

Christine Polanco

Book Synopsis of Walking in God's Divine Order:

Christine Polanco teaches the importance of using biblical principles to navigate life. As a single mother, she has surpassed all statistics and proven that starting a business through signs and wonders is possible. She demonstrates that God is able to use you just as you are and can do much with less. Christine shows how important it is to walk in alignment with God's will and how you can break generational curses. She also proves that what God has for your life, no one can take it away. Her obedience has led to greater victory, and she is now walking in God's divine order.

Book Synopsis of Kingdom Investor: Business Planner:

Kingdom investing requires faith and intentionality in order to align with the will of God. Malachi 3:1 urges us to bring all our tithes (a tenth of our income) into the storehouse, so that there may be enough food in God's house. It also challenges us to test God's promise by doing so. According to the Lord of hosts, if we obey this commandment and give our tithes, He will open the windows of heaven and pour out blessings upon us until we have no more room to receive them. This is the only time God gives us permission to test Him through our giving. There is a practical and spiritual component to this practice that we must adopt to break the spirit of poverty in our lives.

Book Synopsis of A Father's Love:

Many people struggle to express their thoughts and feelings in prayer, but writing can be a powerful tool. "A Father's Love" is a way to connect with God through prayer letters, expressing our innermost emotions and desires. It's important to remember that God can communicate with us in many different ways, including through love letters found throughout the Bible. By being completely open and vulnerable, we can build a stronger relationship with Him. As it says in Philippians 4:6-7, we should not be anxious, but present our requests to God in every situation with thanksgiving. This will bring us peace that surpasses understanding. It's also helpful to track our prayers in a journal, as this can increase our faith and gratitude, and leave a legacy of faith for future generations. A prayer journal makes a wonderful gift for any occasion.

Short Biography:

As a devoted mother of two, Christine is driven to excel in every area of her life where she is called to serve. She wears many hats - business owner, mentor, speaker, creator, and inspirational leader - but her core mission remains the same: to empower others to discover and unleash their inner gifts, leading to a life of true fulfillment and purpose.
