi, Wetel and Leprie.

The visitors are planning to field a time-tested array but have already dropped a game to the East Haven Reds, starting at odds they will have Facilio and Salvati. Tackles will be Colafati and Guernard. Guards will be Berrelio and Esposito. Cosenza will start at center. The backfield will lineup with Salvati at quarterback, Mongillo and Gambardella at the halves and Messier at full.

Substitutes include: Lenardo, Riccio, Manzi, Drazzo, Naccarato, Luterello, Cappallo, Buccore, Cappella, Pascarella, D'Errico, Dymarczyk, Noble and Riccio.

The visitors are coached by George Colafati and Tony DiRenzo. Tommy Saunders is the manager. Branford's manager is Frank Torino.

YALE CAPTAIN

Levi Jackson, former Branford boy and captain of the Yale football team, who will lead the Elis against the University of Connecticut in the Yale Bowl Saturday.

Branford Wins When Locarno Snatches Pass

An intercepted pass paved the way for a Branford 12-6 win over St. Mary's of New Haven last Saturday night at West End field.

Hero of the last quarter gallop was the defensive halfback, Lou Locarno, who grabbed a desperate pass from rookie quarterback, Sandy Laire, and outraced the opposition for thirty five yards to break a 6-6 deadlock.

Both teams were far superior to their play of two weeks previous when they opposed each other for one quarter at the Hamden round-robin.

Willy Warren Sampson pulled the surprise of the tilt when he had his youngsters use a single wing attack rather than the tricky T formation currently in favor.

The scheme worked well since it gave his blockers a chance to clear the way for a coming threat, speedy Wilbur Washington.

The lanky halfback appeared to like the change. Several times he galloped for impressive runs and his faking was so able that he was able to hand off to Curt Hutchinson for a unhampered dash of 18 yards in the second period for the first Branford score.

It was a quarterback sneak that gave St. Mary's the first score of the contest. Pat Donohue carried for the touchdown but it was a climax play after a strong seventy yard march caused by an enemy recovery of a Branford fumble.

Tom Maher, a classy looking leather toker fired the long march. In the forward wall Captain Don Atkinson once again was a big factor. In addition to his sterling play he was called upon to bark the signals and devise the offensive strategy. Equally impressive were Dick Coleman, Lou Locarno, Jack Manley and center Polastri.

Yellow Jackets Meet Fairfield In Friday Game

Highly rated Shelton High School will be the next opponent of Warren Sampson's courageous Hornet eleven. The pluggin fray is listed for Lafayette Field in the Valley City and will be played under the arcs.

Privately conceded to be the formidable eleven of the Housatonic League, Shelton will once again be loaded for the loop trophy. Coached by Ed Finn, the Galloping Gaels figure to romp over most of the state.

But Branford, Sampson is conceding nothing. Since he shifted his offense to single wing, the Branford mentor has high hopes of loosing his halfback speedster, Wilbur Washington. The lanky tailback had unusual speed and each week is showing further

Hornets Play Shelton Away On Fri. Night

East Haven High School's well balanced football team will stack against a tartar on Friday afternoon at 2 P. M. when it meets Fairfield High in the latter town.

Fans are expected a tight clash but its outcome depends on whether Coach Frank Crisafi can keep his snappy aggregation at the same pitch as he had them a week ago against Cross High school.

The East Haven mentor gave indication last Friday night that his array will have to be reckoned with in the Housatonic League this year, when it beat Cross 19 to 0.

Paced by a sophomore hot shot with a nifty pitching arm, the T formation's guidance is more than a Tea party. The second year back is Ron Rossetti, who was a first year sensation a year ago.

He is surrounded by a young crew. Only Lou Paolillo a four year veteran, has a quantity of experience and his injury at the hand of the Alumni sent him to the sidelines. Nevertheless Rossetti will get much help from the spirited George Schultz, a soph, Bud Mautte, a good broken field runner, and Jack Mautte at full.

Crisafi will start his veteran line against Fairfield. The entire forward wall is composed of juniors and seniors with experience. Dick Merrill and Ed Verellio promise. Sampson had another break this week when Vin Asanova returned to the lineup. The stock southpaw is a talented passer. Blake Lehr is a big help in the full-back slot and his experience is one of the stabilizing factors in the local play to date. The other berth is manned by Curt Hutchinson, a blasting blocker.

With Lou Locarno and Dick Coleman, Sampson has a pair of talented receivers on the flanks. Young Manley is making a determined stab for one of the tackle berths but is pressed by Murphy. The other side of the line is handled by the signal caller and captain Don Atkinson. The brilliant senior is rated at a real line prospect. Although the guard posts are fitted with men of little experience, their light and will to win may make this a great team, the Branford coach thinks. Arrington, Gill and McLean are waging a spirited fight for the two starting berths. Bob Polastri and Scooter Taylor are the snapper backs.

Ansonia, perennially with one of the best school boy teams in the state, was able only to wrest a 6-6 tie from the "Gaels" in their opener last Friday.

Easties Enjoy Grid "T" Party Under Lights

A brilliantly designed T formation offensive which was paced by an equally smart sophomore sensation allowed East Haven High to down Cross High of New Haven 19 to 0 in a surprising victory last Friday night at West End Field.

Twenty five hundred spectators had hardly settled in their seats before Ron Rossetti had pitched a flat pass to Bub Mautte, who then traveled forty yards on the opening play. George Schultz smashed for eighteen yards and a score on the very next play as he romped off right tackle. Eddie Verelle converted on a placement.

The second score was equally startling. Mautte swept his own right end for a second period touchdown. Run of nine yards after lineman Don Carafeno had recovered a New Haven fumble on their nine yard mark.

A Rossetti pass to Carlton Redman was good for the final score in the last period. East Haven gained possession after Mautte, who had a terrific night, had intercepted a Cross pass on the thirty nine. Redman went the whole distance when Rossetti's pitch into the flat to Redman behind a screen was successful.

will be at the flanks. Donny Carafeno and Bill Roberts will be in the starting tackle slots and Roland Cahoon and Herb Rossler will alternate behind them. At the guard posts, Captain Frank D'Amico and Al Vitale will start. One hundred and eighty five pounds, Orlando Orfice, will snap the ball from the center berth. His understudy is Dick Cerafeno.

Not only on the offensive was the Eastie array in fine fettle but also on the defensive. At no time could the Cross attack function with dispatch for the Blue and Gold forward wall repeatedly rushed the passer and the runners to create their own opportunities. Although the battle was hotly played, tempers flared only in the late moments and the officials were ready for the mix-up. They promptly ejected Frankie Sullo, of Cross, and Bobby Mautte from the game.

November recorded the highest monthly number of traffic death in Connecticut during 1948, according to the State Department of Motor Vehicles.
