Mautte Claims GOP Forced To Support Gas Tax Or Dems Would Kill School Aid Bill In Senate

East Haven Rep. Says He Opposed Increase In Gas Tax — Went Along With Democrats Because Town Would Lose $80,000 In State Aid

East Haven Rep. Adelbert C. Mautte told the NEWS last night, that late yesterday afternoon the Republican House was delivered an ultimatum by the Democrats that unless the GOP controlled House passed the gasoline tax, sought by Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff, the Democratic controlled Senate would kill the school subsidy measure.

"There's a heck of a hassle up here," Rep. Mautte told the NEWS editor at 5:30 p. m. "If the Republicans don't go along with the gas tax increase, the Democrats have threatened to knock out the bill for state aid to schools."

"I don't want the gas tax," the legislator continued, "but I do want the school aid. If they knock that out, it will cost the town of East Haven about $80,000 as a whole, and the individual taxpayer about a six mill increase to support our schools."

"In weighing the issue," Mautte went on, "I decided to vote for the gas tax increase. I feel that although this will effect many motorists, this effect will not be as adverse as the one on the taxpayers if the school aid bill is defeated in the Senate."

At 6:30 p. m., Rep. Mautte notified the NEWS that the school aid bill, the street aid bill and the gas tax had been passed by the Senate.

Gas Tax Deductible

In explaining his approving of the gas tax, Mautte said that he figured if the Senate passed the school bill, East Haven would get approximately $80,000, also, the Senate promised to pass the State Street aid bill, which would result in the town getting another $6,500 to $7,000 in road building funds.

Against this $87,000, which the town would get, was the two cent increase in gas tax for every motorist.

"It was a question," Del Mautte said, "of whether the motorist would be saved two cents on the gallon, or whether the taxpayer would be saved six or seven mills on the dollar."

Was Against Gas Tax

Before leaving for Hartford Tuesday night, Mautte told the NEWS that he was against the gasoline tax increase from four to six cents. He said, at that time, he had received many protests against the bill.

However, he added, that he would go all out in his efforts to get the State subsidy of $21 per school pupil passed, and he felt that at that time the Assembly would also pass the aid to streets bill.

In concluding his story to the NEWS, Rep. Mautte said: "I want it understood that I was not against the motorist in this matter. After looking over the issue, as represented by the Democrats, I decided that the motorist would not be the loser, as he would be able to deduct this additional increase from his income taxes."

Would Like Some Changes

Before leaving for Hartford, the legislator was questioned as to his attitude about the proposed reforms regarding the legislature. Although he hadn't studied the proposal in its entirety, and couldn't pass judgment on it as a whole, he did favor some of the changes recommended.

He said he approved of having a Spring and Fall Session because under the present procedure, the legislature has to act upon more than 4,300 in a five months period.

"You can understand how ridiculous this is," Mautte said, "if you attended the June 8 session. The bills coming up were read in by their number and then voted on. How can anyone know what each enactment was about when he only has a number to go on? You can't memorize every bill introduced, much less get around to reading them, and if they aren't read before action is taken on them, how do you know whether it is a worthwhile measure or not?"

Board Of Ed. To Meet Fri. Night

The regular meeting of the East Haven Board of Education will be held in the board room in the high school, Friday at 8 p. m., by order of Francis Walsh, chairman.

School's Out; Drivers Warned To Exercise Greater Caution

Schools out for the Summer. Vacation time is here.

Today, 3,547 East Haven school kids heard this welcome cry. No more school 'til September. It isn't hard to imagine that the teachers welcomed the news as eagerly as their charges.

However, while "School's Out," is a joyous sound to the youngsters, it should be a warning signal to Connecticut motorists.

"Traffic Safety" organizations throughout the country, this week warned motorists of the increased driving hazards, due to vacation time.

"Schools Out," warns John F. Maerz, executive vice president of the Motor Transportation Assn. of Conn., Inc. "This means that the majority of children will be spending a lot of time out-of-doors during the next few months and inevitably they will get onto the streets and highways in the course of their play. Any lack of care or alertness on the part of drivers will mean an upsurge in accidents involving children."

This warning, issued by the Connecticut Trucking Industry is part of its courtesy and safety campaign. As Mr. Maerz points out, the greatest danger is in residential areas, whether it be the suburbs or congested urban areas.

In conjunction with the Motor Transp. Assn.'s warning, comes other dire statistics from the Conn. Safety Commission and Lumberman Mutual Casualty Company.

The Safety Commission's report shows that while drivers seem to be exercising greater care regarding child pedestrians, (six have been killed this year compared to eight this time last year) the child bicyclist has become involved in many more fatal accidents with motor vehicles, than he did last year. In fact, it is up 300 percent!

High Speeds

Much of the death on the highway is attributed to high speeds according to Lumberman Mutual's report, which shows that when the speed of a motor vehicle jumps from 40 m.p.h. to 60 m.p.h., or 50 percent greater, fatalities jump from 46.9 to 136.2, or almost 300 percent!

While 25 m.p.h. seems like a safe speed, remember where a toddler is involved, five miles per hour is speeding. No child, under five years old has much chance of getting out of the way of a car that suddenly looms upon him at 25 m.p.h.

Beginning today, in the town of East Haven alone, 3,547 pupils will be on the streets. This is 422 more than last year.

"A small minority of drivers," Mr. Maerz says, "either fail to recognize the hazards which are present, or else they do not care, so they fall to slow down sufficiently so that their vehicles will be under complete control in an emergency. Travel through residential areas must be done at reduced speeds."

"In the trucking industry, we are again emphasizing to our drivers, the importance of slowing down in residential areas now that school is out. We feel that every other driver should do likewise."

According to the Conn. Safety Commission, the number of fatal accidents in the state has increased 16 over this period last year, and the number of persons killed this year over last, is a plus 26. As of today this year is approximately 173 days old, yet the death rate is an appalling 123 persons killed on our highways so far. Of this number 13 were children. Remember the child you fatally injure may be your own. Slow down and let THEM live.

Mrs. Cusano Resigns

The Republican Town Committee accepted the resignation of Mrs. Vincent Cusano, at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night. Mrs. Cusano resigned due to the fact that she is leaving East Haven to take up residence in Cheshire.

High School Honor Graduates

Girl Scout Camp Established In East Haven Area

Plans are under way for a Girl Scout Day Camp on the property of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bonwill, at the corner of Grannis and North High Streets, it was announced today.

The camp which will be open during the last two weeks of July, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., will be under the direction of Mrs. George Flinta.

The YMCA has granted permission to the camp to use Lake Hubbard for swimming.

Among those who will assist Mrs. Flinta in directing camp activities are: Mrs. Walter Schoenkecht, waterfront; Mrs. William Degnall, arts and crafts; Mrs. Edward A. Munro, nature study. Units leaders and assistants will be Mrs. Sandy Natusch; Mrs. Marlon Martin and Mrs. Erin Schmitt.

Three program aides who have offered to help with the waterfront program are Charlotte Quick, Velma Quick and JoAnn Leighton.

According to Mrs. Bonwill, registration forms will be available, through troop leaders, on Monday, June 27. This form, plus $3, must be returned to insure the child's attendance at the camp. The forms and fees are to be returned to Mrs. William Degnall, 100 Laurel St., not later than June 30.

The buffet supper will be prepared and served by the Second District American Legion Auxiliary units under the direction of Lucille Rogers, past district president.

Ralph Cirno's orchestra will furnish the music and there will be dancing from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. East Haveners desiring to attend, may get tickets by contacting Mary Alice Cameron, senior vice-commander of the Bartlett Post, at HObart 7-5736.

Clancy To Ask Social Security Benefits For All Town Workers

Clancy Says Plan Affords Greater Benefits At Less Cost To Town

First Selectman Frank Clancy announced yesterday that he will ask the committees of the various town departments to consider putting their respective workers under the Social Security Act.

All employees with the exception of teachers and school custodians, not now covered by Social Security will be eligible for such benefits, the First Selectman said.

"While members of the police, fire, highway and town hall staff are now covered by the Municipal Retirement Plan," Clancy said, "I feel that they would gain a greater measure of old age security under the Federal system."

"One of the reasons for this," the first selectman continued, "is that under the present set-up, a member of any of the town departments is eligible for benefits after 25 years of service, or upon reaching the age of 65; however, should he change jobs and leave the town's employ before either of these conditions were met, all he would get would be a lump sum payment of what he had put into the fund. His retirement benefits would cease with his withdrawal from the town's employ."

"Under Social Security, should a town employee decide to work elsewhere, he would not lose his retirement benefits."

To emphasize his point that some of the present employees might change their occupations, Clancy pointed out that many of the present members of the fire, police and highway departments are young men and are in a position, as far as youthfulness goes, to change their vocations within the next few years.

"The way it stands now," he said, "we've got young men in our departments, and if they change their jobs all they will get out of the retirement fund is what they have contributed to it."

"I intend to call a meeting," Clancy continued, "early next week and put this proposal before the heads of all the town employees eligible for Social Security."

If the employees accept the plan, Clancy said that the town will be saved a considerable sum of money each year. The savings would be in the form of monies put into the present retirement fund by the town, additional to what the employees themselves contribute.

Under the present system, all those covered by the municipal retirement plan contribute five percent to the fund, and the town contributes seven percent. The contributions are based on the employee's wage.

Upon serving 25 years, or reaching the age of 65, an employee may retire at 41 percent of his highest pay during his last years of service.

If, after 15 years of service, an employee becomes disabled, he can retire at 60 percent of his wage.

However, if, before fulfilling any of these requirements, an employee leaves the town payroll, he will receive, in a lump sum, only that portion of his pension that equals his five percent contribution. The town's contribution stays in the fund.

Under Social Security, the employee contributes two percent of his pay; up to $3,600 per year, and the town contributes a like sum of two percent. A savings of 3 percent per annum to the worker, and five percent per annum, up to $3,600 and seven percent over that sum, Clancy pointed out.

At present there are approximately 53 people who would be affected by this plan. The savings for this group, goes $2,500 to $4,900, with 34 grouped in the $3,800 range.

Thus under the Social Security Act, the town would save five percent on the $2,500 five percent up to $3,600; seven percent on $200 to $800 salaries; five percent on the highest $600 on the highest $1,000; seven percent on $1,000 to $4,900 salary.

Hagaman Library Murals Completed By 8th Graders

New murals, depicting scenes from 12 stories popular with children, are now on display in the Children's Room of the Hagaman Library, it was announced this week.

The scenes were done by one division of the eighth grade at the high school under the supervision of Miss Ruth Youngerman, the art teacher.

They will replace murals painted by the eighth grade art class of four years ago. Many of the students who worked on that project graduated from high school last Friday.

Miss Beth Taylor, librarian, says the new murals add a great deal of color and interest to the room.

The stories depicted and those who painted them are: Jack and the Beanstalk; painted by Frank Mangamella, Paul Ganuche, Richard Gray and Thomas Brasile.

Hawwath: William Plite, Carl Harvey, Bernard Swaski, Kenneth Levine.

Barnes: Louise Ewanuff and Morris Flondella.

Hansel and Gretel: Theresa Zampiccolo and Linda Lewis.

Heidi: Ann Murray, Rita Melillo and Gill Clinton.

Cinderella and Snow White: Marilyn Nuzzo, Carolyn Smith, JoAnn McNulty and Lynn Chapman.

Black Beauty and Lassie Come Home: Clifford Johnson, William Cantillon, Donald Stenium, and Joseph Russo.

Auto Derby

Boys who have not already signed up for the Auto Derby may do so by getting their applications at Anderson's Auto Accessories or Graves' Sport Shop on Main Street. The deadline will be Friday, July 24 for applications. 47 drivers have already signed entry blanks.

Rotary To Install Officers Tonight

Nathan Cohen, president-elect, and all other newly elected officers of the East Haven Rotary Club will be installed tonight at the club dinner in the Schemm Country House, Guilford.

Dinner, which will be at 8 p. m., will be preceded by a cocktail hour.

Cohen, who succeeds Dr. Leonard Chancelola, will be installed by Karl Knudsen, former Rotarian district governor. Judge Vincent Fasano, will be the master of ceremonies. The dinner committee is headed by Desmond Coyle.

Thursday, June 30, will be the final meeting of the year for the club, and it will be held at the Annex House. Charles Miller will report on the Rotary Convention held in Chicago recently.

East Haven Cited For Safety; Receives "Fatality-Free" Award

East Haven was one of five Connecticut towns, with populations greater than 10,000, to receive the "Fatality-Free" award, presented by the National Safety Council Monday.

Police Chief Edwin B. Priest and Deputy Chief Joseph Folto were presented the award by Edward Dempsey, mayor of Putnam, at the annual Traffic Safety Award meeting of the Conn. Safety Commission, held in the Hartford Club ballroom.

In addition to East Haven's award, the State won the National Safety Council Plaque for general excellence of the 1954 traffic safety activities which was presented to Gov. A. A. Ribicoff by George E. Gray, N.S.C. representative.

According to Chief Priest this is the third time within the past five years that East Haven has received such an award. East Haven was cited in 1950 - 51 and 1952, when a pedestrian was run down on Main St., and on Dec. 6, 1953, when a child was struck at the intersection of North High St. and Rt. 80, kept the town from having a five year death-free traffic record.

The plaque presented to Chief Priest, and which now adorns the wall in the First Selectman's office, reads: "National Traffic Safety Contest — 1954 — to East Haven, Conn. — In recognition of its accomplishment in completing the year without a fatal motor vehicle accident within the municipal limits. Presented by the National Safety Council."

The four other towns, of over 10,000, so honored were: Darien, Derby, Stonington, and Wethersfield.

The following additional rules for the reading contest at the library this Summer have been added: Only one child may fish at a time; all fishing must be done between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m.; students just completing the seventh grade may enter, but only one prize will be awarded this group and the books read must be on the eighth grade reading level.

Miss Pantalone Weds Weldon Boyington

Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in St. Clare's Church, Miss Barbara Pantalone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Pantalone of 32 Second Ave., became the bride of Mr. Weldon Boyington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyington of 32 Second Ave. White churchmen formed a background for the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Alfred M. Ryan.

Miss Jacqueline Callahan, organist, and Miss Mary Conroy, soloist, presented a program of musical music. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white nylon embroidered with a fitted high collar, portrait, necklace, short sleeves and a sash. Her finger ring length, veil and shoes were white. The bride's bouquet was a colonial bouquet of white and red roses, lilies, and ferns. The groom wore a tuxedo with a white shirt and a white tie.

The plan now in effect does provide, as does the government act, for care of the pensioner's widow, if he dies after being pensioned. However, should he die before that period, the survivor only receives the lump sum payment of what the deceased contributed to the fund.

Summer Recreation Supervisors Picked

First Selectionman Frank Clancy, announced this week, that Joseph Melillo, and Mrs. Beatrice Sullivan, have been named for the town's summer recreation program. The program, which will run from July 6 to September 1, will be conducted at Memorial Field.

Church Notices

Old Stone Church
Sat. 10 a. m. The three fellowship groups will work on the out-door chapel and the educational building. Bring each lunch and paint brushes.

St. John's Church
Sun. 9:45 a. m. Church services by the Rev. J. D. C. C. Interim pastor; soloist, Miss Malvina Montgomery. Supervised nursery for small children whose parents are attending church service.

St. Mark's, Monauglin
Sun. 10:30 a. m. Morning prayer and sermon—Rev. Alfred Clark, rector. St. John's Day service with the Monauglin Lodge A.F. & M. in attendance. Women's "This Glory Filled the Temple."

Scenes From The Babe Ruth League Opening Parade

Girl Scout Camp

The two week period, exclusive of transportation, is expected to cost $8, including the registration fee. If transportation is needed, this will run about $2 more.

The camp program is to be divided into two different age groups. One for those between seven and other between nine and 11. Older girls wishing to participate in camp program may do so as aides.

Training for councilors and program aides will be provided through the G.S.A. headquarters during the same period, training will be given to the members of the North Haven Day Camp. Aides will be instructed between June 27 and 29; program aides on June 30.

Reverend Matur's Boy Scout Troop has volunteered to build a trail from the camp site down to North Hill Street, so that busses or cars may pick up or let off the children safely.

report to Branford..
by REP. LUCY T. HAMMER

The closing weeks of the General Assembly have been so hectic, with so many important and controversial issues being debated, and tension so high, that this column did not get written. I hope someone missed it.

Responsibility for control of this act is placed in the Commissioner of State Police rather than in local police departments. If anyone is interested in the terms of this bill, I shall be glad to send him a copy. Meanwhile, the important thing to remember is that no town may prevent the holding of a bazaar or raffle unless a majority of the voters wants it that way.

It is a very tight bill, designed to allow charitable, religious, civic and fraternal organizations to conduct "bazaars" and raffles for the purpose of raising funds for their own activities and for the benefit of the community. It is not intended to allow racketeers and other bad boys to use the name of the organizations for their own purposes.

Further safeguards: Prices must be in merchandise only; no alcoholic liquor, no merchandise returned for cash. Applications must be made and permits granted under the strictest regulations and system of fees. Sponsoring organizations must have been actively in existence for three years before a permit is issued. Operation of bazaars and raffles is limited to the town of origin.

Former Editor Honored by Women's League
Jonathan Czar, former editor of the NEWS, was honored with a testimonial dinner recently by local members of the East Shore Unit of the League of Women Voters of Greater New Haven. The affair was held at the Westervane Restaurant.

The group was headed by Mrs. E. William Muehl vice president of the New Haven League, and Mrs. Raymond Green, chairman of the East Shore Unit. Mr. Anthony DeMaya presented Mr. Czar with a gift in recognition of his services in assisting the organization.

Mr. Czar, a devotee of classical music, was presented two albums of Bach recordings by the league. Mrs. Muehl expressed the League's gratitude for the many articles and editorials Mr. Czar had written about League activities. Several members present agreed that they had become interested in the organization through this publication.

In thanking the group, Mr. Czar wished them "many prosperous years ahead," prophesied that in the not too distant future, the East Shore Unit would become the East Shore League, and offered to assist the organization in any way possible in its current "Know Your Town" study.

Hazard Stationed in Bainbridge, Md.

Harold A. Hazard, SA, USNS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hazard, 13 Lyall Ave., Indian Neck, who recently enlisted in the Navy, is now undergoing recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md. He will receive instruction in naval history and traditions, seamanship, gunnery, military drill and hygiene. He will also choose a school further to specialize in a career field of his own choice.

Prior to his enlistment, Hazard actively participated in state and national amateur rifle matches. He holds the world record for sub-junior shooting. He was also active in the Babe Ruth League and in high school baseball.

While in the Navy he will be afforded full opportunity to continue his participation in rifle matches with Navy teams in various local and national competitive matches.

Ground Observers Win Awards; Need More Volunteers
A well-intended outdoor meeting was held recently by the Branford Ground Observer Corps at the summer cabin of First Sergeant, Mrs. Domine J. Bonifant, in which 100 members and guests were addressed by Area Director Bishop vonWeber, who told of first hand experiences at the Yucca Flats Proving Grounds open explosion.

Musicians Meet Lavalle

During a recent NBC broadcast of the Cities Service Band, Branford musicians met Paul Lavalle, bandmaster, who demonstrated his new instrument invention, the Lavallophone, which looks like a trombone but is played with valves instead of slides. Left in front are Andy Dwyer, high school senior and alto saxophone player; Agostino Roselli, band director; and Nery Williams, vocalist and drummer.

The word "committee" has worn out its magic touch. After all, legislative bills have died in committee. Committees might be fatal to people, too.

Benny Goodman has made a new album, "BG in Hi-Fi," which is almost as wonderful as the wonderful Goodman of 1937-38. Concert albums.

In those days he had such backer-uppers as Harry James, Lionel Hampton, Gene Krupa, Teddy Wilson and Ziggy Elman. Nevertheless, the new set has the same good-sounding quality and is sure to lift your heart an inch or two.

Lewis Nichols, in the New York Times, allowed that Mary Pickford's return to the movies would be far more interesting than any double coffee break. As soon as I find out just what a double coffee break is, I plan to challenge his statement!

Local Carousel Playhouse Is Result Of "Dream;" Opening Slated July 6

James Joyce and Gilbert Forte have developed the Carousel Playhouse in Branford into a company of over 50 community players. While many producers are holding their heads over the high cost of summer theaters, this small playhouse is opening this year in the old-fashioned style—a company devoted to the theater gathering in the resources of a community.

Before this summer, no plays had been done in the theater near the Montowese House for seven years. Joyce and his friends, who had worked together in Milford and Litchfield summer theaters, used to dream about this closed up theater on the shore. Joyce had worked at the Branford summer theater in 1941 during school vacation when he was visiting his grandmother on Clough Road in Indian Neck. Noel Warwick was the director of the company that year. Joyce says his job was painting flats and carrying props, but he especially remembers the performance of Carol Stone in "The Pursuit of Happiness."

Well sold on the theater, Joyce studied drama at the American Academy for Theater Arts, the Irving Studio, and the Faggin Studio in New York. Following his training, Joyce performed with the stars in stock companies in Gullford, Milford, and Litchfield: Monty Woolley in "The Man Who Came To Dinner," Guy Kibbe in "On Borrowed Time," Diana Barrymore and Jackie Coogan in "Room Service," Roger Eiler in "Made in Heaven," and others.

Joyce became assistant director for the Litchfield Company and later directed at the Abbey Practical Workshop in New York.

This year, Joyce, Forte and Bill Hayden, who grew up in Branford and is manager for the newly-formed company, decided to open the Carousel Playhouse—a community theater for Branford. The little theater by the Montowese House has been opened.

They lined up a small company of professional actors and directors: Eleanor Evans, best known for repertory theater in New Haven; Edward Sobel, remembered for his leading role in "The Silver Whistle" in Milford; Al Sugarman, character actor of many years experience; and directors, James Britt, formerly with the New Jersey Opera Guild, and Art Zigurs, who has directed in Actors' Stock and Towne Players in Philadelphia. Bob Daubenspeck, known for his sets at the Eastern Slopes Playhouse, came into the company as scenic designer.

With this nucleus, Joyce and Forte invited all interested members of the community to join the group. Preparing three shows at a time—one to be given each week at four performances—offers plenty of opportunity for anyone wishing to participate in summer theater. New members are welcome at any time during the season.

A nine weeks' season is scheduled, opening July 6 with "Light Up The Sky." Other plays will be July 13 through 16, "The Hasty Heart," July 20 through 23 "The Moon is Blue," July 27 through 30, "Angel Street," August 3 through 6 "Anna Lucasta," Aug. 10-13, "The Glass Menagerie," Aug. 17-20, "Stage Door," Aug. 24-27, "The Silver Whistle," Aug. 31-Sept. 3, "Time Out For Ginger."

Branford Man Given Union College Post

Dr. Edwin F. Gillette, currently of Harpur College in Endicott, N. Y., will rejoin the faculty of Union College in Schenectady this fall as an assistant professor of mathematics. It was announced today by Dr. Carter Davidson, president. He previously served as an instructor at Union during 1946-47.

A native of Branford, Dr. Gillette completed his undergraduate training at Hamilton College, where he received his A.B. degree in 1937. He was awarded his M.A. and Ph.D. by Syracuse University, the latter in June of this year. He has had additional

Mrs. McLay Will Be Honored With VNA Memorial

An "Emma Barrup McLay Memorial Room" will be established in the new Health Center of the Visiting Nurse Association on Kirkham St., in memory of the woman who was a pioneer in the local organization. At a recent meeting of the Association's board of directors, authorization was given for use of funds contributed by friends of Mrs. McLay. The funds, given at the time of the Branford woman's death in 1932, will be used to place a suitable plaque in the office of the supervising nurse "in lasting memory of Mrs. McLay's unselfish devotion to the community."

Additional contributions to the memorial fund have been invited in order to furnish the room which will be dedicated to her memory. These contributions may be sent to one of the following:
